Dear Sir:

Your attention is called to Article First of the By-Laws, viz:

All persons applying previous to, on, or after the annual meeting in eighteen hundred and seventy (1870), for enrollment, shall pay a membership fee of ten dollars ($10); that the annual dues shall continue to be one dollar ($1); and persons applying for membership shall pay back dues; that all fees and dues are payable to the Recording Secretary, and all money received by him on account of the Society shall be transferred to the Treasurer, and that all money received as fees shall by the Treasurer be added to the Permanent Fund."

And also to a resolution passed by the Society at the annual meeting at Springfield, Illinois, in October, 1874, viz:

I say as little as is necessary. I wish very much that I had gone to London with you and sailed on the 4th from Liverpool; but I need not regret it - if I get home safely. Mother goes to Paris tonight; we are all going our separate ways and feel that the days at Elberfeld are really ended.
He sends very kind regards to you. I will deliver your messages to the Zehhardt, and now, when we meet again, may it be in Brooklyn & with George at my side. Sincerely as ever,

~~Dear~~ Friend. Thursday has come and I am not able to send the promised chapters or the package for George. Mr. Zehhardt arrived at noon that an express package could not possibly reach you in time for the steamer Saturday. I do not care to have my manuscript lost and so I reluctantly

I can afford to say much about it - at home. On the 18th I will begin the journey home and I hope for a safe and quick voyage. I long to be there with the boys again. Cool J. and Mr. Feistley have gone to London and Madame and myself go with - Mr. & Mrs. Simmette on Monday. I wish you had met the Simmetts. Leave a note for me if ^{do not} you go on to Omaha, and I will telegraph you as soon as I arrive. There are so many chances against you now. I will take the book home with me and send you proofs; that is the best I can do. If I could get rid of my ticket - I would gladly go home with you but that cannot be, and a part of my baggage is in London. I will write to Georgie this afternoon so that he will not be disappointed at not receiving a remembrance from his mother. Say as little as you must regarding my Theosophical tendencies. I must learn a great deal more

Received the telegram and note from your son; many thanks for both. Best wishes for a speedy and safe voyage. Enclosed

Dear General Howard,

I was sorry that Birmingham in general & I myself as its humble representative were able to give so little of due honour & entertainment to the distinguished man who with such true kindness paid us the pleasant flying visit of Yesterday & the day before. I am sure that the young men of the Christian Association however are the better for that visit & that we of this household are also.

Neither they nor we will soon forget the kindness & true Christian simplicity which prompted you, setting aside worldly thoughts & ways, to travel some hundreds of miles at personal inconvenience to redeem your promise to Mr Whitwell in Berlin & spend an evening in a hot & crowded room in Birmingham to gain recruits here for the saviour & to strengthen the hands of young men desiring to serve & follow Him.

We have thought me much pleasure to be made use of.

My wife writes in kind remembrances & remains,

Yours most faithfully
Howard Lloyd

whom you spoke as still remaining in Europe, I think at Göttingen, the appearance of a wellcome here for his father's sake if he comes to England.

If he can put up with our very quiet & homely ways of household we should be much pleased to receive him & to enable him as far as we could, to see Birmingham & the neighbourhood thoroughly.

I hope very shortly to obtain your book "My per-joseph" & to watch for other products of your pen. It seems a pity that my bookseller cannot get them in England.

I also hope to read the book you gave me the title of written by the U.S. Minister at Constantinople inquiries or negotiating with a London publisher in reference to anything written by you which you may think of giving to British readers I can be of any

I have the notes ready to go on with the report when you get to Omaha. I found no letters from home but received a telegram from Mr. Woodworth from Detroit. I hope you will have had as pleasant a voyage as we have just finished. Jennie sends love

Dear Father: Jennie & I arrived safely last Sunday morning in the City of Chicago, having had an the whole a very pleasant voyage.
We came direct to Dr. Nichols, Boulevard & 117th Street, & expected to wait to receive you, however I learned at the Agents of the Red Star Co. that your ship was not expected until Saturday or Sunday & I don't think we ought to stay here that long. Mr. C.C. Woodworth & family have gone to Albany to spend the winter renting their Brooklyn house. He is in town partly each week however at his office in the Tribune Building.

I called on Mr. Fleyer & saw his private Secretary, he himself having gone to Cleveland to a funeral. I will go to see him again this afternoon, to explain personally my respect of his letter. Passes for Jamie were awaiting him there. Ohio has gone strongly Republican & there seems to be no doubt of Mr. Blaines election. Mr.
Storrs of Brooklyn has spoken very well in his favor. Jamie and I will go on ~~Thursday~~ to Albany. Friday to Syracuse.

We will remain there ~~and~~ Sunday & start for home, taking her Aunt Jean ^{with us,} Monday morning. I enclose the copy of the telegram upon which I joined you in France. Though that gives no mileage, still I think Karl Dorn will arrange it so that I can be ordered by you for the journeys made by you while on duty in France & possibly for the return home or possibly east & west for the journeys that you draw mileage for within the U.S.
