

(In Absentia)

FREDERICK CLEMENT STEVENS, of St. Paul, Minnesota, of the Class of 1881; for eighteen years member of Congress; honorable, fearless and effective legislator, whose career at Washington was noteworthy for independence of action and integrity of thought; whose speeches in those anxious days before we entered the war availed much to bring about a better understanding between this country and the nations with whom we were later associated, particularly England; and who consequently contributed to that unity of feeling that was essential to the winning of the war.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF LAWS
