

ISAAC MERVYN WEBBER, of the Class of 1917, graduate of the Bowdoin Medical School and later of the Mayo Clinic of the University of Minnesota. Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, staff member of several hospitals, past President of Staff and Chief of Surgery in the Maine Medical Center, his surgical skill has remade the lives of thousands; equally, his administrative and organizational talents brought to the Maine General Hospital a four-year teaching program for residents. Patient and modest, his endless hours in clinical and community work have made for him an enviable name not only as a physician, but as a conscientious citizen of his native State. Upon the fortieth anniversary of his Class, we do him homage.
