

WILLIAM BRIDGHAM NULTY, of the Class of 1910, cum laude, of Portland. One time school teacher, who then studied law, soon noted as a lawyer of ability – sound, fair, and of superior knowledge; a distinguished judge, respected by colleagues and citizens alike throughout the State of Maine; maintaining balance and perspective in the everyday affairs of life. Robert Ingersoll once said, “We have to make judges of men. Here the opposite was true, for here was a man made to be a judge.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF LAWS