United States Senate,

Washington, D.C., March 9, 1886

Brig. Gen. C. C. Howard,

My dear sir:

Some years ago, notwithstanding, I spoke to the President concerning you. The appointment was made, without my knowledge, just before your formal letter of March 1st reached me. This appointment has always been a mystery to me, and this does not clear it up in any degree.

If there is anything further that I can do, be assured I would feel it a great pleasure to aid you.

Yours very truly,

My dear

I enclose you a slip from a Boston paper (Herald) about five miles. It makes me mad to see that you go no credit for his advancement. My memory is generally good, but it is eight miles as much in the winter. 1861-62 was a hard year on your staff when you were at Camp California just outside of Alexandria on the Great Salt Lake. Little army turnpike, and that you recommended him for promotion. I remember also that his father is a musician (a violin) visited your camp and became acquainted with Miller then, and was given a good deal of music since when he practiced.

Dear General,

Your letter from Col. Beck has arrived. I think I had better be assigned to command of Fort Robinson now but cannot move a little later. I do so much work to finish the houses here, the road must be laid by May 15th to Robinson and we can ride right up. If I can go later by all means make it so. But in any event General it will not be well, while to assign another field officer to Robinson. When one must be there let it be one.
Do you know anything about Halcy going on leave? It is to be expected here. I have written to him to know if he will be with the regiment this summer. In a letter to me last fall he said, "I am the next year I expect to go on leave." In a letter to me he said twice, "Tell Mrs. B. I shall not dis Un. her in her house at Fort Nubama." Since then, he asked, "How do you know that the headquarters will come to Nubamba? I do not have any information to that effect. Would it not be well to know what Halcy is going to do before I leave here as I might have to come back if he were to go on leave?" The official reply to Musk coz so forward tomorrow. I want to say this much to you: I want your advice and I consider you ready and willing for anything. Goodbye. Yours truly, S. H. K. [Signature]

Dear General:

In answer to your letter of March 5th, I have the honor to inform you that the plans for the new building are now under consideration by the Board of Education. The committees are working diligently to complete the project as soon as possible.

I am glad to hear that the school is progressing well and that the students are benefiting from the new facilities. I will keep you informed of any developments.

Very truly yours,

My dear General,

It is safe to say we can do it on the first round, but I think we will not all right on the next. After all it does not matter much whether it is long from Kansas to a case on you from Pope's secession except as the event of the death of Sheridan and Schofield when the command of the Army would devolve upon the senior Major General who now would be the Army after the two officers named above but General Sheridan himself retires in 1891 less than eight years and it is not at all likely both Sheridan and Schofield will die in that time. But of course it might happen.
I think however there is nothing in it but we don't like to see you did appoint. She believes you didn't and therefore entitled. The President however I suppose was convinced or he would not have appointed Jemmy. It is not long to wait only a week from next Thursday and then you will see you justly entitled double stars. That you did not get a elevation a week ago has not caused the President in the estimating your friends but I am sure he will make haste to promote you to Pipers place and one must have to stand the other part. I think you were an inch too modest. You should have fought both and toe nails for Hancocks place. Suppose you for Hancocks had not died and you been promoted. As you see what a mistake it would have been then. I knew Jemmy was looking both and got beat

The financial question promises to be the principal feature of the tariff in the House. The President has been taking a very active part in the discussions, and it is not unlikely that he will attempt to force the issue of the tariff to a test of the strength and principles of the party. He is understood to be anxious to get the question settled in the House of Representatives, and to have it referred to the Senate for a final decision. The President is said to be satisfied with the present form of the bill, and it is expected that he will take a leading part in the discussions. The bill provides for the increase of the duties on a large number of articles, and it is anticipated that the House will support the President in his efforts to get the bill passed.

Gen.-O-O Howard.

Dear Sir:

After twenty-two years, I write to you. I am the sister of Jennie Wade, who was killed during the battle of Gettysburg whilst marching with the Union soldiers. Perhaps you may remember the circumstances. I remember your kindness in placing a guard at my house at the time my sister was killed, also the kindness of a great many officers and soldiers who spoke words of comfort to myself and aged mother. It never occurred to me to ask at that time the name of any who was kind. At this late date I am anxious to know the name and address of your staff officers. who was with you at Gettysburg, I removed to Dennis Town in 1864, and have lived here since that time. My son who was seven days old on that memorable 3rd of July is now a man. I have been engaged in the temperance work in Peace for seven years, and this year I have been assigned the temperance work among soldiers and sailors. The soldier will always have a warm place in my heart. The story of the Battle of Gettysburg has been an inspiration to my tongue and pen in the twenty-two years of its history. If written Gettysburg last kept it is a dear spot to me, my mother still lives there. It will soon be the City of Monuments.

Hoping you will pardon the liberty I have taken in addressing you. I remain yours respectfully,

George Alexander.

Dear Mr. Horner,

I have your letter of the 6th instant and fully understand the situation you are in. Your letter has been received, and I have the pleasure of sending you the enclosed letter from the President of the United States, fully testifying to your pains and perseverance at almost every step of your decision in our joint efforts together at Chalmers. I am at a loss to know what to say upon the subject of your request you can do perfect duty to live there. Dear Gen.

I send you a part of last Saturday's Nâi. In it you will find a very interesting, sensible and I think beautiful statement of the case about the prospects in the Maj. Generalship.

The Nâi, you know, is usually grand authority in its average of the news.

I always save all your letters— but I thought a fresh autograph was more valuable for my cousin's friend than one of my letters. Sincerely,

L. Deane

Dear N.:

I am very much mortified at being unable to write even to you this week.

But I have been entirely occupied in the preparation of the three articles that are to appear in the next number of the 'North American Review.'

I hope that you have been equally successful in your work and that we shall be able to exchange notes of progress when we meet at the Board's.

I am much gratified by the success of the 'Confessions' and the next two instalments are to be sent to the printer this week.

I am yours truly,
