

JOHN FESSENDEN DANA, of the Class of 1898, of Portland; Bachelor of Laws Harvard University; Overseer of the College; member of the Finance Committee; former President of the Bowdoin Alumni Association; Class Agent par excellence; one who can always be relied on to render any service his College may ask, no matter at how much personal inconvenience and trouble; brother, father, and uncle of Bowdoin men; a member of the Bar known all over the State of Maine for ability and unswerving integrity; a lawyer who never cuts corners; in the words of a fellow townsman, "If there were one hundred and twenty million Americans like him, we should have few national troubles"; to his own great embarrassment drawn from out his habitual modesty and personal, though not professional retirement to be honored today on the fortieth anniversary of his great class.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF LAWS
