

LEVERETT SALTONSTALL, Bachelor of Arts and of Laws of Harvard University, Doctor of Laws of Northeastern University and of Bates College; Governor of the great Commonwealth of Massachusetts which gave Bowdoin her charter and nurtured us in our younger years; descendant of a Harvard great-grandfather, Leverett Saltonstall, who at Bowdoin's first Commencement received an honorary degree; for many years active in politics; with charm, integrity, and ability, upholding the highest traditions of his high office and setting an example to youth of devotion to public duty; friendly ambassador of our mother state who we hope from his experiences today may echo the words of his ancestor, "I almost fancied myself in Cambridge"; known far beyond the confines of Harvard and Massachusetts as an honest and high-minded servant of the people.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF LAWS
