

GEORGE PALMER HYDE, of the Class of 1908, of Northampton; Treasurer of Smith College; President of the Association of University and College Business Officers of the Eastern States; son of Bowdoin's greatest president, with a son in the graduating class to carry on the name, thus uniquely bound to the College by family ties past and present; the best type of the Bowdoin graduate who speaks the truth, fears no man, and does his job.

Honoris Causa, MASTER OF ARTS
