

BOWDOIN COLLEGE
Commencement 1985

HENRY NICHOLS COBB, graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Graduate School of Design, master of space, of shape and light, you prove yourself a worthy heir of Vitruvius and Palladio. Your buildings grace cities as distant as Melbourne, Australia and as close as Portland, Maine. We like the Portland Museum of Art. The Government Center in Boston speaks to your concern for urban design and city planning. What lies within and without our structures, you tell us, is for people. Teacher as well as designer, you form at Harvard today the architects and designers of tomorrow.

Your own profession has recognized you with awards and honors. We are pleased to recognize you today and to thank you for the beauty you have added to the State of Maine. Honoris causa, DOCTOR OF FINE ARTS.
