

ELIZABETH SHULL RUSSELL

Elizabeth Shull Russell, a graduate of the University of Michigan, Columbia University and the University of Chicago, you have devoted your life to biological research. You have worked almost exclusively in Maine where you have contributed to making 'Me Jackson Laboratory a distinguished research institution. You have investigated fields of physiological genetics, hereditary disease, and aging, and you have written numerous publications for the scientific community. As a Trustee of the University of Maine and of the College of the Atlantic, you have helped to improve science education in the State of Maine. Today we welcome you at Bowdoin, another Maine college, and we thank you for the example of your career and for the success of your endeavors.

Honoris causa
Doctor of Science