

ARTHUR JOSEPH GOLDBERG, former Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, sometime United States Representative to the United Nations, and distinguished member of the legal fraternity. A native of Chicago and a graduate of Northwestern, you have long been an active combatant in the fight for human rights. From labor lawyer to Secretary of Labor, to Supreme Court, to United Nations, you have carried on an inspirational and steadfast battle for dignity, civility and liberty. No test to which you have been called has been a simple one; each position which you have filled has been the better for it. In times of extreme tension you have displayed a decency and a calmness that have helped to cool the passions of men and lead them to a resolution of their conflicts. Never afraid to stand with firmness behind the principles of international law and civilized conduct, you have combined toughness with flexibility, determination with understanding, commitment with compassion. Your cause has been a better world; your battle has not been in vain.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF LAWS
