Dear general;

Surely you have not forgotten your Sunday school class of eighteen years ago, at the 1st Cong. Church.

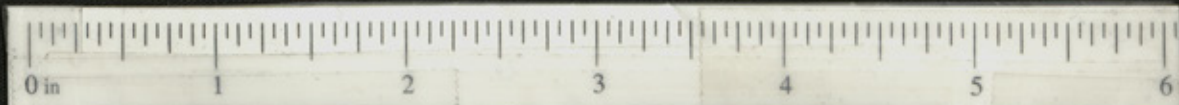

It has been years since I have met you. yet I believe you will remember me.

As you expect to spend next Sunday in Washington, will it be possible for you to call at my house on Saturday?

Another of your former pupils will be with me, if she has only some idea where you will come.

My heart is really burdened to tell you some things that will make you glad.

Can you reply stating the hour that you can come?

You will be glad to know that my children Worthie and Thoro are in college and are doing well. Worthie hopes to be fitted for missionary work. Thoro now 16 years of age - has made some headway in composing music.

There are ten gambling houses on the square where I live. The bill to remove them to the race tracks passed both houses of Congress

At once, the gamblers feeling certain that the president would sign it, moved away, and even had telegraph wires taken down.

In the interval, this block seemed like the garden of Eden. But the president vetoed the bill, and now the gamblers are back stronger and more defiant than ever. They say they have come to stay.

Should you call between two and five p.m. you would see men of all ages, classes, and nationalities running from one gambling house to another in their mad thirst for money. Church officers and church members come too. I mention this that you may not be frightened at anything you see on the sidewalk.

But - as I said before. I have good things to tell you things that will make you glad.

When will you come?

Yours in the blessed hope of Christ.

Mrs. Elizabeth W. Harris.

Dear Sir:-

With the assistance of the most eminent American writers, I have for some time been preparing a National Cyclopedia of American Biography, which is intended to be to this country what the great National Biographies are to Europe. The great fault with previous American works is, that their scope either excludes the living, or is limited to the well-known few in the centers of activity. The aim is to make this Cyclopedia NATIONAL, reflecting the spirit, genius and life of the entire Republic; and, while it preserves all that is valuable in the past, to have it also contain the lives of the men and women who are doing the work and moulding the thought of the present time.

Your name is entitled to a place in this work, and while I have some knowledge of your life, I would like fuller details to complete the sketch. Will you kindly prepare, or have prepared, a biography, of such incidents in your career as will enable us to write a proper article; or, if you will be so kind, please give us an extended sketch from your own hand. As every man knows more of himself than any one else, it is proper that he should state the facts; but the character portrait can probably be better prepared by another hand. This sketch will be revised by the editors, and arranged to fill the space proportionate to its importance, and a proof sent to you for approval. There will be no expense for the preparation and insertion of this Biography.

It is the achievement of individual effort that makes up the true history of this Republic. No man ever did a manly work without taking a manly pride in it, and he owes it to himself, to his family, and to the community that his work be preserved in the pages of history for the encouragement and help of his fellow man. (See Historical Biography.)

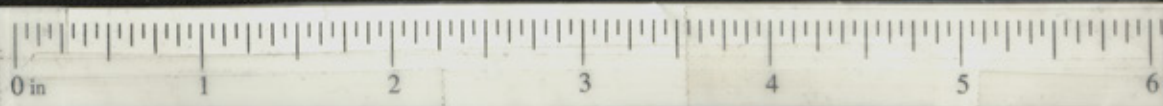

If you cannot spare the time to prepare the sketch yourself, will you kindly indicate where we can apply for the information. Specimen pages will be furnished by application to the publishers.

Asking an immediate reply, I am,

Sincerely yours,

James R. Gilmore.

The page on which your name would go will soon be in type. Please let me hear from you at once.

joined this post from Fort Macpherson, La., September 17, 1890. He was then undergoing sentence promulgated in G.C.M.C. discharge and confinement for one year for desertion. His conduct since he

Gen. O. O. Howard.

I have the honor to respectfully request to you to please look in to the case of Prisoner, James W. Hardenburg late Private Battery M^c. First Artillery Fort Columbus New York Harbor. I wish to state to you to please look at in this way. he is young and was only a minor when he ran away, last winter and enlisted without our letting me or my folks or his own folks knowing anything about it. He was doing first class outside, and can earn good wages and has as good a record as any young man is deserving of. He was born and raised for 19 years and bears an excellent reputation. He is keeping quiet about the matter as he dont want his folks to know anything about the matter as he has two sisters and, he would sooner not have them know anything about it, as I am his Wife and only of 18 years of age and of respectable Parents. I thought it as a womanly man to write and see if you, as you have the authority, to look at the matter. He enlisted in the Army without the consent of anybody. He left home that Morning to go to his daily work and that was the last of him until we heard that he was in the U. S. Army at Devils Island. He applied for his discharge twice but it was unsuccessful his only reasons for enlistment as he says they are as follows. I was visiting relatives last winter in the state of Ohio, and he accompanied me, while at that place I was married to him without the consent of either of our parents, as I thought all the world of him and even now. We kept the matter a quiet and when we returned home that is here in Meospath, he went to his daily work as usual as if nothing had happened.

but some how or another it was published in the daily papers about our marriage, which I can show to you Brooklyn Times, New York World, and Newtown Register Long Island City Sun. he was ashamed of this, as he belonged to organizations the Sons of Veterans and they were at him at times all the time for getting married, so he ran away and enlisted of course it was no disgrace for we were both decent but we were too young. His father is a member of Mansfield Post No 35. S. A. R. at the time of the War serving in the 16th Regt. New York Heavy Artillery.

I now hope that you will look at the matter and do for him what you can I would like him to be soon out of this trouble hoping you will grant us the favor and see to it. I will be ever thankful to you If you please deem this worthy of an answer then please write to me and your letter will receive a hearty welcome I will now close my letter, hoping that is no least feelings about my writing. You must not please think me strange for asking you these favors, hoping you will answer before long or if you think it best then Please let me know, then I will come myself when it is necessary. I would rather you write.

I remain very respectfully

This meeting is to be held under the auspices of the government of the United States, secured by such legislation as shall be deemed essential therefore. The plan and scope of the Congress is intended to be more fully formulated by a sub-committee to be chosen at the meeting of the general committee, of which notice is above given.

General O. C. Howard

My dear General,

The annual meeting of the State Indian association will be held this year in New Haven, on Wed.

session will be for business purposes, and attended - chiefly - by the members (we have dev.)

The evening meeting will be for the general public, and we always try to make attractive as possible, as well as profitable. These public meetings are largely attended, and are regarded with interest by all who have given any thought to the Indian problem.

My object in writing is to extend to you the cordial invitation of the Assn. We present on the occasion of the coming annual conference, and make an address on some phase of the Indian question. I am — we all are — especially anxious that you should be with us - and 'huck-a-buck' — or perhaps I should say, a spoke - to our great work.

You know all about the Fort-Hall reservation, and the Indians who are stationed there. What you can say of the need there for civilizing and christianizing influences will have great weight - with many lukewarm souls. It will really be an immense and well as a most-favourable act — if you can see your way to accepting our invitation.

May I have a line at your earliest convenience in regard to this matter, — or better still, please telegraph me (abridged Express) such a reply as will warrant me in stating to my Am^{tes} whether you can be with us. If favourable.
— as I earnestly hope it will be, — I will send you the details — programme &c. &c.

Of course — the arrangements will nearly involve Expresses, and you

Genl Q. C. Howard,

Dear Sir -

I enclose for circular of "The White House Game." of which my little son is the Auction. Several months ago. He was in the next room to mine & called out to me, "Mother why dont some one make a game of the Presidents, Vice Presidents and Cabinet-Officers" I answered back, "why dont you do it?" so he went to make with his pencil names & initials of all the room had the cards all arranged. He only wanted - remember my dear husband, he was in the Army of the Cumberland with you - in the battle in which you were wounded, & stationed at Fort-Camden.

When you were in command of that Department - and he six days expressed great admiration for you as a Christian soldier.

We will consider it - a great favor if you will use your influence with your friends

Very truly & sincerely Mary L. Leath.

in the playing to make it a useful, as well as entertaining game, and hope he will be successful with it - I tell John he ought to succeed, as he has never expressed a selfish wish, it is all for mother - and grand mother. We hope by the sale of it to educate the three little boys - which may be our little home - I moved here last fall, to give the boys advantage of the excellent schools, & they are considered very bright boys & pence in (4th 17th for month or $2⁰⁰ each for the boys) and with what fancy work I can get - to do. find it hard work to get along. I suppose you

THE WHITE - HOUSE GAME.

NEW!

NOVEL!

EXCITING:

The Latest Game Out.

The White House Game is composed of 76 cards. There has been twenty-three Presidential terms, composing President, Vice-President and Cabinets. These are numbered in sets or books of three to the term. In addition to these there are seven cards representing the second terms of office of certain Presidents. These are made the test or catch cards of the game. Four persons can play as partners, and more players can be added in couples. It is possible to play it singly, but the interest is not so great. Read the following letter:

HEADQUARTERS THIRD INFANTRY, }
FORT SNELLING, MINN., }
September 2, 1890. }

This game has been planned and arranged by John Scott, aged twelve years, the eldest son of Lieutenant John Scott, who, as Regimental Quartermaster of the Fourth Infantry, United States Army, served under my command most faithfully. Master John deserves encouragement in his efforts to assist his widowed mother and younger brothers, and I trust it will be given him by all officers of the army.

EDWIN C. MASON,
Colonel Third Infantry.

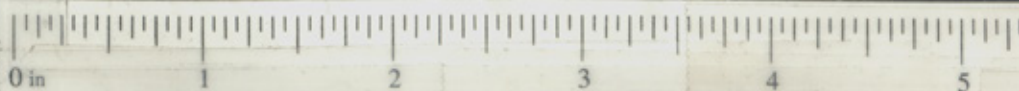

This is just the game for the home circle, for young or old to while away the long winter evenings.
