

CADWALLADER LINCOLN WASHBURN, of Brunswick and Livermore Falls; artist, member of a famous Maine and Bowdoin family, son of United States Senator William Drew Washburn of Minnesota of the Class of 1854; a member of the Class of 1893 of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Bachelor of Arts and Honorary Doctor of Science of Gallaudet College of Washington; one of the most distinguished of American etchers whose dry points are internationally known and admired and who is represented in the British Museum, the Bibliothèque Nationale of Paris, the Ryke Museum of Amsterdam, appropriately since his etchings have much of the quality of Rembrandt's – by no means limiting himself to art as he has served as war correspondent in Mexico and as a collector of rare birds and nests in the Marquesas Islands, who, deprived of hearing and of speech, by his courage and intellectual virility has made for himself an outstanding name in American art; rightly honored by a College that is proud of its art collections and that emphasizes for youth the importance of Art.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS
