My dear General:

Permit me to express my thanks for your prompt attention to my letter, and the pleasure we all feel here at the prospect of securing for the magazine a contribution from your pen. We will pay the price named - thirty-five dollars per 1000 words - and, as indicated in my previous communication, place no restriction upon your treatment of the subject, but print what you write, without excision, interpolation, or any alteration whatever. What we want especially is your personal estimate of General Lee's campaign work, and of his probable permanent rank in military history. As to "Yankee" coloring, that would naturally be expected, and desired, from you - taking it for granted, of course, that with you it would not be mere narrow-minded partisan bias, but a Union soldier's convictions. Surely Lee's character can stand that fire; and for flowery laudation, we may safely count upon the eminent ex-Confederate gentlemen who are contributing to the "Lee series."

It seems ungracious to fix a space limit, and I will not undertake to do so definitively, but will ask if you think 4000 words would be enough? That, with the copious illustrations we use, would cover 10 or 12 pages of the magazine. If I suggest this comparatively meagre space for your article, I must tell you frankly it is because I am forced to bear in mind certain Draconian laws imposed by the business management of this concern upon the editor, with a view to curbing his natural tendency to reckless expenditure.

In the matter of time, we are more liberal. Of course, the sooner we could have your MS. in hand, the better for our plans, illustrations, etc. But as it would not be actually put in type before May, or perhaps June (the Lee articles being calculated to run nearly, if not quite, to the end of the year), you could safely take from six weeks to two months in which to do the article.

A line, at your convenience, letting me know what you think of the matter in this light, will be thankfully received.

Believe me, dear General, with highest regard,
yours sincerely

Sir:

At the request of Mr. E. M. Boynton I take pleasure in sending you according to promise two certificates, each of 100 shares.

We are still progressing slowly. A company has been organized in Baltimore for the purpose of building a bicycle railway from Baltimore to Washington, though they wish for the present to keep the destination secret. They are now ready to order motors.

A second hearing for amendment of the Boston & Lowell charter will take place this week and Mr. Boynton thinks he will be successful.

Kindly sign the receipts and return to this office.

Very respectfully
D. C. Reusch.

Dear Captain:-

Before your letter came I received one from another cavalry officer whom I have not yet recommended. Now, my dear fellow, as I have not been with you for several years would you mind asking Col. Merriam to drop me a line, simply with reference to your habits, character and fitness for Commandant.

When I get it I will do the best I can.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:

This department is now engaged in making a collection of photographs of the distinguished officers of the Civil War, who were natives of the State of Maine. We shall be very much disappointed if we cannot prevail upon you to add yours to the number, as such a collection would lose half its significance and value if the leading General officer of Maine was not among the number. The photograph will be preserved in our nicely arranged rooms in Portland and at all times open to the public.

Trusting you may be able to grant this great favor, I remain

I have been delaying a little acknowledging the receipt of the book you so kindly sent me, that I might take it in more of a spiritual life! What a vision of the promised peace which we so little realize! What a key to the true philosophy of life!

My dear General Howard

My Cyrus Kehr of Chicago

has just sent to me a circular in which he has printed your very kind and complimentary note relative to myself.
It was just like you to write such cordial words, for when you do a kindly thing, it is never done in a half hearted way but is generous full and filled with your own Christian spirit. I would rather have your regard and esteem than that of any man I have ever known. I have done something in the way of lecturing on fraternal subjects this winter - not going beyond the state however except in one instance. I hope you have been successful in your tours throughout the Union, and as I hear of you now in Omaha - now in New York, now in Kansas - now in Ohio - now in Wisconsin and so on, I understand that determination has not taken you from any active service for your country - you will see for the General Oliver Otis Howard.

Dear Sir:-

I have just been reading your life by Laura B. Holloway, and been much interested in ^(the story) your career as a soldier of the cross, as well as of our country. I would like very much to have your autograph general, if you would be of the kindness to send it to me. I am a young man of 20. Do you believe there is any wrong, in reading a high class, moral novel. If you will be of the kindness to grant these requests, I shall always cherish your memory, as a good and great man.

Yours Respectfully
Ole Ulness
Newark, Ill., Boy.
