I enclose a memo of the

knowing what your cousin

GENERAL CANBY.

Meeting at the United States Court-Room To-day—Resolutions of Respect and Condolence.

According to announcement, quite a number of citizens met in the United States court-room, custom-house, a little after noon to-day, to give expression to their views concerning the recent tragic death of Brigadier-General E. R. S. Canby, of the United States army.

Captain Thos. P. Jackson called the meeting to order, and on his motion Dr. C. S. Mills was called to the chair, and Rev. R. M. Manly appointed secretary. Dr. Mills, on taking the chair, explained the object of the meeting, and said it gave him pleasure to preside on the occasion.

On motion of Captain Jackson the chair was requested to appoint a committee of three to prepare resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. Major Alfred Morton, Rev. A. R. Miller, and Captain C. W. Burr were appointed by the chair, and retired to perform the duty assigned them.

During the absence of the committee, Dr. E. H. Smith rose and paid a feeling tribute to the memory of General Canby, and soon after the conclusion of his remarks Major Morton, on behalf of the committee, presented the following report and moved its adoption, supplementing it with an eloquent eulogy upon the high Christian character and soldierly bearing of General Canby:

Whereas, We have heard with deep sorrow that Brigadier-General E. R. S. Canby has been stricken down while in the discharge of duty, on a peaceful mission, seeking at once to secure protection to our fellow citizens of the Pacific slope, and to obviate the necessity, if possible, of administering deserved chastisement upon the treacherous savages, in which many innocent persons would suffer with the guilty; and

Whereas, General Canby, while entrusted with both civil and military control in this state, endeared himself to all good and true men, by the ability, courtesy and wisdom with which he administered affairs so difficult and delicate, maintaining fully the rights of the government without abridging any man's private right, affording protection to the weak and friendless, and, by patience and generosity, winning the respect of those who were inclined to be unfriendly; and

Whereas, General Canby went from this post of duty to that which he held at the time of his death, it is fitting that we who knew him so recently and so well, should give some public expression of our regard for him and of our sense of the public loss; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of brigadier General E. R. S. Canby the country has lost one of its ablest and most patriotic defenders, whose public service of more than thirty years was always as self-forgetting as it was successful; society has lost the priceless example of a Christian citizen whose singular dignity, gentleness, purity and benevolence were a perpetual reproof of everything that was wrong and an inspiration to everything that is good; and we have lost a friend whom we loved, whose fidelity could always be trusted, and whose counsels it was always safe to follow.

Resolved, That although words can but poorly express the sympathy we feel for the bereaved widow, we hereby tender to her our sincere condolence in her irreparable loss, and the assurance that she has our fervent prayers that the widow's God may bestow upon her that heaven-sent comfort which He alone can give.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, signed by the president and secretary of this meeting, on its behalf, be transmitted to the secretary of war, with our respectful request that he will forward the same to the widow of the deceased.

On motion, the papers of this city, and of Washington city, are requested to publish these resolutions.

Before the vote on the adoption of the report was put, Rush Burgess, esq., Rev. Mr. Miller, Major W. F. Worthington, and Captain Thomas P. Jackson paid handsome and eloquent tributes to the memory of General Canby. The preamble and resolutions were then unanimously adopted.

Captain Jackson presented the following resolution, which was also unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That we commend and heartily indorse the instructions of President Grant, issued through the War Department, directing General Canby's successor in command to visit this culminating crime of savage warfare upon peaceful citizens, with swift and complete punishment.

On motion the meeting then adjourned.

GEN. O. O. HOWARD.

A Washington letter and an editorial article thereupon, which appeared recently in the ENQUIRER, reflecting upon the management of the Freedmen's Savings Bank at Washington, was calculated to convey the impression that General O. O. Howard controlled or was connected with that institution. This, we understand, is not the case. He does not and never did exercise any authority over or hold any position in the bank. We are gratified to be able to correct an impression which, we fear, was rather damaging to the reputation of that institution. In this connection, we give the subjoined letter from General Howard to a political and personal friend in this city, asking this explanation :

WASHINGTON CITY, March 14, 1873. }

R. M. Manley, Esq., Richmond, Va.: Dear Sir—I hear (but have not seen) that there are articles in the Richmond papers reflecting on the Freedmen's Bank from its connection with me. Could you not explain to the editors that the bank is in no way, shape, or manner connected with so bad an individual as they believe me to be.

Yours, truly,

O. O. HOWARD.

The following letter was addressed Auditor Wm. F. Taylor a few days ago by Sheriff Wright, of this city, asking advice as to certain matters referred to the circular of the Auditor issued on 20th inst., upon the subject of receipt of coupons for taxes:

General O. O. Howard

My dear Sir:

From the enclosed slip you will see how ungraciously and meanly a rebel will retract a false step. On the rest of your letter I showed it to the editor and had a conversation with him. He said to me frankly "I have no doubt General Howard is a very good man, but you know it is the fashion to say bad things of him." I assured him that he was right in thinking you were a good man, ^{and} you deserved, at least fair treatment, if not honorable mention, from his side of the house. He promised to correct the error, and he has done it!

The press here speak of Gen. Canby in a way which makes me compare ^{the editors} ~~them~~ with "Capt Jack", with little to choose between the two, except that the wild savage exposes himself to perils which the tame ones do not. I enclose preamble and resolutions which I wrote for a public meeting here.

As ever your friend

General;

Referring to your communication of the 20th March relative to the cases of Mike Oliver, late Co. E. 13th U. S. C. T. James Ponder, Co. E. 15th U. S. C. T. and James Robbins, Co. D. 10th U. S. C. T. I have the honor to inform you that the same has been submitted to the Acting Secretary of War, who has decided, that the War Department cannot undertake to correspond with the agents of the late Bureau but looks to you to settle and arrange all the business of the Bureau up to the time it was turned over to the Adjutant General and to present any business left unfinished and now requiring settlement, in such form that it can be properly arranged; therefore your recommendation, that Genl. Falloch, late Chief Disbursing Officer be called upon direct to pay over such money in those cases for which he is liable, is not approved.

In the case of Robbins, the Acting Secretary of War is of the opinion, after a careful consideration of the facts as reported by you, that you are individually liable for the amount as you have never accounted for the same as required by law. The fact that this identical money was by you turned over to Major Brown does not relieve you, as the amount went towards making up your balance due the U. S. as shown by your accounts.

As communication from this office of February 5. 1873, has developed the fact that there are other cases similar to the ones mentioned in said communication, the Acting Secretary of War directs that you furnish this office with a list of all cases in which checks were issued in payment of receipted vouchers and the proceeds thereof not paid to the claimants or transferred to this office or otherwise accounted for as directed by law, and to take immediate steps to pay over or cause to be paid to Captain James Mc Millan, Chief Disbursing Officer, Freedmen's Branch, A. G. O. the amount necessary to settle with said claimants.

I return herewith as requested the paper belonging to Major Brown, enclosure No 4 to 1855. A. G. O. 1873.

My dear Sir,
I have delayed so long answering your last kind letter because I could not carry out at once your request. I have at last been able to do so.
I have just posted the works of "Howard the Philanthropist" to you.
I have hunted during the second hand book stall made every evening of bookellers ^{in vain} I even searched the British Museum Library to find out a copy of the work you wanted.
The Editor of the "Sunday at Home" thought he could find a copy in the Depot of the Fruit Society, but although

I think he would do anything to oblige me, he could not disorder or mismanage the book you wanted. Another life I should have sold easily to but not the books of it.
At last I advertised & the old copy I have forwarded is the result. Hope it will please you. Retain it will be valuable I am sure to
you. - Thank it is what you wanted. Just send me and I will try again.

Glad to hear how you are getting on at the Ministry also to read the very interesting account of what you have been doing among the Sudans.
Have been delighted too lately to read P. Smith's Weekly Memoirs. I believe America has a great future of which we should prevent only a faint suggestion.

We see by history I am still at L. S. Wood.
I think it is very likely I shall settle down in the Methodist, the most comfortable part in America.

I have had one invitation to a new church there but declined it for me in the summer, but another church in the town of about 3000, wants me I think. I supply there two times a week. I shall know soon. Give my best regards to your family & my sister. I find a mistake almost in a name part of England, I have to let a part. I am not in a hurry as my

My Dear Sir,

I was on your track several times during your recent visit New and desired very much to see you again but could not succeed. One day I heard of you with Dr Taylor, another day with Mr Dodge, so that with my own frequent engagements it seemed impossible to find an hour in which to see you. I have wanted very much to thank you for your kindness to Genl. Armstrong, and the honor to myself, in coming as you did to my house. The meeting I am sure was pleasant to our friends and useful to Armstrong. I trust also that it was at least a comfort to you to take by the hand the gentlemen then present all of whom are your friends and supporters against the unfriendly and wicked expressions that malicious opposition sometimes finds opportunity to print regarding your work and ground as it representative.

My friend E M Doughton, 20 Beekman St New York

Dear Sir:

Your letter has been received and its contents noted.

I am not a little surprised at being accused of having charged you with unfaithfulness. I am sure I expressed my gratitude for your very great kindness to Douglas, and I am very sorry to have you think me otherwise. I am grateful to you.

I did express no small degree of displeasure at the appeal which was made to the Creek Delegation in Douglas's behalf, and I have many very good reasons for feeling not only very much displeased on account of that appeal but also very much hurt and annoyed.

But I shall not attempt to give them.
I will acknowledge that I made a very great mistake in not instructing Douglass before I left Washington to leave the school as soon as the time for which I had paid his expenses expired and seek some place of employment until I was able to send to him a sufficient amount of money to cover his expenses while in school. This was the first mistake and the next one was the neglecting to write to him and so instructing him after I came here and waited so long for money to come, but I thought every week it surely will be here next week and so the weeks have glided by and it has not come yet. There is no uncertainty about it I know it must come in the near future. I am sure you

If I could borrow money here or elsewhere to cover his debts I would gladly do so. but that is impossible. I think Douglas had better find some employment even if he cannot earn any more than his board and clothes and leave school.

I have also told him that I think he had better do this and I feel certain that by the end of the term I shall be able to send money enough to pay up all his debts; but I do not want him to stay there and run in debt any longer. I am still daily expecting an amount which will cover all his debts.

I exceedingly regret that matters have turned out as they have. but I am certain that I have done my best to avoid the difficulties.

I would have accepted it as a much greater kindness if you had assisted Douglas in getting into employment. ^{rather} I should have appealed to Pleasant Porter or the Creek Delegation.

But I hope you will understand that I do not wish to reproach you for doing what you thought best to do or that you will consider me ungrateful for your kindness to him though it has resulted in much ampleness to me.

I would be glad if Douglas could find employment in some good place during the summer vacation and at its close if no more misfortunes upset my plans he will leave Washington. In removing him to another school I do not wish you to feel that I cherish any hard feelings towards you or any of the officers of the University but I think it best for him to leave. I shall always feel grateful for your kindness to him for I acknowledge that my remissness in duty to him have cost him great trouble if not more.
