Rev. D. D. Howard:

Dear Brother,

This will introduce to you, Rev. Chaplain Merrill, who reports for duty to you-self. I wish I were in his shoes!
I think he is a brother to be loved, & trusted, & that he will help you.
And I know that it is his delight that he reports to you, & no one else.

In great haste, & with great love,
Your Brother, J. E. Parker.

with my sisters.

Will you also give my love to your Bessie? It was a part of Millie's lie's & my fun, that when Lizzie felt well & as we said, wished to be very much dressed, she would put on your ring - I shall always be glad of the pleasant friendship that came to us, from Millie meeting you. Your letters were always a source of great pleasure to Lizzie & she valued them highly - knowing as she did how full your was filled - You will be glad to know, if Millie herself has not told you, that she & Dr. Thompson are to join the church on profession of faith next Sunday - I hope you will know Dr. T. - & I am quite sure when you know him, you will like him - You can imagine how glad I am that Mr. choice is made, & that I am quite satisfied. Don't think I could have chosen better! (Egotistical?) Not in the least a so-called society man, but thoroughly good & to my mind the best thinker I know in Cal. - I mean among the young men.
With kind regards to yourself & Mrs. Howard

My dear Genl Howard

I have delayed writing you day to day, for the reason my time seems more than ever occupied. But the promise I made to our dear Lizzie has been by no means forgotten.

The day before the
dear child left us, she turned & said, Mama.
Do you think Genl Howard would let his little daughter Lizzie, wear the ring he gave me? I told her, I thought so, & then she said, "Will you send it with my love?" And I should have done so before. But the busy days fly before me, & I do not accomplish the half I would like.

Millie has not been well at all since July - For a week or two, she seemed to me unusually well, & I found myself leaning on her & her quiet strength. But ~~rather~~ after a little she lost ground perceptibly & I have felt quite troubled for her, until this last week. Now she is on the upward way, & in every way, is better. You can think we seem a very small family with only Millie. If it was not that Mr. B's niece is with us, I do not know just what we would do. I have just a faint hope that Millie & I will make an Eastern visit this coming Spring; if we do I shall hope no military duties will call you from Omaha, the day we are due there. I think I am learning not to make plans. At least not to make them so as to be disappointed if they fall through - But I confess to a good deal of pleasure in imaginary visits

Thanks for your congratulations. Maine certainly is redeemed, and I trust will give us no further trouble for many years. I have to-day written the President as you desire and I hope I may have influence with him and be able to congratulate you in a short time

My dear Mother:

Your postal stating you are Omaha is received. I am pleased to know you are so much nearer us though we may not see you very frequently. I am however indulging a hope that we may meet now more frequently than in the past and that our families will be able to become acquainted. Ellie hardly knows any of her cousins except Charles Childrey. I am in great hopes that Marnie's health will now be such that she can entertain more friends than she formerly could. She has improved greatly this season in the Mountains. She has gained 15 pounds of flesh and improved in other respects greatly. She rode 17 to 18 miles on horseback one day last week & felt none the worse for wear. She will probably return to Denver today or tomorrow.

Ellie is in school near home. She seems to enjoy the school, as she has a new teacher who takes much interest in her and encourages her ambition.

I had a letter from Nithi yesterday. She writes that Charles is improving and that they are very much encouraged in regard to him.

Our weather continues dry and warm.
We have had but two or three rainy days here since you were with us. It is cold however where Charlie has been in the Mountains, hence his desire to return.

Business has been dull all summer and my means have been limited which has kept me badly pinched for money.
But we hope that things will now improve. In fact matters are improving to a considerable extent.

Will you not be in this vicinity again soon. We hope to see you ere long.

If at any time in pleasant season of the year you can take a tour of your department away from the Railroads, I would like to accompany you, if it would be pleasant for you and if found I could leave my affairs.

Remember me with much love to Lizzy and the Children
