

Dear Genl Howard - I have been waiting for some time of me with these papers before Henry, Illinois, July 6, 1865.

Maj. Genl. O. O. Howard
Washington, D. C.

My Old friend and Chamberlain, Sashmouth

I telegraphed you asking you if you had any place anywhere for me and asking you when and where I could see you. On June 13, 1865 you telegraphed me, "dispatch received, wait reply by mail" I have not heard from you. I think I construe the telegram rightly that I should wait on answer by mail from you. After I had telegraphed you I saw that all your appointees were military men and I concluded you could not give me any place I have received no letter from you. I know you must have been very busy and must have had more than two men could do and I doubt wonder you overlooked me if you did or had to rub me off. I have waited patiently knowing you had more than you could do in your bureau and knowing too you were to deliver the Oration at Gettysburg on the 4th of July. And I should wait still but yesterday morning my house worth a couple of thousand dollars went up in flames and uninsured and it makes me feel a little more like straining a point to secure some pecuniary advantage to myself if that were possible. I doubt like to love you Cham - I don't know what you may think of me with these years lapsed between us - I write altogether in the dark but I believe Howard you could feel unfriendly to me and if I am writing you a solicitous and self-taking letter I am going to say right here at the risk of hurting myself in your regard that I am proud of you and have been these years gone out right glad of your success, right glad of your record that it has been what it has, right glad that you survive and home now for yourself and wife and children and kindred and friends a name in history <sup>aplace</sup> only just below Grant, Sherman Thomas and Sheridan.

And I make for you a little extract from my 4th of July speech in this connection. - "And our Heroic Dead. I bow my head low as the dust in which they lie in grateful remembrance and honor of them, and I take the shoes from off my feet as I tread above them, for it is holy ground where they sleep - who can do them justice, who can pay to them in words, or tears or silence the notions need of homage - you nor I nor my old Cham Howard as he speaks to day of Gettysburg on the field where he and so many of them fought so well and where so many whom he led sleep so gloriously at last - in sight of their graves, inspired by the thrilling memories of the glorious struggle not he nor any man however gifted. Everett's polished periods fell short of it and where he fails who shall hope to succeed?
But my heart is full and in broken words I bless them. May God

July 6, 1865
195 bless them and those that love them and miss for them, for <sup>more</sup> I enclose you one more extract which had it not been made my friends and I think I would not be homeless now - I have been living here now for ten years and the place is only about 2500 and is not growing. I have been wishing to go to a city, some large place for some time and when I telegraphed you I thought if you could nominate me<sup>to</sup>, or help me get some place in your bureau that would take me to any Southern City and pay me a pretty good salary for a year or two I could get acquainted and meanwhile have my partner come out open a law office and make a living for myself while I was getting acquainted and then practice my profession with better success than to go out get acquainted and break in in a new place and a new practice without I should be a great favor to me and of kindness I know I should appreciate but I have come to the conclusion from your not writing me out what I have seen of your nominations or appointments that you can't do it. It is all right if you can't. I am not a placesetter nor an office hunter. I would have been in the nor if I could have been. I have edited the Republican Organ of this County for years did the last Campaign and I think vigorously and obly but I have never asked anybody for an office.

 I was in Provia just before I telegraphed you out some our Mr. E. C. Ingersoll and incidentally told him you and I were classmates and college chums and he told me to write you and he would procure for me any confirmation of my nomination you could give me and told me to write you and send the letter to him and he would write to you but I doubt do it. I doubt want to get out of my profession and into politics or any place but a position that would pay me a good salary that I could make some money in sure for a year or two would help me much and I should like such a one. I have lots to do and I am very tired and send this to you without hardly knowing what I have written but you will gather from it what I want. I have very little hope you can help me now and it is all right if you <sup>can't</sup> so you would be glad to if you could. I have not written you because I have supposed you had better business than to be writ-ting letters to me but I tell you truly I know what you have done and many and many a time I have mentioned you in my Editorials and my speeches and I have made hundreds of them and with pride and pleasure and warm approval. I am glad Chas. you are what and where you are. I am glad you stand high in the approval and love of all loyal good men.

Yours very truly,
F. B. Perley.

My Dear General:

The surgeon who has the charge of me says I can leave here so as to be in Washington on the 20th inst. & he will not consent to my traveling before that time. I assure you I shall be there if there is no hindrance or obstacle for the present to prevent.

The arm is doing as well as could be expected for such a fracture & I think will be sound.

Trusting that your health remains good. I remain has brought you back to me. My Boy was a not like you being taken from them and I thought Gen Sherman was wicked to take you from that brave old 4th Corps. But It was your gain and

The first of the things I saw when I stepped out of the boat was a vast expanse of water stretching to the horizon

 But you in your Oration had not forgotten them
 And I am glad for when they read it they will think that their

General

I take the liberty of writing to you, hoping that the late bloody war between our respective sections has not destroyed all the personal friendships that once existed between us. My brother who has just returned from prison at Johnson's Island met Major S. P. Lee in Cincinnati, who very kindly remembered me, and sent me word, that, if I needed the influence of any friend to secure for me the special pardon promised by Pres. Johnson in his Amnesty Proclamation, to those belonging to the excepted classes, I might safely address myself to you as such a friend. I therefore take the liberty of asking that you will forward the enclosed application for executive clemency, and endorse it as you may think proper, hoping that what you know of me may enable you to do so in my favor. I have nothing to offer in my own justification, for the part

2 3 4 5 6 7 8

taken by me in resisting the authority of the United States. Beyond the plea that I conscientiously believed I was right in the course I adopted. I had been educated to believe that the allegiance of the citizen was permanently due to the state of his nativity or residence, and when my state, Alabama, declared herself an "Independent Sovereignty" and called for her sons to rally to her standard I felt bound to do so by the prompting of patriotism as true and sincere as those that have animated and sustained you through the brilliant yet trying career, that has made you one of your country's heroes.
You were successful, and a grateful nation sings your praise, and feels its-self honored in bestowing honor upon you; we failed and though our aims were as high, our motives as pure, yet I am a "rebel" and a "traitor". I have not yet brought myself to accept these terms as applicable to me, but I am still willing to yield to the stern logic of facts, to own that once more my true and faithful allegiance is due to the United States, and I am perfectly sincere in wishing to return to the ranks of dutiful citizens, to do good and faithful service, for that however ment which has shown itself so able to protect me and mine in the enjoyment of life and the pursuit of happiness.

Feeling thus I have no hesitancy in taking the oath of allegiance, and will do so freely, voluntarily, and honestly, fully resolved to be always true to its obligations.

I take the liberty of saying General that I watched with great interest your bright career during the last four years, and saw with sincere pleasure your name rising day after day, higher and still higher up the hill of fame. I am sorry you lost your arm, but it is almost worth an life to gain so bright a record as you have made. I hope you will live long to enjoy your reputation and to do good to your fellow man, which always was your greatest pleasure.

My family is here with my father belie, and our two children are well and we are all comfortable, happy and as prosperous as could be expected.

With many kind wishes for your future welfare, and with the warmest sentiments of friendship from belie and myself to you and Mrs Howard

I am General very respectfully & truly

Yr friend

Dear Sir;

Along with this I send you the outline of a plan I have drawn up for the employment and education of the freedmen of the South which I wish you to examine and make such suggestions as you may think fit. I do not think there will be the least difficulty experienced in the formation of such companies. I have applications every day by parties wishing to take stock and get information re. You will notice I provide for the education of the young blacks. I know of no practicable plan by which those who are now men and women, can as a general thing be educated.

I wish you would inform me what assurances we can have from your department, provided the company is formed and the experiment tried, that we will have your sanction and cooperation. If we can have the sanction of your authority, that the hands will remain for the period of one year or during the term of their engagement upon the condition they are well treated and promptly paid, we do not fear failure.

I have peritted to the President on the subject the paper sent you some time since.

Genl. I W Davidson
now at ~~Washington~~ I understand has been recommended for the position of Asst.
Commissioner for Texas. I have known the General for some length of time. he has impressed me most favorably, as an earnest, industrious man. and a man of united voice of the officers of the Army on the Texas question.
and has given evidence of kindness and humanity. with good executive ability. I should <sup>consequently</sup> the appointment a good one, and would

Frankford Arsenal,

206

Philadelphia, Pa.,

July 7th 1865-

My dear Howard,

As you kindly offer to interest yourself in Ordnance matters as regards havets, I desire to make a few points.

1. The important duties of the Dept, necessarily keep its best & most experienced Officers at Arsenals. When we consider the sudden increase of the Army from 20 to 500 thousand men, & the keeping them supplied with all their fighting munitions, improvising material that could not be purchased in market, ransacking Europe for arms that the U.S. could not supply & so on improving our war material, adding rifled guns, & using larger size than have ever been used in any other service. & are doing all this, without let or hindrance to the operations of our armies, & without material complaint from the users, shows that the Officers of the Dept did their duty to the utmost. And yet, Paymasters, Surgeons, & others have been rewarded - the Ordnance have only received empty commendations.

2<sup>d</sup>. Is personal to myself.
A subaltern has been ordered here, who is a Bvt Lt Col, for distinguished services in the field. He richly deserves the honors - I know him to be capable, energetic &c but he has too much rank to be the sub of a mere Captain.

To the world at large, he has the merit, I have the age - merely - otherwise why have I not the rank.?

I believe I have done the state some service, or why should I be commanding one of the most important arsenals with my present rank; & it is hard after sixteen years of service to find myself ranked by men, who were in "bibbs & tuckers" when I left the Academy -

The Secy expressed himself to me in such favorable terms, not many months ago, that I think he would consider my case favorably.

It will be a great point gained, if his attention be called to the subject. Men, who feel

3 4 5 6 7 8 that they have done well, dislike to be overlooked. A few brevets are much to a soldier, & ~~is~~ nothing to the country, as they now carry no pay.

I expect to trouble you in the midst of your new & important duties, but a word from you may go far towards justice being done to an important dept of the Army -

I have just read your fine address at Gettysburg. That battle was the turning point of the war, & your tribute to John F. Reynolds touched me deeply.
I knew him well - He would have grown up into a first class General - Yours very truly
S. J. Pickett

I avail myself of the privilege you so kindly gave me to "address you as a friend" to do so in relation to affairs in Genl Hartsuff's District

The relations existing between Genl Hartsuff and myself are entirely friendly but I fear trouble will arise if he attempts in connection with the Officers of the Bureau to manage Freedmen affairs

I had hoped the appointment of Capt Soly as A. L. M., with orders to report to me for duty would fully satisfy the General. I fear however now, from the Order received to day from Capt Barnes that such will not be the case

It appears to me that trouble can only be avoided by assuming the management and control of affairs as in other Districts

If Capt Soly can be appointed as Genl Heintzuff wishes all the better If you will General be kind enough to intimate any wish you may have in this matter aside from the official record I will most cheerfully be governed by it, and let me ask one more favor General will you be free to admonish or advise me when my course does not meet your approval and may not in your opinion require official censure by so doing, you will place me Allow me General to congratulate
