

OLIVER PATTERSON WATTS, of the Class of 1889; professor in the University of Wisconsin; the best authority in the country in the fundamental principles involved in the corrosion of metals; a research scholar of the highest type, who has made valuable and original contributions in the field of electro-chemistry.

Honoris Causa, DOCTOR OF SCIENCE