To the members of the Board of Trustees.

Local Congregational Unions.

The Congregational Church Building Society has observed with the warmest interest the formation of local organizations in several of our larger cities and towns for missionary and church building work. They gladly recognize the accomplishment of much that would not have been done otherwise.

With a view, as far as possible, to unify and harmonize national and local interests involved in the department of Church and Parsonage building, this Society, at its regular meeting held June 8th, 1892 appointed a committee consisting of the Secretary, Dr. Ward and Mr. Wilcox, to consider the matter and report to the Board at the July meeting. Will you kindly send your criticisms on enclosed statement to the Secretary as soon as possible, that the committee may know your opinion.

Yours very truly,

L. H. Cobb,

Secretary.

The Colonization Church Building Society has opened with the members of the congregation to join its organization and make available the services of its missionaries and agents.

It is to the general public and to all individuals and organizations that many of us have done some service.

With a view as far as possible to meet the demands of our local Colonization Union we have made arrangements to hold a meeting in the Tabernacle on the 1st of April at the Parsonage building, this Society, to be held in the Tabernacle, June 2d, 1888, a special committee consisting of Dr. G. A. Hodge, Dr. W. H. May Jr., Mr. Maycock, to consider the matter and report to the

TERMS OF AGREEMENT

between

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH BUILDING SOCIETY

and

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION of the CITY of ST. PAUL, RAMSEY CO., MINN.

by which the latter becomes auxiliary to the former.

First: The church and parsonage building work within the limits of the City of St. Paul, County of Ramsey, Minn. shall be committed to the care of the Congregational Union of St. Paul and be done by it or through it.

Second: All money collected and expended by the Congregational Union, of St. Paul, Minn. for the purchase of lots and the erection of chapels, churches or parsonages shall be reported annually to the Congregational Church Building Society in New York.

In the reports of the Congregational Church Building Society this sum shall be added to whatever other money comes to the treasury of the Congregational Church Building Society from churches or individuals in the field of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. and the whole amount reported as the total of church building contributions from this field.

Third: The Congregational Union, of St. Paul, Minn. will strive to secure a surplus of receipts beyond its expenditures and will send the same to the treasury of the Congregational Church Building Society in New York.

Fourth: So long as the receipts of the Congregational Union

THE CONSTITUTIONAL UNION PARTY
PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE
PAUL HANKEY
FOR PRESIDENT

of St. Paul, Minn. are inadequate for the church and parsonage building work which should be done within its field the Congregational Church Building Society will aid to the extent of its ability.

Fifth: The Superintendent of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. shall be the official representative of the Congregational Church Building Society on the field of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn.

Sixth: Grants or loans from the Congregational Church Building Society shall be made in the manner usual with this Society when made either the church or mission receiving such aid, or the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. shall execute and send to the Treasurer of the Congregational Church Building Society the usual papers required.

Seventh: All applications for aid from the field of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. shall have the recommendation of the Superintendent and one or more of the Board of Directors of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. in place of the endorsement usually made by the State Superintendent of Home Missions and the State Secretary of the Congregational Church Building Society.

Eighth: The Directors of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. shall select and secure all lots on which chapels, churches or parsonages are to be erected and shall be wholly responsible for their work and for the security for their investments.

They shall also hold themselves responsible for the proper financial management of all building enterprises within the limits of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. to which aid is voted by the Congregational Church Building Society of New York.

Ninth: The Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. shall make a detailed statement annually to the Congregational Church Building Society of New York of all the church building work done on the field of their operations.

Tenth: Churches and individuals within the field of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. shall have the same freedom as hitherto in regard to their contributions, the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. upholding on their field their obligation to maintain the work at their doors, and the Congregational Church Building Society having the same right on the same field to press the claims of the national work, except that churches on the field of the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. that have been aided by the Congregational Church Building Society shall be exempt from appeals by the Congregational Union of St. Paul, Minn. until the obligations of such churches to the national Society be fully cancelled.

Eleventh: This compact may be terminated by a three months' notice in writing by either party thereto.

My dear Sir

I hope you can make it convenient to attend this meeting, as it is very desirable that we should have an additional member of our Publishing Committee. Dr. Lyman, who was chosen at our Annual meeting, finds it impossible to serve. We have consulted Dr. Virgin, of Harlem, & he consents. Judge Strong has just lost his only son, & I fear will not be able to attend, & it will be difficult to obtain a quorum, unless those whose engagements allow shall all attend.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST,
GOVERNOR'S ISLAND, NEW YORK.

June 8th, 1892.

Dear General:-

I forwarded three letters to you yesterday for you to attend to personally, and this morning's mail brings nothing of importance except two letters, which I enclose, from a Mrs. Beck and her son, in relation to a young man, Emil Beck, who claims to be a member of your Sunday School class, and who is in the Tombs on a charge of stealing $500 worth of brass from his employer, J. W. Carroll. I went to the Court of General Sessions this morning and saw Mr. Ulmer, private secretary of the District Attorney. I found the papers in the case of young Beck, and after looking them over found that he had pleaded "guilty" and offered no excuse. At my request the papers in the case were withdrawn and will be held by the District Attorney, awaiting any letter you may write to him concerning the character of the boy. He said: "The fact that he pleaded guilty showed that he was not a hardened criminal; and that Judge Cowing was inclined to be lenient in all cases where the criminal showed some desire to do better." He suggested that a letter addressed to the District Attorney, if you chose to write one, would be perfectly proper, and he would gladly submit it to Judge Cowing with the other papers in the case.

Whether or not the Governor's Island people will be allowed to use the "General Meigs" on Saturday is still in doubt. Colonel Batchelder telegraphs: "The Secretary may want the "Meigs" if he does not General Howard can have her. Have the "Meigs" ready in either case." This dispatch was sent to General Perry and forwarded to us.

General Wilson made some inquiries concerning some maps and a picture. I answered him that the maps and picture would probably be found at D. Appleton & Co., as they had been sent to Mr. Ripley Hitchcock at that address.

There is no news; everybody is well.

Mon cher général,

Je sais que la seule chose à laquelle vous tenez dans mes lettres, c'est de lire quelques pages de français (ou plutôt quelques lignes) sur des sujets tout à fait ordinaires. Pendant que je pense que vous êtes tout à fait occupé de choses fort sérieuses, et que je ne puis qu'espérer que vous écrivez que des bagatelles ou des bavardages, cela m'empêche d'être tout à fait à mon aise.

Il y a une chose que j'ai quelquefois songé à vous demander. Croyez-vous, ou ne croyez-vous pas qu'il est important pour la santé de l'âme, ou de l'esprit, si vous préferez cette expression, que des intelligences de nature tout à fait différentes se rencontrent, s'attachent les unes aux autres, et, jusqu'à un certain point, s'apprécient? Dans le monde physique le mariage entre proches parents, après un certain temps, affaiblit la race. Les classes supérieures du Japon sont dévouées, par ce même système, la proie de la tuberculose. Je connais une petite ville, en Alsace, où ce même système a, d'une manière qui frappe curieusement les gens les moins habitués à observer, porté préjudice à la santé physique et morale de la population. Les médecins disent qu'un des grands priviléges accordés à ce pays, c'est le mélange des populations les plus diverses, qui, en mêlant leur sang, apportent chacune une nouvelle garantie d'un caractère sain et vigoureux.

N'est-il pas probable que la vie de l'esprit subit des influences semblables? Pourquoi donc des esprits différents ne surmonteraient-ils pas une inclination naturelle à se croire ennemis? Dans les expériences électriques et magnétiques, le pôle négatif attire le pôle positif. Mais en voilà assez là-dessus. Il ne serait peut-être pas difficile d'écrire une douzaine ou deux de pages sur ce sujet. Mais le tout se résume en ce proverbe allemand, "Des pensionnaires de toutes sortes sont admis à la table du bon Dieu." Excusez ce babil, et recevez l'expression de ma plus sincère affection G. D. Monsieur le Général,

Le matin j'ai remis une lettre pour vous au gigantesque caporal, et j'ai payé en passant, le tribut, non d'un soupir (comme dit l'Éloge des Églises) mais d'un sourire à Catherine Crawley.

Je viens de lire dans un journal allemand des nouvelles de Westphalie, et le nom de cette province me rappelle une petite légende populaire, qui prouve que le peuple allemand a parfaitement saisi le caractère de l'apôtre Pierre.

Le Seigneur se promenait avec ses disciples en Westphalie. Le pays qui passe pour contenir la population la plus rude et la plus grossière de toute l'Allemagne, était alors un désert. Comment le Seigneur y était venu, pourquoi il y était allé, la légende, naturellement, n'est pas tenue de l'expliquer. Tout à coup Pierre eut une idée. La légende sait parfaitement que si quelqu'un avait une idée, ce ne pouvait être que Pierre : il avait plus d'imagination à lui seul que les onze autres ensemble. "Seigneur," dit-il, d'une voix calme, "donnez-moi le pouvoir de faire un homme avec une miette de cette terre."

n. o. o. Howard,

Mais le Seigneur lui dit : "Pierre, tuer un homme de ce sol, seraît un véritable abus du pouvoir créateur ; il n'en pourraît jamais sortir qu'une race grossière et brutale." Un autre apôtre se le serait tenu pour dit. Mais Pierre étais incapable de renoncer à une idée ; il revint donc à la charge, et le Seigneur de guerre lâche, lui dit : "Cela bien, frappe la terre du pied." Pierre frappa la terre du pied, et d'en jaillit aussitôt un énorme Westphalien, aux vastes épaules, à la tête rouge et hérissée, qui n'eut rien de plus presto que de mettre le poing sous le nez de Pierre, en criant, d'une voix de taureau : "Qu'as-tu à me toucher, charogne !" L'enfant de la Palestine recula, tout interdit, devant ce futur manguier de pumpernickel, et le Seigneur lui dit en souriant : "Cela bien, ne te l'avais-je pas dit ?"

Permettez-moi seulement d'ajouter, que le temps est beau pour la saison, bien que quelquesuns le trouvent demasiado caldo, mais que, par la pluie et par le beau temps, je suis Votre tout dévoué

Dear Sir :-

I am in receipt of a letter from Chas. G. Treat, dated June 4th, in which I find the glad intelligence that you can so arrange your engagements as to be present with us at Mountain Lake Park on our Grand Army Day, Aug. 23rd, next.

I came from the Park the other day. Saw Mrs. Pierce and her daughter whose marriage you are to attend. They were exceedingly anxious that I should plan for your coming and I am equally anxious myself. My program for the Assembly is already printed and the day has been filled but the added fact of your presence will doubtless help to make the occasion one of unusual interest. Frank W. Smith, of Toledo, speaks on "In and Out of Andersonville" in the morning. Corporal Jas. Tanner is to make the address in the afternoon. I wish I had a full hour for you but I have this to suggest if it meets your approval; that you reside at the afternoon service, making a brief talk of fifteen

Dear General
Through the kindness of Genl.
Schuyler I received a letter directed by you to the President in behalf of my son's appointment as a cadet to West Point.

During my military career in this country and often after its termination, I have felt bitter and crowded, because "my services have not been appreciated" and,
especially & perhaps naturally in a professional soldier, because my personal ambition has not been gratified, "as I wished".

in fine, I indulge in the privilege of our profession, growing, to my heart's content. Now, after ~~thirty~~ years comes your letter; let me assure you, dear General, that,
after such a long time, to be so Rindley remembered by, and to receive such a testimony from one of the bravest leaders of our armies, as you were pleased to bestow upon me, is ample recompensation for all imaginary wrongs. Whether the President will be disposed to, or able, to grant my request or not, your letter will be a high prized relic in my house and will stimulate every one of my sons to strive for the approbation

and esteem of the best.

If my eldest son should succeed
in his appointment, I know he will do credit to you and to his father & I only hope that he may "gain his spurs" under your command.

Please accept these lines as an expression of my deep felt gratitude,
and, if your way should ever
lead through the beautiful Blue-Ridge of Virginia, do not forget, that a true old comrade
would be delighted to offer you,
what a plain old fashioned, but
good Country-home, can afford.

Yours, very respectfully

Dear Sir:

On July 3^d our Young Men's Christian Association intend having their meeting for young men especially for the New Light Guard Battalion and the Grand Army. Our intention is to unite the two companies in a body. But to make the thing a success we ought to have a military man, and one that is well known, as speaker for the occasion. Cannot we secure your services General Howard, for this occasion, we will of course pay all expenses. I should want the address to be about one half hour in length. If the Dr. would put you back we could arrange to have it on that date. Let me hear from you at an early date, and I hope and pray sincerely that you will be able to accept the invitation. May the dear Lord give and bless whatever decision you arrive at.

The exterior is painted white and has dark wood trim. The entrance is through a large arched doorway with a decorative pediment above it. The interior is spacious and well-lit, with high ceilings and large windows. There are several rooms, including a large hall, a meeting room, and a library. The furniture is made of light-colored wood and includes a large wooden desk, a bookshelf, and a few chairs. The overall impression is one of a comfortable and welcoming space.
