Dear General:

The undersigned Once a member of the 15th A.C. would in behalf of our local post, ask you if you could arrange to give us an address about the time of your appointments in St Paul, which I learn is on April 19th 1895. This whole region was settled by old soldiers, many of them from the Army of the Tennessee, and they would give their old commander, and the worthy successor of McPherson, as warm welcome. The place is on the "Omaha" R.R. 200 miles S.W. of St Paul and 75 N.E. of Sioux City.

Hoping to receive an early and favorable reply
I remain, General,

Dear General :-

Your very kind and welcome letter of the 27th has just reached me, and I thank you most kindly for it. I wrote Major. Barnett last week, asking where I could address you, so as to be able to keep track of yourself and family. A man in this life does not often meet up with such good and kind friends as yourself, and appreciating the fact as I do, I am opposed to their being lost sight of. Please remember me kindly to Mrs. Howard, Miss Bessie and Harry, and I hope during the summer that I shall have the pleasure of seeing you all in Vermont. You will notice from the heading of this paper that I have charge of the Canada Atlantic and Plant Steamship Line, which runs from Boston to Halifax, and Boston to Charlottetown, so that I shall be east frequently during the summer. When writing to Mrs. Lee, please remember me to her. I have been hoping to stop over in Washington, so as to have the pleasure of calling up on her.

With kind regards,

I am,

S.

Sincerely yours,

B. W. Wrenn

Dear Sir:---

We are very glad to know that you are willing to write the introduction for our new book on "Grant & Lee." In response to your request to send advance sheets as fast as they were out for you to review, we have this day forwarded to you a letter-press copy of the manuscript. We have not as yet been able to get far enough along so as to send any advance sheets from the printers hands, and having this copy of manuscript we know that you will like to look it over in writing the introduction. Mr. Odell, the author, has attached some notes to the manuscript in regard to its being an imperfect copy. We are sorry to put anything that is at all imperfect in your hands, as of course you would get a better impression from the corrected text, as it will finally be published, than from this, but under the circumstances we judge that sending you this will be the best thing we can do. If you will kindly return this to us at our expense when you are through with it, we shall esteem it a favor, and shall be glad to give you any further information or aid that you may desire.
