

EARLE BRYANT PERKINS, of the Class of 1923, Doctor of Philosophy of Harvard University, valued member of the Department of Biology of Rutgers University; well-trained scholar and scientist who like many others received inspiration in college from the teachings of Professors Copeland and Gross; lately returned from the Byrd Expedition to Antarctica where he did outstanding scientific work and where with his Bowdoin comrade, Francis S. Dane, Jr., of the Class of 1931, he held the Bowdoin banner aloft in Little America; rightly honored by a college that is unsurpassed in its fealty to scientific exploration, for his own work as a scientist both before, and after his Antarctic excursion; representative of the Bowdoin company of explorers both of knowledge and territory.

Honoris Causa, MASTER OF SCIENCE