

CHARLES HUGH MCLELLAN, for over a quarter of a century in the life-saving service of the United States government where his work was invaluable; inventor of much life-saving apparatus; descendant of seafaring people who has made it possible for many travelers to reach safely the haven where they would be; fittingly honored by the College of his home town.

Honoris Causa, MASTER OF SCIENCE