Maj. Genl Howard 158
Dear Sir 158

Your kind & very justly urgent note inviting us to contribute a small amount to the noble object of building a Cong. Church in the city of Washington is received -

Last year we sent ten dollars to help forward the great enterprise.
The amount was small, for the Cong. Socy of Cambridge is one of the feeble & struggling Societies of Vermont, & this year it is straining every nerve to re-fit its own dilapidated house of worship. We feel a deep interest in your enterprise & it would give us great pleasure to contribute a large sum to its success, but we shall have to adjourn the effort over until another year. -

Maj. Genl
O. D. Howard

Very truly yours
Edwin Wheelock, Pastor

Dear Sir

Enclosed please find $15-(fifteen) of which $10 is from the Congregational Church in this place, and $5 from the Sunday School. There were 101 scholars present at the collection, so that each scholar gave one an average five cents.

Ours is a small and Church in number, and means, but we feel a warm interest in your enterprise and send our mite cheerfully and with sincere prayer for your entire success.

Yrly Yours

Washington City D.C. 103
July 8th 1867.

Major General D. T. Howard Commissioner Bureau R.F. & A.L.

Washington City D.C.

Sir: I have declined your proposed final settlement ^{for myself} with the Bureau, with time of service extended to the 10th inst, for the simple reason that no money account can arrange certain matters unsettled between myself and the Bureau.

During the month of my active service under your orders, I devoted such energy and interest to the work of the Bureau as was in my power—and such as I have rarely given to other work. — and this from the fact that the Service was one which entitled my entire sympathy.

Had I received no pecuniary compensation, I should consider myself amply repaid by the experience, your liberality, however, has more than repaid me for work actually performed, — and if I may be considered a debtor to the Department to the amount of Salary for the month of May, when I performed but little service, I am prepared to give for such acknowledgment.

But what remains is this, that although I received from you an appointment upon the most honorable recommendations, and although I was placed on trial and my work pronounced by yourself satisfactory, I received an order of recall to Washington before the expiration of Twenty days' service, and it is now proposed to suspend my connection with the Bureau without statement of cause!

I had already suffered sufficiently by remaining a month in the Bureau Service, under the ban of your unfavorable impressions, of my integrity, gained from I know not what nameless or nondescript sources - as you never honored me even, at request, with names of charges on parties against me - and that of one whom you yourself professed to believe 'battered with liquor' This reason without the aid of others would have induced me to make a voluntary withdrawal from your service, but this privilege has not been proposed to leave me

I do not now care to reassert what I have repeatedly professed to you - my readiness to refute what ever charges, of dishonorable acts, that might be brought against me - or to explain whatever might possibly seem to anyone to need replanation, in any part of my conduct either before or since my connection with the Bureau. My sensitivity hitherto has arisen wholly from the circumstance that I act for you rather than for myself, and in no degree from a consciousness that I deserved ill opinions from yourself or others. From the first time in my life I was accused of dishonour in your service. I confess the humiliation of having already too much attempted to ~~make~~ ^{were} ~~make~~ ^{make} impressions which ~~were~~ ^{were} made palpable. My only dishonour has been the want of money and the attempt to ~~make~~ and overcome the hard necessities which poverty impose upon a man whatever his integrity or capacity.

I have written to Colonel Forney sternly denying representations made in your presence, that I had stultified myself by making - in private - expressions, condemning him, at variance with those which not four months ago I gave to the public, and received therefor the Col's cordially expressed thanks - though they were unsought -

Col. Retchum of your Office has heard from me a statement of opinion concerning Col. Forney conduct of the Chronicle as showing as that which I might have made elsewhere - even in the Colonel's presence.

As the confidential relations between us have been broken, I much decline to make an additional report of Bussard's inspection; as out of deference to your own opinion that the Bureau needs no further inspection, I refrain from laying before you certain statements of matters borne to me from South Carolina.

Inclosing official papers, in my possession, I hereby tender, most respectfully, to the Bureau my resignation - to take ~~on and after~~ from, and to take place on, the 30th ultimo.

Dear Sir

Your esteemed favor of the 2^d inst is before us and we regret exceedingly that you cannot make a positive engagement to lecture before our association.

We hope however that circumstances will permit of your coming west sometime during the fall or winter and that you will find it convenient at that time to comply with our request.

Should you do so please advise us at least a week before you arrive that we may be enabled to secure you a good audience.

Bvt. Maj. Gen. O. O. Howard U.S.A.

General:

Will you please inform me whether you have need of any more officers in your Bureau, and if so what is necessary in order secure a detail for a friend who is believed to be in every way worthy of such a position?

The officer referred to is Bvt. Maj. Wm. A. Male 1st Lt. 36th U.S. Infantry. When I became acquainted with him he was in the volunteer service but he has since received his present commission and finding the inactivity of Camp life rather unpleasant he desires more active employment. From an intricate acquaintance of more than two years I have found him a strictly temperate and conscientious as well as efficient and energetic officer and I have no doubt he will give perfect satisfaction in any station to which you might assign him.

One other qualification and a most important one, I believe, in your estimation, is uncompromising loyalty.

Should you desire any further information in regard to him I would be pleased furnish it.

Very respectfully

Your obedient servant
