

GERALD GARDNER WILDER, of the Class of 1904; Librarian of the College; editor par excellence of all college publications; faithful, efficient, unruffled, so regular in his habits and duties that as an undergraduate he never once missed chapel or class; so faithful a member of the faculty that he has never in twenty-five years taken a leave of absence; who has kept up the standards of the Library set by his distinguished predecessors: Longfellow, Everett, Young, Packard, Johnson, and Little; master of detail, and now –

Honoris Causa, MASTER OF ARTS
