My dear Sir

Your favor of 1st inst is rec'd. I regret that I am not able to write favorably in regard to the matter proposed.

It is with much difficulty by the aid of heavy contributions on the part of Christian gentlemen outside of our Association that we have been able for the last three years to keep clear of financial breakers.

Our Association is doing a good work & flourishing in a certain sense, but the members are young men of limited means & income & it has been with great difficulty that we have been able to make the "ends meet" during the last two years. I regret your embarrassment & hope you will soon obtain the requisite relief.

Dear Brother Howard.

Accept for yourself and your good wife these volumes, as a small token of my high regard and Christian affection for you both.

I deem it a great privilege to have, by God's favor, such an opportunity thus to testify not only my attachment to you, but my sense of your exalted character as a hero in your Country's and the Lord's battles, and an instrument through His grace of so much good to the Church and to the oppressed of our fellow men.

I love to recognize you as a tried servant of our Divine Master, who by His merciful love and kind providence, has come through the fiery flames of the furnace and like precious gold refined & better prepared for His use.

You will not deem these volumes of less interest, that my eyes have rested on their pages and my heart has beat responsive to many a thought, while I have hoped they have helped me on my course heavenward.

I think they will commend themselves to you as a fitting gift from me to you, and as you read the glowing words of Leighton & Newton your own spirit will be kindled anew at the altar of devotion & in a higher life of consecrated energy to them who have loved you and died for you; and now & then you will let mingle therewith, the thought of the humble friend who has been privileged to place them in your hands.

They demand no acknowledgment, as mine is the favor God bestows on me to offer them to you acceptances. May He bless you yours evermore. With highest esteem

Christian affection -

Your friend & brother
in the Lord.

Dear General

I beg leave respectfully to trouble you with the case of Barton. He is very anxious to be liberated from his confinement. His bail is fixed at $200 and he thinks the Association might try to help him on so small an amount. He seems penitent and I have faith to believe that he would do better hereafter. We must lend him a helping hand or he will become hardened and be lost entirely. If his bail was distributed around among the members it would not amount to much. I am unfortunately poor myself with much depending upon me or I would myself become his security alone.

We have several wealthy members who never do any active Christian work in the Association

this would be a good opportunity for them to
of a little practical use - We seldom see or hear them except at national conventions, Sunday school Unions or some public demonstrations when they occupy the stage and do the talking, the young active workers being at such times not worthy of notice. Brother Hoall says we need wealthy ones to give character and respectability to the Association and to fill the offices and he makes much of them to the great disgust of many who openly express their disapprobation of such a course in a religious association and some have left us entirely because of it. These are facts that can't be put aside - Very many good worthy men are asked to lead a prayer meeting or in the last notice and it is being complained of to me very considerably
the too often exhibition of trading to wealthy members it must be stopped!! or we suffer. Why do we need a missionary to do our work. when the Association is in debt
We could at least get a good man for $1,000 and I know that Brother Early gets far less than this and is generally very much less
These wealthy ones ought to go Boston's Bull at once

Dear Brother Howard.

Join with me in joyful thanksgiving to God that He has spared my life, bestowed on me the ~~body~~ ability, by research, study, diligence & care, through many years, to gather so rich a literary treasure in the various branches of learning, and now has given the opportunity to dispose of them, where for years to come, they may aid in the preparation of many for usefulness in the Church and in the varied ~~means~~ scenes of life, to be fitted to act their parts for the good of our Country and Mankind.

And yet more that He permits me the privilege of laying at my Saviour's feet a portion of the proceeds of sale, & a very humble humble minister of the Church, of that precious & glorious Master to whose love I owe all I am or have.

Pray with me that Heaven's blessing may rest on the books, on the bestowed tendered contribution (from what my Lord has lent me) of the $1000
and that I may have grace & wisdom to feel, and use, so as to merit this approval the remaining part added to my Stewardship for His glory.

As you have been so kind and aided me so largely in the arrangements made, be my almshouse in the consecrated gift, and accept my grateful acknowledgements for all your services & kindnesses.

In the appropriation,
you can mention that it is from a member of the Church and one who loves the cause of Christ, who holds $1000

of the Church bonds.

This seems to me to be best. I do not care for the reputation, my Lord knows it, enough, and I would not add one iota to the oblation on one who has so borne the persecution of the enemies of our Lord, or give them ought of occasion to attribute to you any thing in those transactions reflecting on your integrity, as a man and a Christian.

May God make you more & more useful, to bless others and thus be ever blest in all your future life.

Your friend & Christian Brother

Sir:

I regretted I did not meet you as you proposed in the Rooms of the Rep. Cong. Com. at the Capitol on last Saturday evening, and beside the political topic, have a talk farther in behalf of Ky's. bravest most deserving & yet most unfortunate soldiers Gen. S. G. Burbridge.

Again on behalf of & by the unanimous wish of the Ky. Assn. of Washington City allow me to ask in the well known kindness of your noble heart-attention to this worthy man & assist him if possible to bring out more together his scattered and distressed family. If there is an opening in the Freedmans Bureau for him his influence among the idolizing Col^d people of Ky in the approaching Cong. canvass would be incalculable.

Should you see the president for him - ask for the "Surveyor Gen^l ship of Colorado" now filled by a Johnson appointee. It will give the Gen. a chance to go West and begin again. If you will devote your time to this matter promptly - for the case is urgent & full of philanthropy you will have many thanks & I place a check of $200 at your disposal for your expenses in going to see the President or for any charitable use you may make of it if you succeed. Gen^l I am poor but believe me I give it cheerfully.

Will you not let me hear Gen^l & call if you can.

Dear Brother

I was glad to get your prompt answer regarding the Arkansas matter. Maj. Clark's official Report after his visit to Little Rock last Winter showed Page's character in worse light than I did. He never goes near our Freedmen's Schools or shows any interest in their condition morally or physically. I agree with you that we had better get some one for the work who will do for A.O.

I enclose copy of part of a letter from Beabe. He has many times pledged me not to drink out of town.

My dear General:

I wish I could at once respond favorably to your request that I should interest Com. Vanderbilt in your noble work; but I am utterly unacquainted with the man, and I presume he has never even heard my name to notice it; hence I should have no advantage of approach to him.

Yet I intend to do the best I can - so far as I can see the right; and, asking counsel of God, I purpose showing your letter to Com. V's grand-son when next I see him. Possibly something may come of this.

And now does it seem bold in me to request a favor of you? I trust you will not count me obtrusive in doing so.

Recd. to you, the book which I sent to you at Boston -
"The Knightly Soldier" - a sketch of a dearly loved and greatly mourned army comrade. The publishers of that propose a new and revised edition of it, to be presented to the public with words of commendation from a few choice men of prominence - as college presidents, New England governors, or generals best known.

Now, if you can consistently speak in approval of the book, I shall be very glad. You acknowledged its receipt, but did not pass an opinion on it,

you will not hesitate to decline an approval that you cannot make heartily. The book shows a rare specimen

A Record of College, Field, and Prison.

THE KNIGHTLY SOLDIER.

BY CHAPLAIN TRUMBULL.

This attractive volume, having passed rapidly through several editions, is in steadily increasing demand. In its graphic descriptions of Army life, it is deservedly assigned a foremost place among the personal biographies of the war.

Prepared by one who was himself three years a soldier, its value is enhanced by contributions from Rev. Dr. BUSHNELL, Gen. PLAISTED, and other eminent writers; while the vivid picture of the Worcester Regatta given in its pages by Chaplain TWICHELL, is pronounced "worthy to be put beside the race-sketch in 'Tom Brown at Oxford.'" Included in its narrative are descriptive sketches of

- The Original Burnside Expedition.
- The Annapolis Rendezvous.
- Transport Life on the Hatteras Swash.
- The Battles of Roanoke and Newbern.
- Camping, Picketing, and Skirmishing in North Carolina.
- Incidents among the Contrabands.
- Gen. Foster's Turboro' Scout.
- The First Charleston Expedition.
- Life at St. Helena.
- Service on Seabrook Island.
- The Second James Island Battle.
- The Bloody Second Assault on Fort Wagner.
- Prison Life in Charleston and Columbia.
- Escape from Captivity.
- Wanderings in Southern Swamps.
- Recapture.

- Inner Life of Rebelidom.
- Chesterville Jail.
- Petersburg.
- Libby Prison.
- Flag of Truce Boat.
- Camp Parole.
- Campaigning with the Army of the James.
- Battle of Drewry's Bluff.
- Bermuda Hundred and Deep-Bottom Picket Life and Skirmishing.
- Strawberry Plains.
- The August Battles before Richmond.
- Life in the Petersburg Trenches.
- Battle of Newmarket Heights.
- The Fights of Oct. 7 and 13, on the Newmarket and Darbytown Roads.

The following are from among many favorable Notices the book has already received from the public Press:

"The record of a true and loyal soul, a 'knightly soldier' in deed and in truth. He was an idolized officer of one of the most famous and useful regiments in all the volunteer army." — Army and Navy Journal.

"A book which, tremulous in every line with affection and sorrow, is yet eminently readable, and takes its place in the FRONT RANK of the many stories of individual heroism to which the war has given birth." — Boston Advertiser.

"What knight of the days of olden chivalry led a braver, or more nobly romantic life than this gallant young Christian soldier? What novelist could devise a character more interesting, or a career more exciting?" — New-York Evening Post.

"The story is well told, and was well worth the telling." — Philadelphia North American.

"Overflowing with incident and lively description, it presents a vivid and truthful picture of events which will for ever hold world-wide celebrity." — Boston Traveller.

"The record discovers one of the noblest martyrs of the American conflict." — Christian Mirror.

"Among the noble American young men whose blood has moistened the battle-fields of freedom, none have left a more honorable memorial of gallant deeds and a pure and beautiful character than the subject of this biography." — New-York Tribune.

"It is a volume of deep interest. . . . It should be in every household." — Hartford Courant.

"We commend this book to all people who lead little and poor and doubting lives, as an excellent tonic." — The Nation.

"It is a beautiful portraiture of a noble Christian patriot, and we heartily commend it to all, but especially to young men." — Congregationalist.

"Among the personal histories of our brave soldiers we have seen none more deeply interesting." — Bangor Whig and Courier.

"The work is indeed of peculiar value to every American, affording interest and instruction from beginning to end." — Boston Post.

"A biographical sketch of one of the noblest, manliest soldiers that have fallen in the war." — Hartford Post.

"His life and death were alike noble, alike worthy of the friendship that cherished and the beautiful volume that presents them." — Springfield Republican.

"In view of the good this book is destined to do, we cannot doubt that it was right that the heroic character it commemorates should yield up his noble young life as he did, in the forefront of battle, and while leading forward his men to the deadly assault." — Bangor Times.

"Major Camp was a noble Christian young man, whose character is well worthy the study and imitation of the young men of America." — Boston Journal.

"His was indeed a knightly character." — Norfolk-County Journal.

"No knight of the days of old romance ever exhibited more unalloyed the virtues of the chivalric age than did this young New-England Bayard." — Portland Press.

"The book is one of the most striking which the war has produced." — Journal of Commerce.

"As fascinating as a work of romance." — Sunday-School Times.

"In every way worthy of the popularity it has already obtained." — Boston Transcript.

"Take it for all in all, and we speak both as a soldier and a critic, it is the most elegant and interesting biographical record which this war has yet produced." — Evening Voice.

"It is a book of rare interest, and will be rarely enjoyed by thousands in admiration and sympathy." — New Yorker.

"In our opinion . . . the most interesting biography of the war." — Hartford Evening Press.

"The book is a gem." — Rochester Courier.
