

FAMOUS

WAR LECTURES

BY General O. O. Howard.

SUBJECTS:

- I. Personal Recollections of Abraham Lincoln.
- II. Grant and His Generals.
- III. Sherman and the March to the Sea.
- IV. General George H. Thomas, the Rock of Chickamauga.
- V. The Battle of Gettysburg.
- VI. The American Volunteer Soldier.
- VII. A Sojourn with Wild Indians, Living in the Camp of the Apache Chief Cochise.
- VIII. Father Love, Patriotic and Christian (Religious).
- IX. The Power of Small Things (Religious).

General Howard is the last surviving commander of an American Army in the Civil War, and now one of the very few who can speak from the platform entertainingly and with authority on the topics of that stirring period. He is still in vigorous health, and his addresses are able and instructive. The Springfield (Mass.) Republican of February 15th, 1909, says of his address on Lincoln:

"The Court Street Theatre was filled for yesterday's meeting. Every man who went to hear Major-General O. O. Howard came away with a distinct impression of reverence and sympathy, mingled with admiration for Lincoln, reflected through General Howard's love for the man. He sketched the character of the man by a series of stories, each with a point and most of them of a personal nature. His address was at times keenly humorous, often the stories were full of pathos but always interesting. The meeting was undoubtedly the most perfect tribute to Lincoln than any held in this vicinity."

For information and dates of appointment and rates write to H. S. Howard, Secretary, 156 College Street, Burlington, Vermont.

WAR LECTURES

LECTURE I

The first lecture of the series was given by the author, who is a well-known expert on the subject. The lecture was held in the lecture hall of the University of London, and was attended by a large number of students and members of the public. The lecture was very successful, and the author received many compliments for his clear and concise presentation of the subject. The lecture was held on the 1st of November, 1914, and was the first of a series of lectures on the subject of the War.

The second lecture of the series was given by the author, who is a well-known expert on the subject. The lecture was held in the lecture hall of the University of London, and was attended by a large number of students and members of the public. The lecture was very successful, and the author received many compliments for his clear and concise presentation of the subject. The lecture was held on the 8th of November, 1914, and was the second of a series of lectures on the subject of the War.

The third lecture of the series was given by the author, who is a well-known expert on the subject. The lecture was held in the lecture hall of the University of London, and was attended by a large number of students and members of the public. The lecture was very successful, and the author received many compliments for his clear and concise presentation of the subject. The lecture was held on the 15th of November, 1914, and was the third of a series of lectures on the subject of the War.

The fourth lecture of the series was given by the author, who is a well-known expert on the subject. The lecture was held in the lecture hall of the University of London, and was attended by a large number of students and members of the public. The lecture was very successful, and the author received many compliments for his clear and concise presentation of the subject. The lecture was held on the 22nd of November, 1914, and was the fourth of a series of lectures on the subject of the War.

The fifth lecture of the series was given by the author, who is a well-known expert on the subject. The lecture was held in the lecture hall of the University of London, and was attended by a large number of students and members of the public. The lecture was very successful, and the author received many compliments for his clear and concise presentation of the subject. The lecture was held on the 29th of November, 1914, and was the fifth of a series of lectures on the subject of the War.

VOL 13

CONTENTS.

A Plan of Life.

The Danger of Depreciating a Boy.

Article on Military Subordination.

Account of Journey through the South.

Address to Medical Class, Howard University.

Address to Medical Class, Howard University.

Our Christian duty towards the Southern People.

Personal Experience of Army Life.

National Education a National Safeguard.

Ambition.

The Nations Capital.

Friendship.

Economy.

V 2 12

CONTENTS.

Five Lectures on Heaven.

Unbelief. Heb., 3: 12.

The Worth of the Soul.

So then every one shall give Account. Rom., 14: 12.

Ambition.

Prayer.

Resurrection of the Dead.

Grace.

The Confessing of Christ. John, 12: 42, 43.

The Christians Hope.

Prayer.

If Ye continue in my Word. John, 8: 31, 32.

Again the Kingdom of Heaven is like. Matt., 13:
45, 46.

Repentance. Ezek., 18: 30.

Backsliding. Jer., 3: 22.

Lectures on the Commandments.

Two curious old Sermons.

Notes for Lecture on the Capital.

Notes for Lecture on the Gospel.

Notes for Lecture on the Education in the South.

Future Life.

Columbus.

Students Life.

Address to two Companies leaving West Point in 1858.

The New Life.

Raising of the Daughter of Jairus.

Faith.

To whom shall we go. John 6: 6, 8.

Miracle at Cana. John 4: 46, 54.

279

The Calvary Literary and Debating Society

respectfully announce, that

GENERAL O. O. HOWARD

will deliver a lecture under their auspices at Calvary Church, corner Powell and Geary Streets, on Tuesday Ev'ng, March 8, 1887.

The subject will be

"GETTYSBURG."

As Gen. Howard was most prominently connected with the very critical movements of this celebrated battle, the lecture will doubtless be one of the greatest interest.

The articles on "Gettysburg" in the last three numbers of the "Century Magazine" have drawn a large amount of public attention to this decisive battle. General Howard will be assisted in his description by maps and charts, which will render the subject perfectly intelligible.

To all interested in the great events of our CIVIL WAR, whether members of the Grand Army of the Republic, or the general public, this lecture will offer an opportunity of hearing the particulars rehearsed to them by the most competent living military authority.

The Society has arranged, at considerable expense, for the delivery of this most instructive lecture, and it is expected that their friends, and others, will cordially support this effort to present to them such an interesting subject and such a talented lecturer.

Prof. GUSTAV A. SCOTT will render choice selections on the Grand Organ during the evening.

The price of admission has been placed at Fifty Cents, and Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Society, at M. Gray's Music Store, 206 Post Street, or at the Church on the evening of the lecture.

Calvary Library and Debating Society that

GENERAL O. O. HOWARD

a lecture under their auspices at Calvary Church, Tuesday Ev'ng. March 8, 1887.

"GETTYSBURG."

Howard was most prominently connected with the movements of this celebrated battle, the lecture was one of the greatest interest.

Howard in "Gettysburg" in the last three numbers of the "Graphic" have drawn a large amount of attention to this decisive battle. General Howard in his description of maps and charts, renders the subject perfectly intelligible.

interested in the great events of our CIVIL WAR. members of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the general public will offer an opportunity of hearing the lecture to them by the most competent living lecturer.

has arranged, at considerable expense, for the most instructive lecture, and it is expected that friends, and others, will cordially support this lecture to them such an interesting subject and lecturer.

STAVENHOLM will render choice selections on the evening.

of admission has been placed at Fifty Cents, and tickets from any member of the Society at M. Gray's Music Store, or at the Church on the evening of the lecture.