

JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER 3RD, a graduate of Williams, President of Williams College; bearing a name long honored in Maine, born in Portland, nurtured in Brunswick, straying to Williamstown, sojourning at Harvard, in 1937 settling down to guide the fortunes of the College of which he is so loyal an alumnus; since the war doubling his very great innate capacity by taking on important tasks in Washington; one of the leaders in the battle to preserve liberal education, a scholar who is making a fine administrator and an administrator who for college and state strives to preserve the benefits of scholarship; for lo! these many years devoted to Bowdoin and now gladly admitted to our Bowdoin family.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF LAWS