

DONALD WEDGWOOD WEBBER of the Class of 1927, Overseer of the College, Justice of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court. A cum laude graduate of Bowdoin, you prepared for the Bar at Harvard Law School, and when named to the State's highest court at age 47, you became one of the youngest justices ever appointed. A Bowdoin father and a Bowdoin son, you have served the College with sincerity and wisdom. Your wide interest in education is evidenced further by your work as a Trustee for Westbrook Junior College, Bangor Theological Seminary, and New College. Zealous and knowledgeable in the law, you have been no less active in matters of faith, having served as Moderator of the General Synod of the United Church of Christ and during the current year as President of the Maine Conference. By quiet example and diligent performance, you have brought honor on yourself and on the College. As a member of the Bar, as a person active in community affairs, as a concerned layman of your church, you have more than earned the gratitude of your alma mater.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF LAWS
