Dear General: -

The Elgin engagement was made last year. No subject has been selected. I enclose a pamphlet giving an outline of the celebration. I suggest that you take for a subject anything that you think will be appropriate. How would it do to take "War and Peace", drawing in part from your lecture on the "Warfare of the Future"?

Correspondence has been had with W.S.Weld, Room 5 Spurling Block, Elgin.

Miss Pearson is to be in the programme.

Very truly yours,

CONDITIONS.

ALL MESSAGES TAKEN BY THIS COMPANY ARE SUBJECT TO THE FOLLOWING TERMS.

To guard against mistakes or delays, the sender of a message should order it REPEATED; that is, telegraphed back . . the originating office for comparison. For this, one half the regular rate is charged in addition. It is agreed between the sender of the message written on the face hereof and the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, that said Company shall not be liable for mistakes or delays in the transmission or delivery, or for non-delivery, of any UNREPEATED message, beyond t's amount received for sending the same; nor for mistakes or delays in the transmission or delivery, or for non-delivery, or for non-delivery, or for non-delivery, or for non-delivery, or for non-delivery of an repeated message beyond fifty times the sum received for sending the same, unless specially insured, nor in any case a delays arising from unavoidable interruption in the working of its lines, or for errors in cipher or obscure messages. And the Company is hereby made the agent of the sender, without liability, to forward any message over the lines of any othe Company when necessary to reach its destination.

Correctness in the transmission of messages to any point on the lines of the Company can be INSURED by contract in writing, stating agreed amount of risk, and payment of premium thereon at the following rates, in addition to the usual charge for repeated messages, viz: one per cent. for any distance not exceeding 1,000 miles, and two per cent. for any greated distance.

No responsibility regarding messages attaches to this Company until the same are presented and accepted at one of its transmitting offices; and if a message is sent to such office by one of this Company's messengers, he acts for that purpose as the agent of the sender.

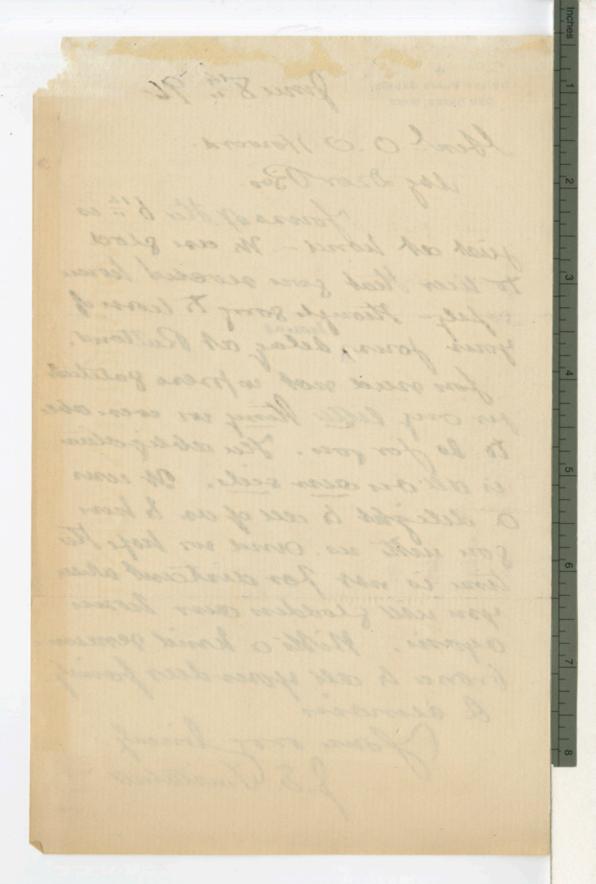

Messages will be delivered free within the established free delivery limits of the terminal office. For delivery at a greater distance a special charge will be made to cover the cost of such delivery.

This Company will not be liable for damages in any case where the claim is not presented in writing within sixty days after the message is filed with the Company for transmission. In any event, this Company is not to be held liable for any loss, or damage, or for delay, or detention, or errors caused by storms or action of the elements, or other acts of God, or by civil or military authority, or by insurrections, riots, rebellions, or dangers incident to time of war, or by the unlawful acts of individuals.

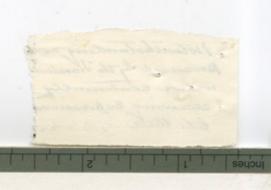

This is an UNREPEATED Message and is delivered by request of the sender under the conditions named above. Errors can be guarded against only by repeating a message back to the sending station for comparison.

No employee of this Company is authorized to vary the foregoing.

FROM WILBUR T. AYRES, Instructor in Latin, DePauw University.

GREENCASTLE, IND., November 12, 1895. A few months ago I purchased the so-called "Standard" Dictionary and wrote a testimonial after a superficial examination of it. I now have Webster's International and deem it far superior after a careful comparison of the two. In fact they are a contrast. The more I examine the International the more its merits are evident. It excels in the systematic and logical arrangement of the words and definitions and the exclusion of those that should have no place in good English and in a good dictionary.

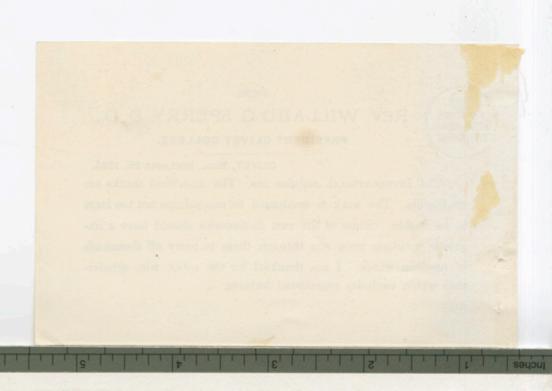

Especially is it superior in its etymology and eminently so in the definitions and in its system of indicating pronunciation. In these points the contrast between the two books was a revelation to me. For accuracy, simplicity, and reliability I want the International and can now give without any mental reservation an unqualified indorsement to this, the best of all.

FROM REV. WILLARD G. SPERRY, D. D., PRESIDENT OLIVET COLLEGE.

OLIVET, MICH., NOVEMBER 25, 1895. The INTERNATIONAL satisfies me. The diacritical marks are intelligible. The work is condensed to one volume not too large to be usable. Some of the vast dictionaries should have a linguistic wrecking train run through them to carry off thousands of needless words. I am thankful for the sober, wise scholarship which excludes sensational features.

DICTIONAR

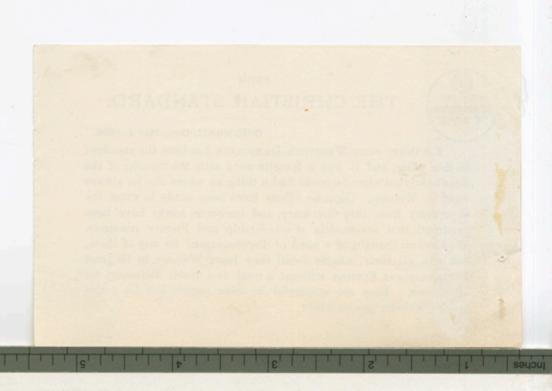

THE CHRISTIAN STANDARD.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, MAY 2, 1896.

For thirty years WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY has been the standard in this office, and it was a favorite word with the founder of the STANDARD that when he could find a thing no where else he always went to Webster. Gigantic efforts have been made to wrest the supremacy from this dictionary, and immense works have been produced that are models of scholarship and literary resources. We have no thought of a word of disparagement for any of them, but with all their infinite detail they leave Webster, in its great INTERNATIONAL EDITION without a rival as a useful dictionary for all classes. They are wonderful in dress parade, but for active service Webster has no fellow.

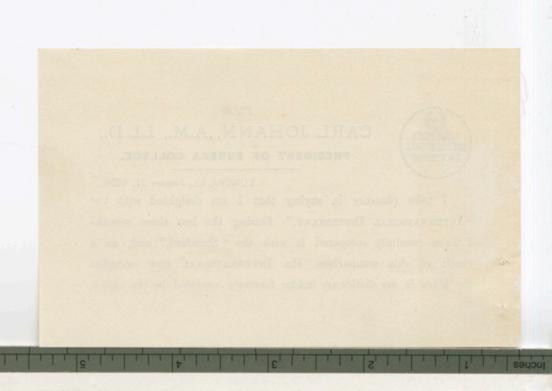

DICTIONARY

FROM CARL JOHANN, A.M., LL.D., PRESIDENT OF EUREKA COLLECE.

EUREKA, ILL, JANUARY 31, 1896. I take pleasure in saying that I am delighted with the "INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY." During the last three months I have carefully compared it with the "Standard," and, as a result of this comparison, the INTERNATIONAL now occupies the place in my dictionary holder formerly occupied by the other.

4.30 #15 bake Place, New Haren, boun. Jane 9. 1896. Major Lev. O. O. Howard, My dear Sir: I do not wish to seem unappre ciative of your very kind letter of the 14 th all. whilely was duly received. I hoped to meet you while you were in New Haran, and made some effort to do so: but with a feeling of reluctance to bringing up. on such an occasion, the subject of my letter, I have found that any attempt to deal with these facts in a courersation has been unsatisfactory hitherto, and I have afterward reverted to it with a feeling that I had not made my meaning clear. Hence I questioned the falue of another discussion, at this time, and was not so persistent in seeking an interview as I otherwise should have been. The question is wholly one of figures and unquestionable facts: and if these have no weight in theuselves and by their bare statement; it is useless to go into a discussion over theme. For two years part I have tried to bring facts and figures of this

Many ministers of my acquaintance, with small salaries, have sacredly set apart a teuth to Severaleut objects. Often they have contributed from their own means, more than any our dre in the Congugation; and that too when they had not a few wealthy parishioner. In many cases they have unged these unsion

Dear Gen. Howard :--

Your letter of the 6th. inst. received. I had already written you quite fully in regard to the lecture and the fact that I had to bear the burden of the expenses of the advertisement, hall etc. The rent of the hall is $100 a night but they charged me only $50.

I did not write you earlier as I understood from you that you would be absent from Burlington about two weeks from the time you were here, so that I hoped that my letter would reach your home about the time you reached there.

I do not know that I can add anything in this letter that I omitted in my last one giving you a statement of the result of the lecture, and suggesting that next fall we be allowed to try our hand again--believing that our recent experience will operate great ly to our advantage.

With best wishes for you and your family,

I remain,

Very truly yours.
