LAW OFFICE OF ALLAN RUTHERFORD,

(LATE THIRD AUDITOR U. S. TREASURY,)

Corcoran Building, Fifteenth and F Streets, Rooms Nos. 98, 99, and 102.

(Opposite Treasury Department.)

Practices before the Supreme Court of the United States, Court of Claims, Claims Commissions, and the different Committees of Congress, and all Departments of the Government.

Washington, D.C. October 12, 1887.

Maj. Gen'l O. O. Howard, U.S.A.,
Dear General:

I have your letter of 5th instant inclosing check for $28<sup>19</sup> in payment of premium on life insurance policy paid by me.

I sent you the receipts the day after I first wrote you and doubt not you have received them ere this.

In reply to your question as to whether I look after pensions I would say that I do. I have in my employ several clerks who are thoroughly familiar with all the requirements of the Pension Office and the laws bearing upon the matter, &c, &c.

I feel quite satisfied that it is to the interest of any applicant for pension to employ a competent attorney to look after his case and his case is then presented in proper shape.

As a rule there is less delay in their settlement for that reason, and the chances of his getting a higher rate of pension are also increased.

Generally the persons who undertake to manage their own cases usually make a bad mess of it, as there are so many technical requirements of the office which must be complied with. The fee in pension cases is fixed by law. The maximum fee is $25 and I always charge the full fee of $25, believing that the work cannot be properly performed for less.

I should be pleased to have your kind recommendation in any cases which may come to your knowledge where the parties require the service of an attorney. I inclose several of my cards.

Very truly yours,
Alexander Rutherford

Your doubtless afterwards in Seattle. I am now East-soliciting funds for Whitman College, and write to you to ask, you

as to the advisability of going home by way of Southern Cal,

expectation of raising funds

seems to be plenty there and perhaps some would give to

I hope you will have time

The bearer, President Anderson of Whitman College, desires to call the attention of all who believe in higher Christian education to the condition, claims and prospects of the institution which he represents, in the hope that he may enlist in its behalf the prayers and practical interest of the Churches and all Christian givers. The officers of the American College and Education Society have great confidence in Dr. Anderson, and in the College for which he pleads, and they earnestly hope that he will meet with a generous welcome by those to whom he may address himself.

945 WHITMAN COLLEGE

NEEDS YOUR AID, FINANCIAL OR OTHERWISE.

Last year the number of students was 210 in all departments. Its field is twice as large as all New England, including, as it does, East Oregon, East Washington, and North Idaho. It is the only school of higher education or secondary instruction in all that region that Congregationalists are called upon to foster. The Northern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads traverse the country, bringing swarms of immigrants every season. Other denominations are establishing colleges, but the nearest is ninety miles distant. Whitman College must have more funds or take a backward and perhaps fatal step. Can you not, and will you not, help in some way?

Something of the character and financial condition of the institution can be gleaned by reading the following reports made to the American College and Education Society by the President and Treasurer of the College, but full and accurate knowledge of the institution will be given any inquirer who may address President A. J. ANDERSON, in care of Congregational Library, Boston, Mass.

WHITMAN COLLEGE.

Walla Walla.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

May 12, 1887.

To the Directors of the American College and Education Society:

DEAR BRETHREN: It is my belief that Whitman College has been the recipient of the Divine favor from the beginning, and especially during the year now drawing to a close.

In health—but one student having died in the five years of my connection with the institution.

In improved religious influences. This year the college prayer-meetings have averaged well in attendance, interest, and effectiveness, and are now under the management of newly organized branches of the College Young Men's Christian Association and Young Women's Christian Association. The evangelical city churches, in their united efforts, are gaining upon the powers of evil in our community, and have this year formed young people's meetings and Societies of Christian Endeavor, which have proved helpful to our students, both in saving them from evil influences and in leading them to Christ.

In the character of the work, as indicated by additional instructors, and a change to hour recitations for college classes and other important classes.

In the increased number of students (206), their general good conduct, their manliness, and their earnestness. In the increased income from tuition—about $1,000. In the giving of $3,500 by citizens of Walla Walla towards reducing the college debt and paying all accrued interest thereon.

As the college grows from year to year, the cost of carrying it on increases, and the need of endowment is more and more felt. Besides, the present large income from tuition cannot always be depended on. Either the price of tuition should be reduced, or scholarships should be provided for deserving young men and young women. To do the work that is already at the door of Whitman College, the institution should have an endowment of $100,000 without delay; and until a considerable portion of that amount shall be secured, the college must receive annually from $2,500 to $3,500 from benevolent givers to supplement present income. Shall the

WHITMAN COLLEGE.

—:O:—

The sixth year of this institution will begin on Monday, September 5, 1887, with bright prospects for an increased attendance, and with the following faculty, teachers and officers:

A. J. Anderson, A. M., Ph. D., President and Professor of Psychology, Civics and Pedagogy; L. F. Anderson, A. M., Librarian and Professor of Latin and Greek Languages; Miss A. E. Cushman, A. M., Preceptress and Professor of English Language and History; Miss Corabel Tarr, Ph. B., Professor of Elocution and Instructor in Latin and English; G. P. Anderson, A. B., Instructor in Mathematics; G. W. Shaw, A. B., Instructor in Natural Sciences; Miss Ellen Gilliam, Teacher of English Branches and Methods of Teaching; Mrs. J. H. Bauer, Teacher of French and German.

The Whitman College Conservatory of Music includes the following corps of teachers:

H. J. Cozine, Director and Professor of Voice Culture, Theory and Harmony; Miss Edith L. Parker, Teacher of Piano and Organ, and Carl H. Schaffner Teacher of Orchestral and Band Music.

The School of Art, in which the various branches of Painting and Drawing will be taught, will be in the hands of Miss F. Coman, A. M., and Mrs. N. F. M. Troup.

The Ladies' Boarding Hall, where young lady students can find board and home for four dollars per week, and where young men attending the College can find board at three dollars per week, is under the immediate management of Mrs. N. F. Cobleigh as Superintendent.

In general it may be said, that Whitman College does not resort to the unprofessional practice of personal solicitation to obtain students, but has always claimed patronage upon merit only. It sets forth the following claims:

That its college work has been so well done, that graduates from its full course, are admitted to post-graduate courses in eastern universities on an equality with graduates from other colleges of the United States, and that after such admission they are able to keep up with their eastern class mates, in class work.

That its college preparatory work is creditable when compared with the best fitting schools of New England.

That its normal graduates and others who have taken but a partial normal course, have as uniformly succeeded in teaching as those who have been prepared in normal schools outside of Washington Territory.

That its three years' Business Course, if thoroughly studied and completed as laid down in the catalogue, will not only give an excellent English education, but, at the same time, a far superior preparation for a business life than is to be found in the ordinary business colleges of the country, and at much cheaper rates if the amount of work is taken into consideration. To the youth who would know something more than mere bookkeeping, arithmetic and penmanship before entering upon a business life, the Business Course of Whitman College is earnestly commended.

That the Academic Department, taking a student who has pursued a course of reading through Bancroft's fourth reader and through fractions in arithmetic, teaches him most thoroughly any or all of the common English branches, thus laying the right foundation for advanced studies or for the duties of life.

That Whitman College Conservatory of Music has no superior in Oregon or Washington, when we consider the completeness of its appointments, the professional preparation of its teachers, and the thoroughness of its instruction.

Attention is called to the superior work in the studios of Mrs. Troup and Miss Coman.

Elocution and French and German are now included in some of the regular courses of study, but private lessons will still be given.

Special attention is called to the reduction of prices in the boarding department.

Further particulars may be learned by application to the President of the College, any member of the Faculty, or any one of the following named Board of Trustees: Rev. Cushing Eells, D. D., John F. Boyer, Esq., G. W. Somerindyke, Sr., N. G. Blalock, M. D., Rev. G. H. Atkinson, D. D., Hon. H. E. Johnson, B. S., A. J. Anderson, Ph. D., James Steel, Esq. and William Kirkman, Esq.

Sir

Allow me to enclose my card and duplicates of a few letters of introduction which explain themselves. It would give me much pleasure to become the instructor of such members of your family as may wish to avail themselves of my services. I have just formed a French conversation class at the Presidio of which, among others, Lieutenants Sturgis Hubbard and Lucas are members. Last year I gave lessons to the wife and to the daughter of Surgeon-General Moore, and among the families of other officers at the Presidio.

During the early part of the rebellion I was officer in a New York volunteer regiment, but was afterwards appointed 2<sup>d</sup> Lieut. of the 121st U.S. Col. Infantry and subsequently 1st Lieut. of the 125th of the same organization. I have served in New Mexico and Texas in '06, and was also a member of General Hancock's Indian expedition in the Western part of Kansas in '07.

I will give myself the pleasure of calling at your office next week and am, Sir,

very respectfully

your obedient servant,

STENOGRAPHIC LETTER.

Gen. O. O. Howard,
Fort Mason, Black Point,
San Francisco, Cal.

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of yours of the 6th., respecting policies Nos. 77, 968 and 9.

The notes to which you refer were accepted by the Company in part payment of premiums under the insurance and have been held against the policies since they were given. They constitute would liens against the insurance and doubtless be used in part payment of the policies if they should become claims. Such dividends as could be afforded have been applied to the reduction of these notes. They in one sense are loans on the security of the policies and must bear interest and be paid in the same manner as other investments. If you desire to pay these notes in cash we should be willing to have them taken up and this would relieve the policies from encumbrance, but so long as they remain outstanding interest must be paid upon them in order to continue the policies in force.

Yours truly,

J. M. Holcombe
Sec'y.

Card for appointment as A. G. M.
that service in that Sept. to be preferred to the retired list. And upon the retired list I must go, if I get my promotion while with my regiment. And the prospects seem alarmingly good for promotion
just now, for Captain Tobey, of my regiment seems to be hanging between a court-martial and a retiring board. I hope it may be neither.

Barnett is to go as ~~an~~ assistant to Humbolt, at Gen. Miles Adams. He is not overpleased at the prospect.

I suppose you see that Dandy is going to Washington on duty. His old Buffalo acquaintance, Cleveland, has at last remembered him. He goes there in Batchelor's

My dear General:

959

I was sorry to know,
from Leavis letter to Mrs. Glaser, that you would not come up and "inspect" us this year.
I very much hoped you would come. It would have been an episode, and stirred us all up a little. Volkman told me that he was in hopes you would come, and both he and Col. Anderson were very much disappointed. Gen. McKeever came yesterday. I saw him for a minute last night, at the Port Theatre. He told me that you were all well, but that

Ernest was sick. We are so sorry to hear that and I hope she is better by this time. I have not seen Capt. May for two or three days. He is down the river somewhere, and I don't know when he will be back. He generally dines with us on Sunday, and if he gets back tonight he will be over tomorrow.

Fred wrote, from West Point, that Johnny had stopped off to see the boys, on his way to Troy. I suppose he is now wrestling with  $x$  of  $y$  and all the other unknown quantities.

Poor Wood has met with a serious accident. He got bucked by a horse, and the result is a broken leg, and an ankle, which he says, is worse than the fracture. It occurred at a little, out-of-way place called Pineville, where he now lies waiting the healing of his bones. And just at this time, when he is most helpless, his youngest child has been very sick, so ~~sick~~, indeed, that it was thought to be dying.

It is not yet much better, but the Doctor thinks it improving a little.

I find myself full of work, as of old. I never worked, physically, so hard before, but it has a good result upon my health. I am at it, hard, from 7.30 in the morning until 5 in the evening, and a good share of it is out-door work. I begin to think that service as R. Q. M. may be a old position.

You will bear me witness,
dear General, that I have not infortuned you for others, nor sent anyone to you, but you can hardly believe how many people come to me constantly,
to write you and make their claims for this thing and that. I even have letters from Omaha asking for letters of introduction and recommendation.

But now I come with one. Dandys going to Washington throws out of employment my old clerk Mr. Schous.
You know him of course, but you do not know that he is the best quartermaster's clerk that I have ever known, and as faithful and upright with his employer

and his duty, as it is possible to be.

Now if you can say a word for him
to any of your numerous Quakemasters, that will get him a place with them, as a clerk, you will be doing a good thing for the Quakemaster and a good thing for Schow, and I should be very glad. It would improve your own surroundings
a little, to judge from what I saw of the lack of the proper assistance around your quarters and person. To have such a man as Schow in your Hqrs. Quarters Office.

I can get nothing for him up here, there are too many "Sons" to be taken care of here. Now I know, of course, that you can not always do what you want in these cases, but if a Quakemaster wanted a clerk of any kind, he would be more than glad to get hold of so valuable a man.

I had a letter from Lucy at Omaha.
He thinks the old Hqrs. look rather lonesome.

Mrs. Gladen joins me in love to you and Mrs. Howard, and Bessie and Harry, as well as to Grace and her little ones. I hear Harry is a "Professor" in a young ladies' Seminary. A nice place.
Think I should like it myself.

With sincere regards, Yours
Gladen.
