My dear General:

I have just heard indirectly that charges against Mr Austin - the present Register of the Land Office - have been sent forward or are to be sent as soon as possible. This if true is a total surprise to me as I expected that he would be unprotected until the end of the year. I must, however, take advantage of this rumor and hasten on whatever endorsements I can procure in addition to those I have already sent. - The charges are that Mr Austin directs all the legal business of applicants for land into the hands of Mr W.B. Daniels who occupies the rear room of the Land Office and of course is very handy. Daniels is actually hated by all republicans in the Territory as having betrayed it in the election two years ago. He has gone over entirely to the Democratic party. His brother's paper the "Register" (Clarke C.) gets all the Land office publications of notices, and his own legal business has been very much benefited.

There may be other charges that I know nothing of. I have kept from talking about these charges with any one. It does not seem to me to be strictly honorable tho' it may be all right in politics.

If you have not yet sent my papers or please do so at once unless you have some private assurance in regard to the business considered.

I have many other letters to write so will close for the present.

My dear General:-

I beg to hand you herewith a copy of a letter I have just written to Mr. Flower, the Member of Congress representing the District in which young Fisher resides.

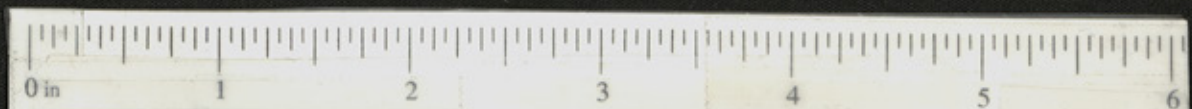

Fisher is an earnest, manly, christian fellow and is just the kind of material we ought to select if possible for the Military Academy.

Can you suggest any way of securing an appointment at West Point other than the one I have followed?

Any suggestion you may give me will be highly appreciated by,

My dear Sir:-

A young man by the name of Samuel Banner Fisher, residing at No. 1179 Third Avenue, in your District, is very anxious to enter West Point.

This young man was born in Iowa, was educated in the common schools there and came to New York about two years ago and is now a junior clerk in the dry goods house of McCreery & Co. on Broadway. He is a little past eighteen, is thoroughly intelligent, active and bright and is in my judgment in every way well qualified to receive the greatest possible advantages from the education and drill at West Point. I have received your letter of the 24 inst, this morning.

The position for which you urge Mr. Anderson was filled last summer by the appointment by the President of Gen Rush C. Hawkins. He is not an artist, but a connoisseur, and I find in many respects that it was wise to not appoint an artist, strange as it may seem. The personnel of the Art Department will to a great extent under the control of Gen Hawkins, who sails for Europe on the 9 prox.

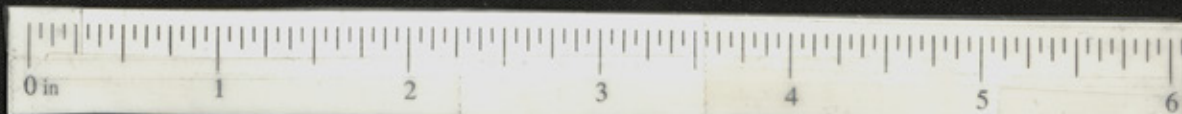

I am glad to have heard from you and to see by the reports of your dinner dissipations that you are well.

From all that I can learn,
I am led to believe, that, in case there should be an extra session of Congress, the Smoot such action being had - there will be a vacancy in the grade of Brigadier General.

TWENTIETH

ANNUAL STATE CONVENTION

* OF THE *

Young Men's Christian Ass'ns

OF NEW JERSEY,

Bridgeton, N. J., March 14th—17th, 1889.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,
YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION
OF NEW JERSEY,
NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 15th, 1889.

DEAR BRETHREN OF THE ASSOCIATIONS:—The twentieth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of our State will be held at Bridgeton, March 14–17, 1889.

It is difficult to estimate the benefit which the enlarged and prosperous work in our State has received from the last two State Conventions. We look for like results from the one to be held at Bridgeton. This is the first time the Convention has been located in Southern New Jersey.

The Bridgeton Association is the oldest in the State, and is the only one organized before 1860 that has continuously prosecuted its work.

Several vigorous Associations have been organized in that section during the past two years, and other places are arranging to do so. The influence of a good State Convention will be immediate and lasting. We ask the brethren of Associations at a distance to make some slight sacrifice in time and money in the interest of the young men in this part of our State, believing that results will follow that will fully justify it.

We call your attention to the accompanying programme, as promising much that will be inspiring and helpful.

REPRESENTATION

There is no limit to the number of delegates you may send. Be fully represented. Send your best men. See that you have credentials signed by your Secretary.

ENTERTAINMENT.

All such will be freely entertained in the homes of Bridgeton.

CORRESPONDING MEMBERS.

Young men from educational institutions and evangelical churches and pastors of the same where there are no Associations, will be welcomed as corresponding members and freely entertained. Pastors need no credentials, others should present them signed by pastors.

SEND NAMES.

All who expect to come should send their names, the organization they represent and time of arrival to W. R. Southwell, General Secretary, Bridgeton, N. J., before March 8th. This will trouble you little, it will help them much.

REDUCED RATES.

The Pennsylvania and West Jersey railroads give special rates. Orders for the same will be furnished on application to Edward P. Holden, Madison, N. J.

REPORTS.

Each Secretary should have ready a written three-minute report of the past year (only three minutes can be given) on Friday, 9:45 A. M. Send it if you cannot be there to read it.

COLLEGE DELEGATES.

As there is to be no State College Conference this year, and as a fair proportion of the time is assigned to college work, we look for full delegations of students, and we ask them to be present throughout.

RAILROAD DELEGATES.

As we have substantial assurance of the speedy extension of our work among railroad men, we most cordially invite them to meet with us.

FINANCES.

The expenses of our State work the past year were about $2,400. We should have $3,000 this year to meet the demands of the work. Let each Association see that its delegation is instructed what amount to subscribe and at what time it will be paid.

PRAYER.

Each Association is requested to observe Sabbath, March 10th, as a day of prayer for the manifestation of the presence and power of the Holy Spirit at this convention.

If I am not asking too much I would be glad to be furnished with a copy of the Project for summer maneuvers in your Infantry Division. I see you have a Board organized at your orders to prepare plans for field operations. I take much interest in this matter, and planned and carried out a very successful campaign in this Dept last summer. I hope to be employed in this work this summer and would be glad to profit by you

Dear Sir.

There has been some talk among our people here of the advisability of the Government, moving the Apache Indians from their Reservations in Arizona, to the Islands in the vicinity of Santa Barbara. - I enclose you a Circular which was printed several years ago in relation to the matter, & sent to our Members at Congress. - Our people think that it would be a desirable thing on the part of the Government - & also that it will be a personal benefit to the people of Santa Barbara, as expressed in a newspaper article recently published a copy of which I sent you. - The Santa Barbara Islands are the Santa Cruz Ind 40,000^{acres}. Santa Rosa 50,000^{acres}. San Miguel 10,000^{acres}. - Are you willing to give the matter some thought & write me. - As to the advantages or disadvantages to this town, if the Indians were placed there. - And whether the measure will be a practical one on the part of the Government to undertake. - In answering, please state whether I am to consider your letter confidential, or whether it

THE EARTH ROLLED IN WAVES.

The McAuliffe-Myers Fight Results in a Draw after Sixty-Four Rounds
—Two Millions of Dollars Lost—General News.

PANAMA, Feb. 13.—Details of the recent earthquakes in Costa Rica, as published in Costa Rica papers which have reached here corroborate the previous report. The city of San Jose and other cities were terribly damaged. Streets were blockaded with the ruins and railroads were blocked for weeks. People living in cities camped in the streets and public squares. The loss in the city of San Jose alone is estimated at $2,000,000. The loss of life is not yet accurately estimated but it is believed to be great. At Laguna extraordinary phenomena took place, the earth assuming the appearance of a rough sea. A father of a family and four children were buried alive in a crevasse while the mother and one child were thrown a distance of a thousand metres. All over the district the hills have changed their position and the ground is full of cracks. Irazu, the volcano, is in a state of eruption.

WAS A CORN-HUSKER

Billy Meyers Eludes Jack McAuliffe For Sixty-Four Rounds.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—A Times special from North Judson, Ind., gives the following details of the fight between Myers and McAuliffe: The fight began at 6:58 this morning in a public hall after some great difficulties in inducing the sheriff to allow the fight to proceed, it being represented to him that it was simply a glove contest. The fight was interrupted twice by the sheriff and his deputies, but nevertheless the fight proceeded for 64 rounds, and after nearly four hours and a half had been consumed, it was declared a draw.

Michael C. McDonald, a sporting man of Chicago, was chosen referee. During the first twenty rounds the men sparred cautiously, and did no great damage. Myers appeared to have generally the best of it, getting in a number of blows on McAuliffe's chest and neck.

The sheriff interfered at the end of the twenty-sixth and again in the twenty-eighth round, when a delay of twenty-five minutes followed during which the men rested.

In the thirtieth round Myers got in a right handed swing cutting McAuliffe's mouth and was allowed the first blood.

Cautious sparring followed for several rounds when the crowd grew impatient and called on the men to fight.

From the forty-first to the forty-fourth rounds McAuliffe pursued his pushing tactics, Myers getting cleverly out of the way.

In the forty-fourth, Myers, after a sharp exchange, scored the first knockdown and McAuliffe began to realize that Myers could not be tired out.

In the fifty-fifth round both men

AN ISLAND INDIAN RESER-VATION.

We understand that there is renewed talk in certain-army circles of the advisability of the government purchasing one; of the Santa Barbara Islands as an Indian Reservation for the Apaches or other wild and untamable tribe. This suggestion is not a new one; it has been discussed at various times for years past, but the necessity of soon removing from growing territories like Arizona and New Mexico, the ever threatening danger of a savage outbreak, has revived interest in the plan.

Such a scheme would be advantageous all around. It would place the Indians on a reservation sufficiently large for all practical purposes, in a climate as fine as can be found in the world, and in a wild and mountainous country similar to that with which they are familiar. At the same time it would put them in a place where they could do no more mischief, and would relieve the southwestern territories from the menace of Indian warfare.

To the government it would be a means of greatly lessening expenses and of insuring tranquility. A company or two of infantry stationed at Santa Barbara, with a patrolling steamer to look after the island coast line, would be sufficient to keep in subjection all the Apaches of Arizona, thus relieving from duty in that section a large division of both infantry and cavalry. It would be practically impossible for the savages to escape to the main land. The sea would be an impassable barrier to any marauding expeditions.

The advantages to Santa Barbara would be many and direct. It would necessitate the permanent quartering here of a small body of troops and might eventually lead to this becoming the Division headquarters. The Indian reservation would doubtless prove an additional attraction to draw strangers here, and a trip to see the Indians would soon become "the thing." As the Indians became more civilized they would probably take to fishing as an industry and would supply this market with fish and ship large quantities to San Francisco. Many of the government supplies would be bought here, and all would pass through Santa Barbara, and in a score of ways government money would be expended among us. If the government wanted one of the islands it would pay a good round price for it, and doubtless some of the purchase money would be reinvested in this city or county.

Taking it altogether we are inclined to think it would be a good thing for the government, for the Indians, and especially for Santa Barbara, if one of the large islands were secured for an Indian reservation, and if the matter is receiving serious consideration by the authorities Santa Barbara people ought to aid it in every way possible.

THE INDIAN QUESTION.

Secure, but Pleasant Prison for the Apaches.

Santa Rosa and San Miguel Islands as Indian Reservations.

A Plan Advantageous to the Indians, the Government, and the People.

[From Santa Barbara Daily INDEPENDENT, March 5th, 1884.]

An extent of country about equal in size to Los Angeles county and containing some of the most fertile valleys and richest mineral lands of Arizona is now withheld from the uses of civilized man for the purpose of affording a loafing ground for the most murderous community of savages that ever lived upon the face of the earth. Not only within the confines of the San Carlos reservation is the work of civilization prevented, but all the country around is kept back and its development retarded from the fact that bands of uneasy savages periodically make excursions outside their own lands and leave a trail of fire, murder and desolation to mark their path. The events of late are but a repetition of many such, and even yet one of these marauding chiefs, Geronimo, at the head of a band of murderers is hiding in the fastnesses of the MOUNTAINS OF MEXICO.

The great extent of the present reservation and the entire lack of any barriers against the free roaming of the Apaches makes the control of them a matter of utmost difficulty. Indeed whenever they so desire death and destruction may be wrought upon the neighboring communities without possibility of prevention. Their uneasy roaming disposition makes an outbreak a matter of certainty within certain periods of time. As soon as they have gathered rifles and ammunition, obtained rest and become organized under a chief their work of ruin is repeated.

LOWER CALIFORNIA

Has been frequently mentioned as a better place for a reservation, only a narrow strip of land on the north would require guarding, but the diplomatic correspondence and complicated arrangements necessary with Mexico opposes this, together with the fact that the peninsula is itself of too great extent. The necessity for some radical measures however, is proved by the charred ashes of burned homes but lately ceased to smoke and the blood of many peaceful men but lately shed, the work of these treacherous, well armed and fleet-footed Apaches. There is an easy solution of the problem.

A PROPER PLACE

For the Apache Indians is a place around which nature has put such obstructions as will prevent a possibility of their at any time making those sudden marauding excursions which have made them celebrated the world over. A suitable place and where a large army force would be unnecessary would be one where within these natural obstructions to escape would be land suitable for tillage where they would have an opportunity to learn the arts of peace and would be able to earn the sure reward of industry. A desert would be a prison too severe, rather a fertile spot that would encourage exertion in a peaceful way.

A SUITABLE PLACE

Would be one where supplies, provisions, flour, corn, beans and vegetables would be easily obtained and bought cheap, and where the opportunity to sell the aborigines liquors would be restricted. These are three important, fundamental considerations and if fulfilled solve the vexed Indian problem in so far as the troublesome tribes of the San Carlos reservation are concerned.

Within sight of Santa Barbara is a location which answers these requisites in every particular. The Santa Cruz and the Santa Rosa Islands are the only places in the whole United States where the Indians referred to

WOULD BE COMFORTABLE,

Inasmuch as the climate is mild, would be shut in by the waves of ocean from all possibility of wrecking their savage fury upon a peaceful people, would have encouragement to industry by a fertile soil and would be near an ample source of supplies of all kinds. The one item of provisions would be a great saving to the country. The government would be enabled to obtain all kinds of food at much reduced rates from those current in Arizona. The cost of buying the islands would be saved almost in a season by the difference in prices of provisions.

THE VALUABLE LANDS

Of the San Carlos would be thrown open to settlement and become a taxable property, populous and wealthy instead of being as it now is a terra incognita. The great gain however would be in the fact that the Indians would be beyond the ability to escape and to harm. Instead of numerous troops only one government steamer would be necessary to keep the Indians in surveillance. With the ocean on every side their murderous bands would be kept from working harm upon the outside world while unscrupulous dealers in liquor and the like would be kept from them. The soil,

CAPABLE OF CULTIVATION

Might be the means of weaning them from the rifle to the spade while the millions of delicious fish with which the waters teem in every cove or inlet would furnish them both amusement and food, in fact food in sufficient quantities to make them almost self sustaining. The gain to the government would be in the great proportion of expense saved, in the millions of dollars spent annually for supplies, every kind being cheaper by far here, the gain to Santa Barbara being in the increased consumption of her products.

Congress, as well as all of the citizens of the United States recognize that some decisive step

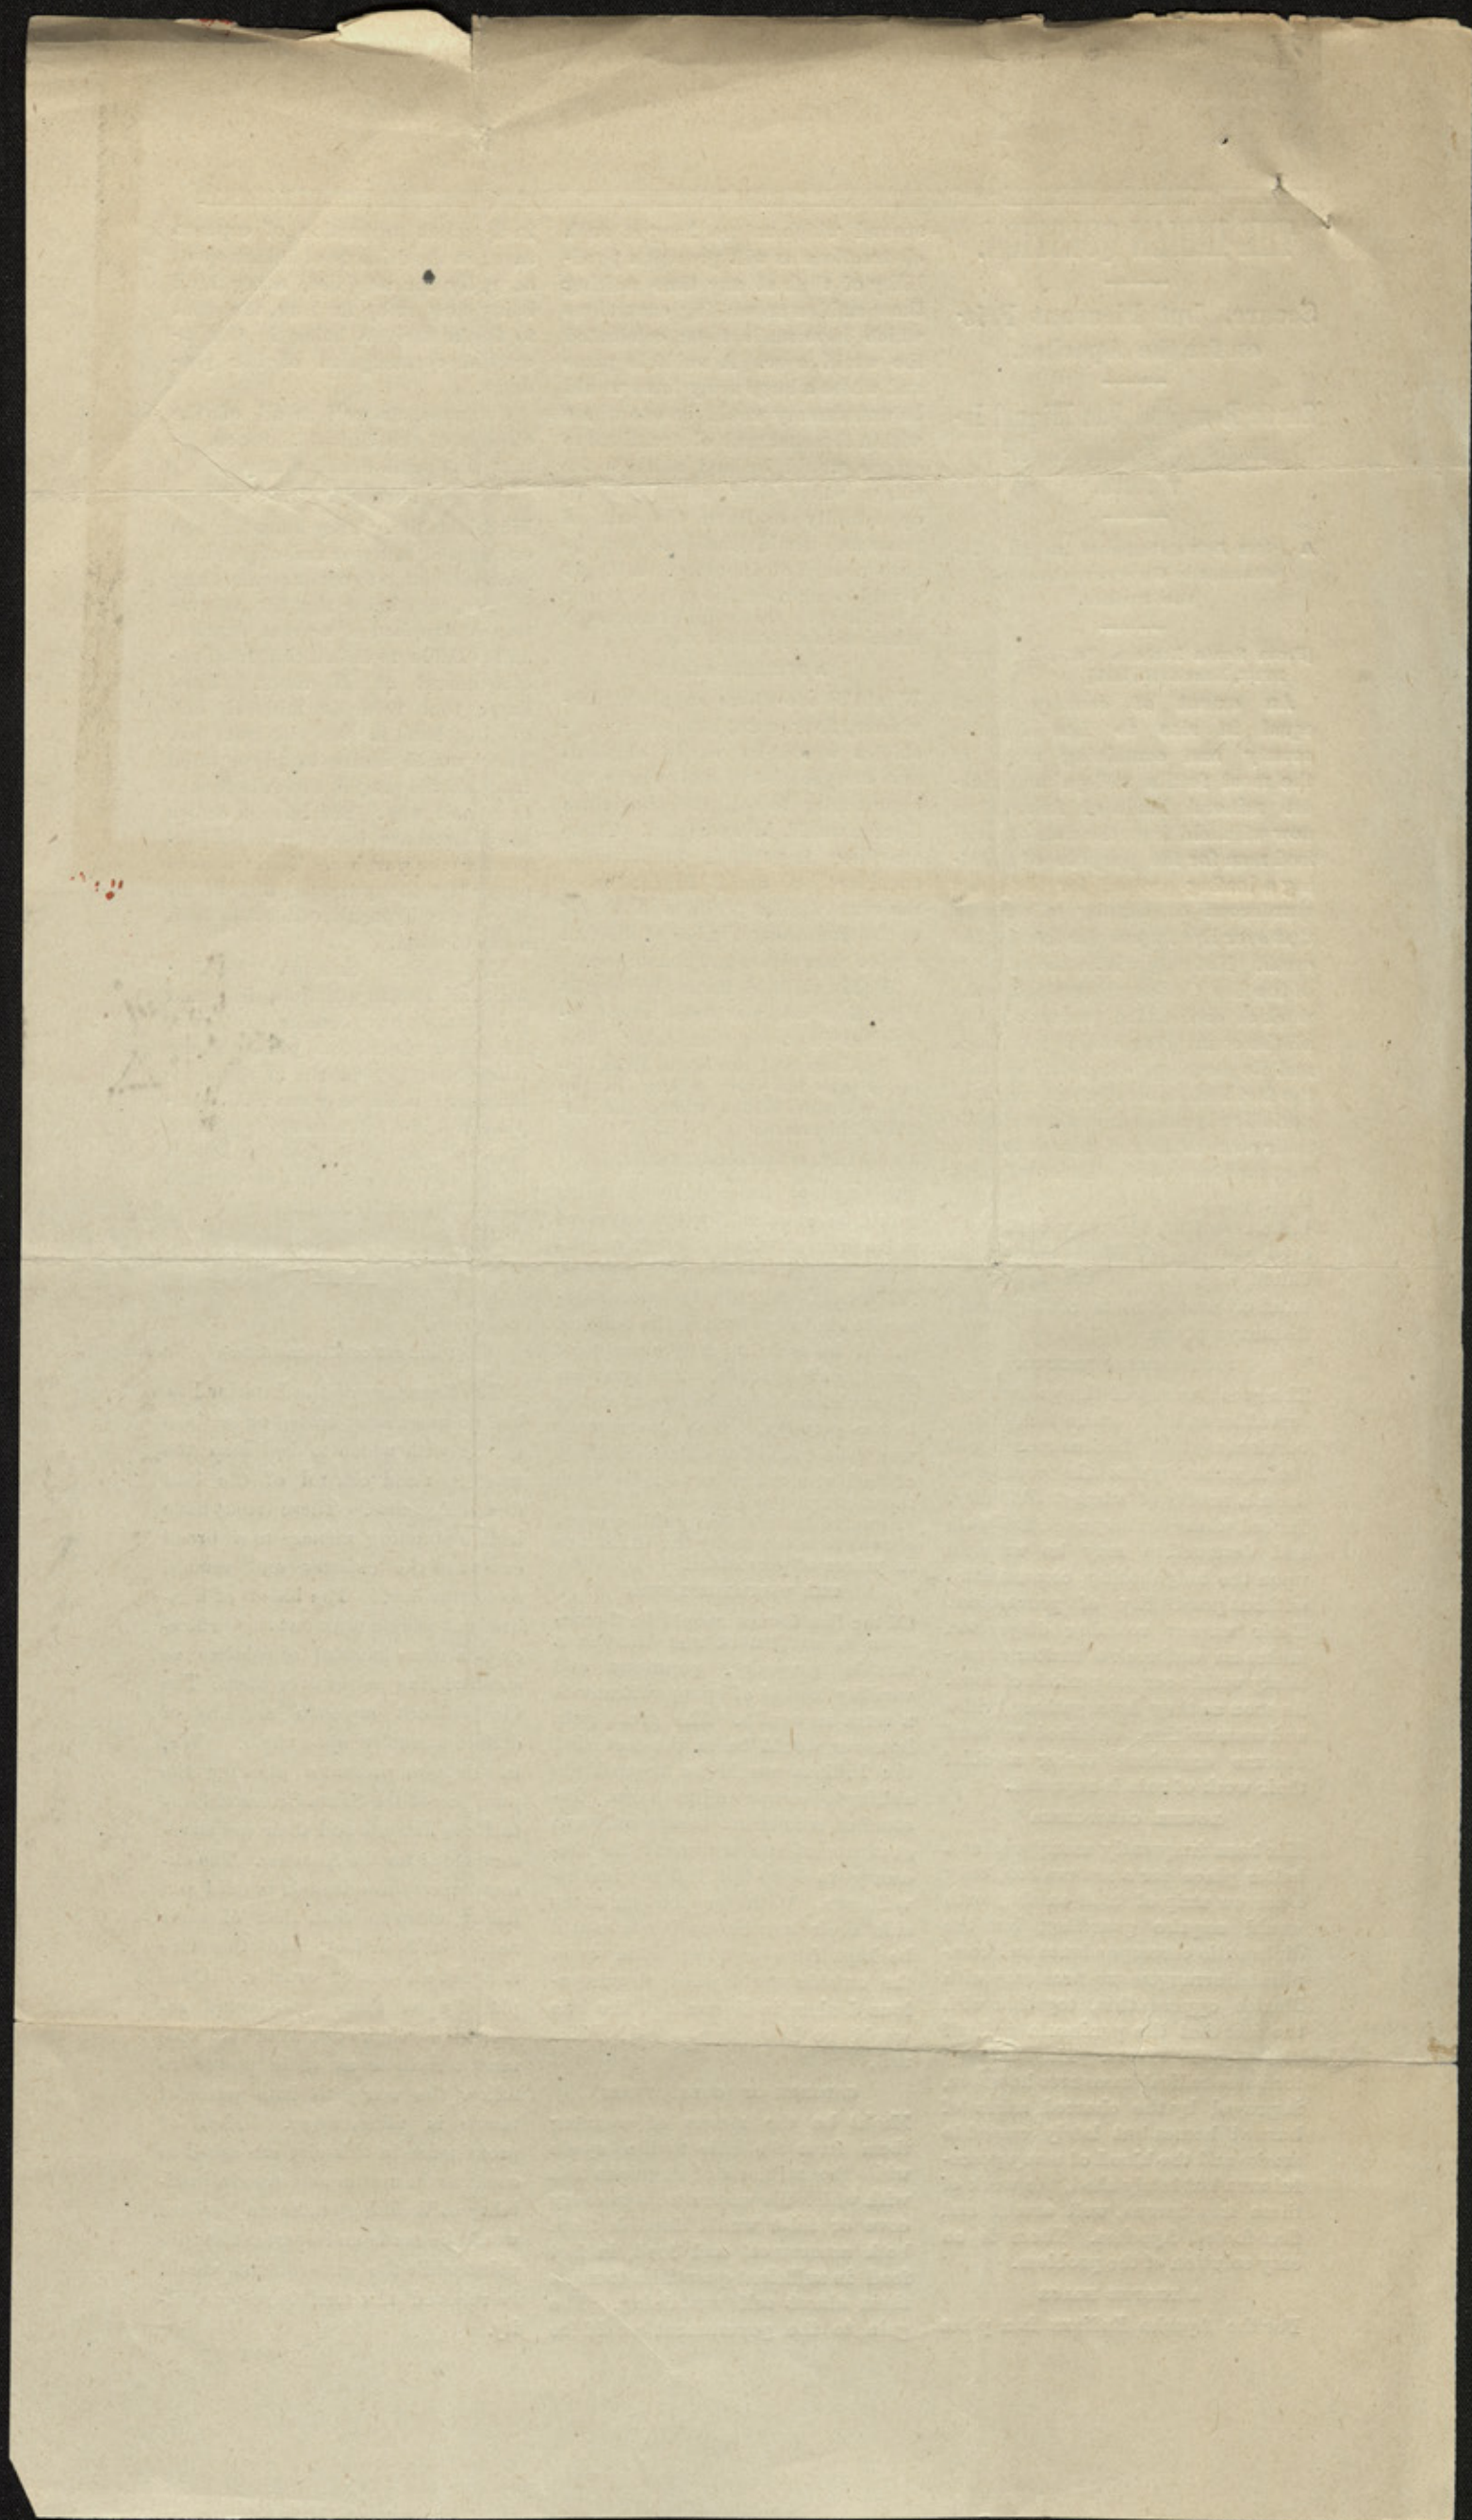

ONCE FOR ALL

Must be taken. They know that the outrages of last year and of previous years are liable to occur again at any minute, they know that the reservation is supplied at a great expense and is liable to difficulties from encroachment at all times. They know that valuable mineral and grazing land is withheld from use. They would desire to place these troublesome people somewhere out of harm's way. The Islands across the channel are the only places proper for the purpose. Their area is ample for the purpose, and in all ways there is peculiar fitness in such a use of them.

Men from Arizona familiar with the Indian question, its vexed points and its peculiar problems, who have visited this place and the islands heartily concur in the opinion that it is the only one final, complete and just solution of the difficulty, rendering as it does the Indian harmless and giving him at the same time a beautiful home.

[From editorial same date.]

The Secretary of the Interior has had no more complicated or serious matter with which to deal than the treatment and control of the San Carlos Apaches. These tribes have been a standing menace to a broad extent of the country and remain so to this day. The blood of hundreds of people cries out the inefficacy of a mere handful of soldiers as a controlling power over them. The Government expends millions of dollars annually upon them. We, in this issue present a plan for the purchase of the Santa Cruz and Santa Rosa Islands and their use as reservations for the Apaches. The climate upon these islands is mild and balmy, more so than that of their native wilds in fact, and therefore it is not an act of cruelty. Once placed upon these water-bound reservations, their deeds of violence must terminate as their power to follow the war path into peaceful towns is taken away. Men of prominence in this city are asked to consider the matter and urge its feasibility at Washington. Santa Barbara would be made an important supply point while the government would be relieved of a terrible responsibility.

Dear Sir:

Some time since an announcement of the proposed organization of the Barnegat Park Hotel Company, and of The Barnegat Park Railway and Navigation Company was forwarded to you, in which the objects and purposes were fully explained. On January 30th, the first meeting of the stock holders of these two enterprises was held at Barnegat Park, at which prominent officers of the service and civilians were present. A Board of Directors and the necessary officers for each of the companies were chosen, and it was determined to carry forward the enterprises as rapidly as possible. Hoping that you may look favorably upon the enterprises and give us the benefit of your co-operation and support, I take the liberty of forwarding this communication and enclosing subscription blanks which the Directors would be pleased to have you carefully consider. The easy terms of payment for stock (ten per cent. cash for Hotel, and twenty per cent. cash for Railway, with the balance in small instalments), is a matter to which I respectfully invite your attention.
