

Willis Robert Barnstone, of the Class of 1948, cum laude; Master of Arts of Columbia University, Doctor of Philosophy of Yale University; Professor of Comparative Literature and Latin American Studies at Indiana University; scholar of extraordinary breadth whose domain embraces Sappho's Greece and Mao Tse-tung's China; translator, teacher, critic, poet in his own right whose achievements have been honored with national awards; he represents the best of those whom Bowdoin sends forth to bring her fame "by deeds well done." We welcome him back to his College and his native State of Maine.

Honoris Causa
Doctor of Literature