Sir:

I have just returned from a two days visit on the Simcoe Reservation. I could not trace any of those rumors to any reliable source; namely: the Panmook or Pak-utee stealing horses or deserting secretly.

I met Hoyte, who was very glad to see me, with about 25 or 30 of his men. He began to tell me of his grievances and troubles, which is needless to repeat because it is the same old story. Not enough to

Genl. O. O. Howard

Wfa Washington D. C.

General:

Captains Thomas P Page of Walla Walla W. S. and George Hunter of Columbia County W. S. both of whom commanded Companies of volunteers under yourself, in the campaign against the Wy-Pee-ee Indians, have requested me to address you, and respectfully request you to cooperate as far as in your power with the Hon-Mr H. M. DeLoach Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory, and assist him in obtaining remuneration and reimbursement for money expended in said campaign by themselves and the men commanded by them. Both of these gentlemen are entirely engaged in their private affairs and have no time to attend to this business. Still they feel that they and their men are justly entitled to remuneration for some services & losses of men and ^{by} from their confidence, in yourself - Knowing as you do of the circumstances - hope that the matter may be so clearly laid before the proper Congressional Committee that a bill for their relief will be passed by Congress.

Captain Hunter requests me to say, that all papers bearing on the subject, so far as his company is concerned, are in Mr. Brent's hands.

He also requests me to invite your attention to the matter of the Palouse Indians acquiring homesteads under the land laws, and says that there are about two hundred who would settle down on claims and go honestly to work for a livelihood could they acquire the land without paying the required fee.

I am aware General of the liberty taken in requesting you to give you valuable time to matters entirely outside of your profession, but believe you will forgive the freedom taken, on account of the right of the cause - The Indians (Palouse) have never been treated with justice
They are peaceful and industrious - Captain Hunter knows nearly every individual among them and they look up to him for advice and protection Should you consider it necessary to make any communication in reply to this it will be received and attended to by

Very respectfully

Dear Gen.

I should have said all the following to you yesterday - & am sorry I forgot it.

We are trying to pay off all our Church debt (about $21,000) before Apr 1st have now some $6,000 pledged - hence if the Washburn folks will give $500 - it will be a considerable help. It must also be borne in mind that as the political sky is very cloudy just now there seems to be a pressing need that our debt should be taken care of before the Fall election Now my Pat. is worth a very considerable sum to the Mfg W. & Co - and I hope they can be induced to come to the terms I named to you viz $1,000 for Pat & of this $500- to be given our church

Sincerely

Genl. O.O. Howard.

Audon - Mass.

My dear General, I regret that I cannot meet you over this map, let me ask you to tell me two or three things. The troops are laid down from the reports themselves on a copy of Michler's map. The red lines are Rebel troops, the purple Union. The position of the 11th Corps is set down from your own, Devens', Schurz's, Steinwehr's reports, & from conversations with Devens & Schurz, & the testimony before the Committee on the Conduct of the War.

Now I want to ask you some questions, if you can find leisure to answer them.

1^o I assume that the position of the 11th Corps was settled between you & Hooker on the morning of May 2. when he rode down the line about 6.30 A.M. Was not this in anticipation solely of an attack from the South?

2^o. By noon, the evidence of Jackson's movement became clear, & it was assumed that it might be ^{for} an attack on our right. Would not the Corps have been better placed if ^{these} ~~the~~ ^{themselves} were massed across the roads, ready to deploy, with food reserves at Brinkley's line, & a small but strong front at Durdall, toward the South?

Hooker's attention having been called to this, whose duty was it properly to make such a change, if desirable?

3^o. By 5 P.M. it became all but certain that Jackson had massed on our right. Would not then the front have been changed to West, for the Irish guns had nearly three divisions art at the Furnace? Hooker being cognizant of all the facts,

+ reflecting to make such new disposition, was it, or was it not, within the scope of your right or duty as Corps Commander to make such a change of front yourself?

4°. The ground at Dordalci + north ^{of it} is high, with an open ground excellent for artillery to sweep, + overlooks the ground west.
Do you think the Corps should have stayed when posted in the morning, under such changed circumstances, + with such ground in its rear, ready to be occupied, if desired?

5°. Should the fact that as a Corps, the 11th was almost ~~unacquainted~~ unacquainted with fighting, have weighed in proposing such a change of front?

6°. Do you think any but the very best troops could have charged first & made a successful fight under the attack of Jackson's 22,000 men, from the position occupied?

7°. From your knowledge of the 11th Corps would it not have made a fair resistance if properly posted to receive the attack?

8°. All this assumes that you knew that Jackson was about to attack your right flank, or if at least feared he might. If I am wrong as to this, please set me right.

2 Now, my dear General, if I am wrong in any of my assumptions, say so.
I am right in my topography & positions of troops. I know what did occur, & what people ^{then} said they then believed ~~it~~ would occur. And I have several notes in my journal stating my then belief that Jackson was going to attack on right.
Still I want to know what you at the time believed -

Very sincerely yours,
Geo. A. Dodge
