Gen. O. O. Howard,

Dr. S. J.

Yours of 9th inst.
in reply to mine of May 21st, is recd. I hardly expected reply so soon. Am I to suppose this final, - that you have no disposition to consider my claim to such place as I want when it may, by some change in affairs, or vacancy occurring one knows not when, be open for some one?

If so, I give up all thought of the matter for the present. Indeed, I am not waiting for place. I have many to do. But I do have, I think a mind & heart for helping in that Southern work. Of fitter, it does not become me to speak. I have told you a little of my history. Please I wd. cheerfully leave to those who know it better.

I am not a place seeker
I put myself in the way, and wait the voice of my Master. I have a special concern in the decision.
If I had no family depending on me, I would think little of the pay. I would go South and work for any pay I could get.
But my bible & my Conscience
tell me to care first for my family.

My letter of May 21, was intended only for your files, if so it pleased you, until a place should open. Then I would like it if you would remember me. But I wd. trouble you w<sup>r</sup> me. I presume you prefer I do not.

Yours respectfully,
A. Tennyson

Dear Sir

Will you be so obliging as to give me your opinion of the McAllard hydrants now in use with you?

Are they satisfactory? Do they ever freeze? And how many are now in use?

Has any other hydrant
superceded them since they were first introduced with you?

I am unwilling to trouble
you; but we are sadly perplexed
just now, & want to be safe.

The attention of EDITORS, CLERGYMEN, STUDENTS and others, is particularly called to the following STATEMENT AND RECOMMENDATIONS of the

SECOND REVISED EDITION

THE BIBLE HAND BOOK,

An Introduction to the Study of the Scriptures,

By JOSEPH ANGUS, D. D.

With Revisions, Notes and an Index of Scripture Texts,

By Rev. F. S. HOYT, A. M.

Crown, 8vo., 781 pp., large type, and MAP OF THE KNOWN WORLD AT THE CHRISTIAN ERA.

PRICE, ONLY $2.50.

---

THE PUBLISHER of the above named work takes great pleasure in inviting the attention of the Public to the present greatly improved edition. It is confidently believed that it will be found superior to the English edition in all respects—more complete, and better adapted than that edition both for private students and as a text book in Theological Schools. Its superiority over other editions will be especially noted in the following particulars:

1. IN THE SCRIPTURE REFERENCES.—Great labor and much time have been given to the verification and correction of these references. Errors, amounting probably to several hundreds, have been detected and removed. This improvement alone would give this edition great superiority.
2. CAREFUL ATTENTION has been paid to the correction of the Hebrew words and their English equivalents. In many additional instances vowel points have been supplied, where, by so doing, the convenience of the student would be promoted.
3. SUCH CHANGES have been made in the text as seemed to be required by the recent progress of our ablest scholars in Biblical criticism, and their more accurate acquaintance with the natural history of the Lands of the Bible. It is believed that in this particular much has been done to enhance the value of the work.

4. THE NOTES which have been appended, though comparatively few, will be found of value, especially to private students.

5. AN INDEX OF SCRIPTURE TEXTS has been added, of over forty pages, by means of which the numerous references contained in the work can be readily found. Students and Teachers will not fail to perceive that this Index of Texts really renders this edition of the Hand Book a new work.

 It is hoped and believed that by these improvements this edition will meet, better than any other, the wants of the Public, and secure for it such increased circulation as will repay the great expense which has been incurred by the Publisher.

This work has received the general approbation of many distinguished scholars in Europe and America, and is considered by them as an indispensable text-book for the study of the Scriptures in Seminaries, Colleges, and Bible Classes.

This book is calculated to do much good in disseminating light on the Scriptures, and your influence is earnestly solicited in promoting its circulation.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS

OF THE

First Revised Edition of Angus' Hand Book of the Bible.

This volume, as an introduction to the study of the Scriptures, adapted to all classes of intelligent readers, will be found a valuable guide and instructor. In glancing over it, we find many subjects which are constantly exciting inquiry in the mind of the Bible student, explained, and much information given which will greatly increase the pleasure and profit of Scripture research.—[Methodist Protestant.]

This is a work of real permanent value to all who take an interest in the study of the Scriptures. It would be difficult to crowd into the same space a greater amount of the rich results of learned research and of valuable information bearing on the understanding of the Word of God.—[Rev. George Burrowes, D. D., Professor of Biblical Literature in Lafayette College.]

Not only private Christians and teachers of Bible classes, but also theological students and clergymen will find this volume adapted to render them eminent services.—[Charles F. Schaeffer, D. D., Professor of systematic Theology.]

This volume is a valuable summary of information in the various departments of Biblical study. Such a hand-book, ranging under the appropriate heads the results of investigation in a condensed form, so as to present a suitable outline for the student, and a guide for the class-room, has long been a desideratum. It must answer a far better purpose than the voluminous work of Horne, while it makes a great advance upon it as an outline of Biblical Science. It is every way more learned and satisfactory than the "Mine Explored, or Help to Reading the Bible," by Nichols. It will surely be a great help to students of theology, as well as to private readers of the Scriptures. To all such I can freely recommend it.—[Rev. M. W. Jacobus, D. D., Professor of Biblical Literature.]

I regard this "Bible Hand-Book" as the best popular, concise introduction to the Scriptures. It ought to be widely circulated. Your new edition is excellent.—[Rev. Henry B. Smith, D. D., Professor in the Union Theological Seminary, New York.]

This volume is eminently a family help in study of the Scriptures, a Sunday-School Reference Book, and the evangelical assistant of the private Christian.—We know of no writer who has produced a Bible Hand-Book equal to this one.—[Rev. C. Van Rensselaer, D. D.]

The above are a few of the notices of this work received from Professors in Theological Seminaries, and by a number of Clergymen, as well as by others. It will be found an exceedingly valuable Manual by Ministers, Licentiates, and Students, and an excellent book of reference for Sabbath-School Teachers, for Bible Classes, and for the private Christian.

 A Liberal Discount allowed to Bible Classes, Clergymen and Students.
** The Publisher will send it by mail (post paid) upon receipt of the retail price.

ADDRESS

JAMES S. CLAXTON,

SUCCESSOR TO W. S. & A. MARTIEN,

Publisher and Bookseller, Philadelphia.

This, for condensation and for the amount of matter compressed into a single volume, is really a wonderful book. It will be found a useful book of reference to have constantly on hand.—[Biblical Repertory.]

I know of no book that combines so much in so brief a compass.—[Professor M. Valentine.]

The labor of the author in the preparation of this volume has been immense. Its design is to shed light on the Scriptures in every thing that relates to them. Whatever the difficulty, whether from obscurity or otherwise, the author aims to remove it, and bring the reader under the immediate and strong influence of the Bible. We have never met with a work of the kind so diversified and yet so full. It is adapted to all readers.—[Christian Chronicle.]

This is the most able and complete work—destined, in our opinion, to rank among the very first of its kind. It will be found superior to any similar one, not excepting Horne's Introduction itself. It is a model of condensation, precision of statement and comprehensiveness.—[Chicago Christian Times.]

It compresses an immense amount of varied and instructive matter within a small compass—including a view of the evidences the canon, inspiration, the principles of biblical criticism, chronology, the external helps drawn from profane history, geography, manners and customs, &c., interpretation of prophecy, and an examination of the characteristics of the various books of the Bible.—[Presbyterian.]

"This is an excellent compend of the historical and critical information that is needed by all classes, learned and unlearned, in order to a satisfactory study of the Bible. It is admirably suited to the use of families, and is a more appropriate gift than almost any other, beside the Bible itself, for the young."—[Lord's Theological and Literary Review.]

"The plan of this helper to Biblical study is somewhat unique. It is intended to meet the wants of all classes of intelligent readers, and is quite beyond any other similar help to the richness of the Bible. We have been greatly pleased by its thoroughness and scholarship, as well as by the excellent spirit which prevades it."—[Congregationalist.]

Gen:

After leaving your house the other evening Mrs. Bartlett and myself went thru the Hospital and altho admirably suited to the wants of its inmates, it seemed to us that it was not the best place for such a person as the young woman we spoke of - Casting about to see what better could be done, we have applied to "Columbian and Providence Hospitals" but without success. The Matron at the latter place told me of a Catholic "House of Refuge" in Baltimore and tho. Father Mater of St. Patrick's we are making inquiries, and hope to get her admitted. The only doubt seemed to be in regard to her color and I hope that may not prove an objection -

I feel interested in the young woman for she appears truly desirous of trying to lead a new life - It does seem to me that in this large city, and among so many Christian people there ought to be some place of refuge where these unfortunate can receive the help and encouragement they need -

Should we not succeed in sending Janny Anderson to Baltimore, we may apply to you again for advice in regard to her case -

Dear Sir

I find on examining our books that we owe the Congregational Church 24 chairs. Which we will ship right off. We are sorry for the plunder we have made. In the first place we have charged you with the whole order, which was ready for shipping. But by your request we have shipped it at three different times. The fire which destroyed one half of our factory has destroyed hundreds of chairs, & I suppose yours with the lot. After you will have re-

Will you please excuse the liberty taken in forwarding the enclosed letter from Gen Kilburn for endorsement, or what would be better for me a letter from you, provided my services were of sufficient importance to warrant one.

Having left the service quite as poor as I entered it. I am now obliged to ask employment from the Govt. to obtain subsistence for my wife and children, and your endorsement would be of great advantage.

I entered the Army Oct.

My dear Sir:

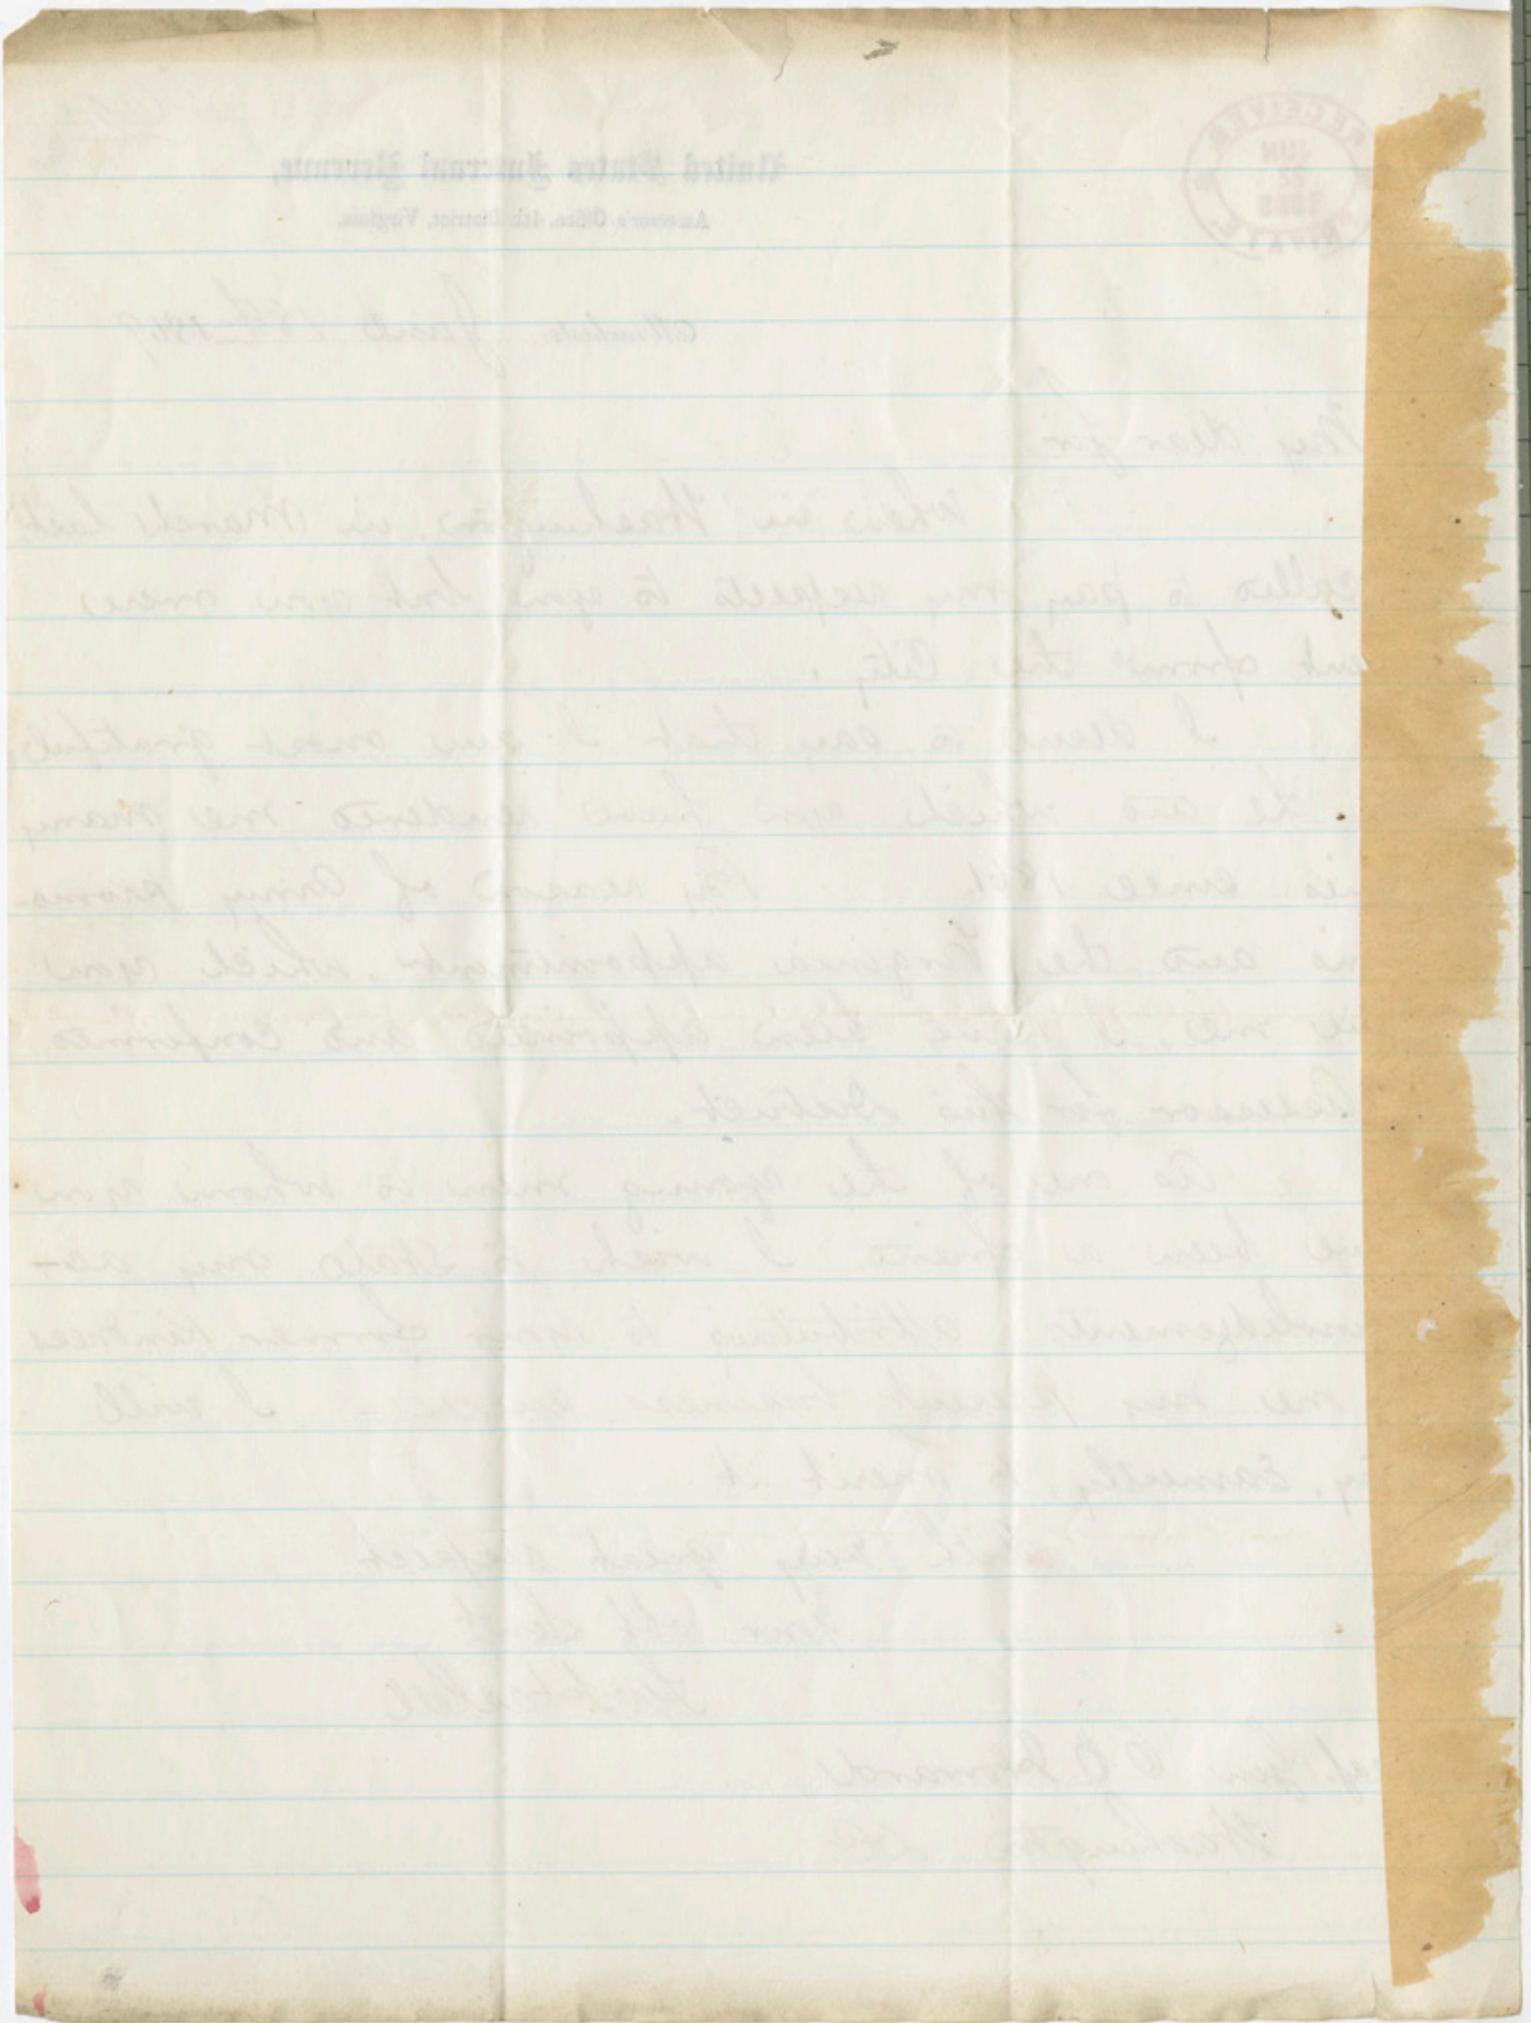

When in Washington, in March last, I called to pay my respects to you but you were absent from the City.

I desire to say that I am most grateful for the aid which you have rendered me many times since 1861. By reason of Army promotions and the Virginia appointment, which you gave me, I have been appointed and confirmed as Assessor for this District.

As one of the young men to whom you have been a friend I wish to state my acknowledgements, attributing to your former kindness to me my present business success - I will try, earnestly, to merit it.

My dear Genl Howard

I should only be too glad to aid the young man
you mention -

Unfortunate New York
is full of young men looking work and we have hundreds on our lists, for whom we can find nothing.

Business is so depressed
that the large houses
are reducing their force
and until fall or better times it would be quite useless to come to our city with the hope of finding employ.

I am very sorry
