HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST, GOVERNOR'S ISLAND, NEW YORK.

May. 1. 1894.

My dear General;

When we arrived at Washington at 2 P.M I immediately visited Genl Ichofield told him why I was there and asked him if he anticipated any trouble. He told me none whatever unless the present force at Washington should be unduly augmented by some of the Western & Pennsylvania organizations which contained vicious characters in its ranks. This could only be accomplished by their ability to obtain R.R. transportation to the Capital by some means which he hoped might not be accomplished. I did not suggest it to him but I strongly think that some one in authority anticipating the unspeakable trouble which will surely arise if these masses are allowed to congregate at Washington ought to impress upon the Govs of the several States containing these organizations the importance of dispersing its contingent without delay. It is so much easier to break single sticks than it is to break a bundle of them.

There are 399 Policemen in Washington & the Chief of Police is the Colonel of a Militia which he can use as an auxiliary.

He said he would not hesitate to call on the Federal troops on the slightest intimation that more force was necessary and he was greatly pleased when I intimated to him that you agreed with him that these organizations should in some way be deterred from massing in Washington.

There are 23 police officers on duty at the White House but the President is evidently little concerned about the matter and does not anticipate any difficulty.

When I incidentally mentioned to Gen. Schofield your anticipated trip to Cincinnati he remarked that he was pleased that you were going & that he would be at his office and attend to any emergency.

I visited Mr. Corey's Camp and found the outfit a mild mannered soap fearing lot the majority of them are young. I saw a number of boys not older than 16 or 18. They are beggars all & if the American public would stop paying their bills by contributions to their side show & the press would let up

To General Howard, Care Robert Hunter, No 64. West 4th St, Cin.,

The only difficulty anticipated in Washington by Chief Police and Genl Schofield is the possible arrival there of some of the organizations from the West and mining districts of Pennsylvania by train if the Governors of each state containing an organization could be induced to arrest and dissolve its contingent the only possible danger impending that of an immense congregation at Washington with its limited means of dealing with it could now be easily averted.

Dear Gen'l Howard:

I thank you for your note of April 28th.

I am sure it would spoil entirely that heartiness and spontaneity, which we so much value in your addresses, were I to send to you anything in the way of a form. It is not a formal thing that we need, but just one of those loving and impulsive utterances, in the way of a response to the address of welcome, which it comes as natural to you to make as to breathe. Please do by us at Omaha as you have already done in the way of offhand, unpremeditated speech.

Sincerely yours,

My dear General Howard.

I have examined noting you the Adj. Gen. office list.
My name is in a list of those commanded for service in Indian service. I thank you for your part in obtaining me this honor. I expected to have seen Wilkinson's name in the list, for it seems to be his conduct, his activity and Especially his turning the Indians back in their attempt to cross the river is worthy of notice. The captain feels very badly that Kross should have been rewarded for the action on the river when he was forced over. I forwarded to you at his request a brief statement of his extraordinary service in the very recent and dangerous campaign, with the hope you may see your way there to recommend him even now, for the Board of the A. C. I have formed Wilkinson a good opinion and have had occasion to call attention more than once to the fact that Johnston he does - he does with his whole heart and does well - There will be no other opportunity for Wilkinson to earn a brevet in Indian service - so if you can help him to one now I hope you will do so. I think his conduct generally and especially the affair on the river is worthy of recognition -

Some time ago I wrote to Lieut Treat one of your A. D. C. and asked him to let me know if you had an occasion of your visit to old "Gochise". I NEZ)PERCS CAMPAIGN:- 1877.

June 15th. - Wilkinson leaves Fort Lapwai, Idaho, about 5 p.m. for Fort Walla-Walla, Wash. with despatches, distance 110 miles, reaches Walla-Walla 8 o'clock next morning; executes orders and on the 17 is back to Lewiston with troops from Walla-Walla. Via Snake river steamer.

July 11. BATTLE OF CLEARWATER. - Early p.m. as our troops go into position Wilkinson discovers Indians in considerable force upon our left to cut off arriving train of ammunition and Hospital supplies. He calls attention of Genl. Howard to this, asking permission to go - is sent by Genl. Howard to repel this attack - a ride in quickest possible time brings Wilkinson to head of Rodney's Company 4th Atty., and by directing fire of this Company (acting as Infantry) Indians are repelled with a loss of but three teamsters killed by the Indians. Later in the day Wilkinson gathers detachments of artillery - Infantry - extra-duty and train men - and leads charge on the right.

July 13th. - Wilkinson permitted on request - takes gatling gun and detachment to harass Indians, at that time in the act of crossing Clearwater-, he reaches it's banks just as they have completed crossing - places gatling in position - himself working it, driving the Indians from behind the rocks and from a skirt of timber - thus preventing them from firing any length of time into a troop of Cavalry which had dismounted under their fire and which came up over the bank dismounted under fire of the Indians, some considerable time after Wilkinson had had his gatling gun in rapid action. The captain of this troop came up shortly after to Genl. Howard, who had by this time arrived and who then stood near where the gatling gun had been placed, submitting to the General the question of having dismounted his troop-, whereupon Genl. Howard said to him most emphatically in words to this effect "Do you dare to ask me a soldier, what I think of dismounting troops under fire in the presence of the enemy?" "You could have done nothing - sir - that could have given greater encouragement to these Indians!" This is spoken of at some length to show that the Indians had gained a shelter behind some rocks and in a skirt of timber from which they were firing with effect, and from which they were driven by this gatling gun.

June 20th) Bannock Campaign 1878

Wilkinson ordered to locate hostile Indians - objective Fort Harney, Harney valley-, if Indians not found before. Wilkinson's party, two Indian guides, Sasah Winnemucca, and her sister in law Mattie, their relatives held by the hostiles - Corporal Moffat afterwards appointed 2d Lieut. in the army, and one Cavalryman-, 5 in all. Wilkinson leaves Reinhardt's crossing Malheur river about 8 a.m. reaches Malheur Agency early in the evening - makes long detour of same to escape reported presence of hostiles at that point and vicinity. Enters Harney valley early morning of the 21st to find fresh trail of cavalry - Bernard's command - and arrives at Fort Harney about 9 a.m. where Bernard is camped with 5 troops, 1st Cavalry, just outside post-, distance ridden with detours, at least 100 miles. Mainly mountain travel over rough Indian trails, with but 30 minutes rest at midnight for the horses. Locate Indians in Harney valley, camped with their families, about 45 miles from Fort Harney. Bernard's command moves same night to within striking distance and to attack them at daybreak the next morning, the 22d.

At about noon this day two citizen couriers arrive at Fort Harney after most rapid riding with urgent appeal from Bernard for reinforcements- he having fought the Indians. There being no mounted troops at Fort Harney, Wilkinson strives to obtain citizen scouts in order to locate Genl. Howard - now all important - and who was then on the move. They refuse to take the risks, although there were many camped with their families, and a large herd of horses inside the Fort.

So Wilkinson starts with his party on his back track at about 5 p.m. and soon meets scouts from Genl. Howard, who intends to camp that night 45 miles from Fort Harney. Wilkinson now sends all of his party, except Indian guides back to Fort Harney, and reaches Genl.

~~XXXXXXXXXXXX~~ at 11 p.m. Reports fact s - receives orders for command - and officer at Fort Harney, and is back at Fort Harney - and has delivered his orders at 5.30 the next morning, the 23d., a ride of 80 miles in one night mainly over mountain trails, with but one partial night of rest since leaving Genl. Howard at Reinhardt's the morning of the 20th, riding with utmost haste, in constantly expected peril, and of necessity, unceasing vigilance.

June 26th. - Wilkinson turned back in Harney valley by Genl. Howard about twenty miles from Fort Harney, with letter of instruction to General Wheaton Fort Walla-Walla, Wash. - using Genl. Howard's own words, " - - reach Genl. Wheaton in quickest possible time." No government transportation at Fort Harney - the quartermaster there obliged to hire a citizen - citizen so much intimidated that a hundred dollars was paid to take Wilkinson to Canon City - 80 miles. ~~XX~~ Wilkinson leaves Fort Harney at 11 p.m. and is at Canon City, next morning the 27th., - without the loss of a moment secures relay for Baker City, and is at that point in the afternoon and with relays reaches Genl. Wheaton at Fort Walla-Walla Wash., via Ground Valley and the Umatilla reservation before noon of the next day, twice crossing a mountain range-. Total distance travelled 370 miles without a moments rest or delay - relays made ready while meals are had - in less than 48 hours.

Prompt assistance in accordance with Genl. Howards orders, by Genl. Wheaton, enables Wilkinson to equip Steamer at Wallula, 10 soldiers from Fort Walla-Walla, and 20 citizens hired constitute Wilkinson's command; he protects pilot house, with bales of wool, barricades lower deck with sacks of flour, and places gatling gun on upper deck - forward. Learning from Indian interpreted - Pambrun - at Wallula, about 10 o'clock at night that a band of Columbia river Indians had possessed themselves of an unusually large number of dugouts, with evident intention of assistance to the hostiles, Wilkinson takes steamer to sheltered point below their camp, which was about 6 miles above Wallula, and with interpreter Pambrun creeps into their camp entirely suprising them, and after considerable parley secures their dugouts, and canoes, giving these Indians Genl. Howards receipt therefor until such time as the hostiles are captured or driven from the country - Wilkinson take dugouts and canoes in tow to Wallula.

Dear Sir.

I have been invited to visit Conn. ^{to} help work up an interest in the "Marcell-Liquor-Cure." & before doing so. am desirous of learning all I can concerning this remedy - or treatment. That it is a good thing. I am confident, but need to be more fully equipped with data relating to it - so I write to ask - the privilege of an interview here in N. J. or at Governors Island - whichever will be most convenient to yourself - that I may have your testimony in regard to the Cure. I have so often heard my sister, Mrs. Capt. My Dear General Howard -

Mr Treat's good letter of April 28th was duly received, giving Mrs L^{Proctor} and me the gratifying information that our lecture is entered on your book for May 11th - and that the subject will be "Grant at Chattanooga."

The Hall has been secured - and the lecture advertised to begin at 8^o clock - The Hall is called "The Athenaeum" and is at Bay Ridge - To reach there, you can take the 39th Ferry, at foot of Whitehall St - then the trolley, changing at 65th St on Third Avenue - and getting out at Bay Ridge Avenue - and go to the right. That is the best way - but if the 39th St boat, (which runs only every half hour) has gone, one should take the Hamilton Ferry then the Hamilton Avenue Cars - changing at 65th St to a 3^d Avenue Car and getting out, as before, at Bay Ridge Avenue -

And now for myself and Mrs Langdon and on behalf of our little Church I return my most hearty thanks for your generous kindness in giving us the benefit of your time, talents reputation and energy - for the object we have so much at heart.

With great respect
I am -

Very faithfully -

Yours -

Lavinia Langdon.

Dear General.

Sunday last I met a French Gentleman - Emile Lutz - who is here to examine the Astoria R.R. proposition. I had him in the Pilot Room of the "Union" for several hours and I feel pretty sure that I strengthened his ~~at~~ moderately favorable opinion of Astoria into one of decidedly affirmative. He was very prominent in the Panama Scheme. So I was informed by those who knew him. But to me he expressed himself as ~~favor~~ if he thought the Nicaragua route much the better. And asked me for some documents which I had pertaining to Construction Co. It struck me that it would be a good thing for you to meet him. And if by chance the Panama business

"We had been skirmishing all day with the enemy, in the flank movement around Atlanta when, about 5:00 in the evening, you sent an aid-de-camp to find out who had command of your advance Cavalry. I reported to you, when the following conversation passed between us.:- " Well, Estes, I am glad to see you, Gen'l. Sherman has ordered me to encamp here to-night, but I have no water for my army, the enemy in front are harassing me and I want them cleared away so I can march promptly to Flint River, can you do it? "I replied, yes sir. Your orders were, try and drive them away. I immediately wheeled my horse, saluted you once, riding to the front, I took the 92nd Illinois Cavalry, charged at their head, drove the enemy from their barricade and charged to the river without stopping, never giving the enemy an opportunity to reform. You followed immediately after and when we had reached the river, you were about one-half a mile in the rear on a hill over-looking the bridge. I reported to you and you replied, well done youngman I said, General, do you want me to take the bridge? Your answer was, can you do it? I, said yes".
