

JOHN CLEMENT ALDERMAN, Commander United States Navy; a graduate of Annapolis, Commanding Officer of the Brunswick Naval Air Station, decorated with the Navy Cross for heroic action in the Pacific early in the war, carrying the esteem and good will of our entire community; an American naval officer who knows at first hand what war means and who is working intelligently and broadmindedly for a better world order where loyalty to country will be tested by an even higher patriotism; representative of that branch of the service which this College by the sea, founded in the same year as was the United States Navy, delights to honor.

Honoris Causa, MASTER OF SCIENCE