Dear Sir!

We take the liberty of sending you under cover a photo. of our "Cataract" Washing Machines, which we consider particularly well adapted for Army purposes.

For larger posts having Steam Power, we would recommend our Power Machine, as it washes large quantities of clothes and rapidly.

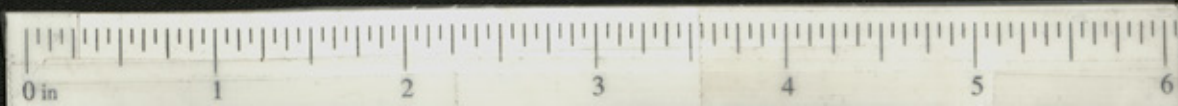

The enclosed circulars will give you full particulars as to prices etc and hoping you may favor us by giving the matter your kind consideration.

We are, Dear Sir,
Respectfully yours

UNITED SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

50 BROMFIELD STREET.

REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, President.

GEORGE M. WARD, General Secretary.

WILLIAM SHAW, Treasurer.

Boston, Mass., June, 27, 1879.

Gen. O. Howard,

Dear Sir,-

I will send you herein a preliminary and provisional programme of the Christian Endeavor Convention; a more complete programme will be forwarded to you in two or three days. I hope nothing will interfere with your being with us on Wednesday evening July 10th. I expect also that Mr. Wanamaker will speak that same evening, though I am not yet at liberty to announce him on the programme.

Owing to the number of speakers and topics to be discussed we are obliged to request our leading speakers to bring their addresses within a half an hour. The Convention promises to be even larger and more important than we at first anticipated, and one of the attractions to which the young people are looking forward is to see yourself, whom they have heard so much about.

Sincerely,
Francis E. Clark

RAILROAD ARRANGEMENTS.

CERTIFICATE PLAN.

A special rate of a FARE AND ONE-THIRD for the round trip, on the certificate plan, has been granted by all the railroads in the Trunk Line, Central Traffic, and Southern Passenger Associations; also by all the lines in the Western States Passenger Association, except the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern, Rock Island & Peoria, St. Louis, Keokuk & Northwestern, and the Wabash Railroad, which refuse to give rates.

Delegates can learn, by inquiring of the ticket agents at the respective points from which they desire to start, whether they are within this territory and upon the roads covered by this concession.

If the starting-point is not located on one of these roads, tickets should be purchased to the most convenient point on any of them, and thence, by direct routes only, through to Philadelphia.

On presentation of the certificate, duly filled in on both sides, within three days after adjournment of the meeting, the ticket agent at Philadelphia will return the person to his starting-point at one-third the highest limited fare. The return ticket will be issued over the route used in going to the meeting, and will be available for continuous passage only.

GET YOUR CERTIFICATE.

The certificates are in the hands of the local ticket agents. Be sure and get one properly filled out when you buy your ticket. The certificate must be signed in Philadelphia by WILLIAM SHAW, Treasurer, who will be at the hall during all the sessions of the convention.

EXCURSIONS.

In addition to the above plan special excursions have been arranged from the following places at greatly reduced rates. These excursions are particularly enjoyable, as the members have an opportunity to become acquainted and enjoy many pleasant conferences on the way.

NEW ENGLAND.

This includes Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Connecticut has arranged a special excursion. (See Connecticut.) For circulars giving full particulars address RAYMOND & WHITCOMB, 296 Washington Street, Boston.

CONNECTICUT EXCURSION.

For full particulars address A. H. Warner, Bridgeport, Conn.

NEW YORK STATE.

For full particulars address as follows: C. J. Frye, 224 Church St., New York City; Rev. W. H. Tracy, Eagle St., Albany; H. Kirke White, Utica; Maurice P. Fikes, Syracuse; L. M. Bowers, Binghamton; A. F. Gaylord, Rochester, and H. D. Jackson, Buffalo.

MISSOURI AND STATES ADJOINING.

For particulars address George B. Graff, 2606 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

NEW JERSEY.

For particulars address Rev. Wm. Hoppaugh, Springfield, N. J.

ILLINOIS.

For particulars address Stephen L. Mershon, Evanston, Ill.

WISCONSIN.

For particulars address H. W. Nickerson, 1028 Wells St., Milwaukee.

MICHIGAN.

For particulars address H. P. Welton, 41 Harper Ave., Detroit.

INDIANA.

For particulars address J. H. Lewis, Evansville, Ind.

UTAH.

For particulars address C. H. Parsons, Salt Lake City.

If no one has interested themselves in this matter in your section, will you not take the matter up and see if you cannot secure a large attendance? We feel sure that you will be more than repaid by the inspiration you will receive from this great meeting. Come yourself and get others to come.

HOTEL RATES.

The committee have personally visited all the hotels and boarding-houses, and vouch for their character. We would suggest that, in view of the thousands for whom accommodations will have to be provided, that those who prefer to go to a hotel engage their rooms at once. Write direct to the proprietor. By so doing, they will greatly aid the committee.

BOARDING-HOUSES.

In addition to the hotels, we have secured accommodations for several thousand people in the large boarding-houses for which Philadelphia is famous. The rates for room and board are $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 per day. These houses will accommodate from ten to fifty people each, and are in every way desirable. During the months of June and July, up to the date of meeting, a committee will have charge of this matter, and all applications for accommodations in the Boarding-Houses must be made to the Boarding-House Committee, St. George's Hall, cor. 13th and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. State the price you wish to pay, number for whom accommodations are desired, whether ladies or gentlemen, and enclose a stamped and addressed envelope for reply. You will then receive a card giving the number of the house and street to which you are to go when you arrive in the city. If any are so unwise as not to engage their rooms before they arrive in the city, they will please go at once to the 1st Regiment Armory Hall, cor. Broad and Callowhill Sts., where the committee will give them all the assistance in their power. We would, however, urge all to secure rooms in advance if possible. Write at once and secure your rooms.

My dear Sir,

I write to ask if you will kindly inform me of the date of the first Camp of your command, on the Salmon river, during the Big Bear Campaign, and also if you remember the sun stroke I had there.

The result has been much more serious than I anticipated, and I am thinking seriously of applying for a pension.

The effect has been to render me twice unable to undergo any exposure to the sun, and the ill effects seem to be increasing rather

If you have any recollection of the occurrence, or any subsequent suffering from the effects,
you will greatly oblige me, and certainly aid me, if you will kindly give such information concerning the facts as may be consistent with your recollection, when called on in the course

My dear Sir:-

I have already mailed the within circular letter to distinguished members of the Old Army of the Potomac in various sections of the country; and without a single exception have received the most enthusiastic and encouraging replies.

Please consider the circular a part of this letter, and answer it accordingly; and if the plan meets your approval, will you do me the favor to call the attention of your Member of Congress to it, that he may have an opportunity to examine it before leaving his constituents. It is but fair to assume that officers engaged in the battle are more familiar with this subject than any one else, and I am desirous that each Member of Congress have an opportunity to investigate to the fullest extent.

I am, Sir,

Very truly yours,

Reasons why the lines of battle of the Army of Northern Virginia at Gettysburg should be marked.

One important reason is, —

Because it is impossible for the tourist or student of history to acquire a correct understanding of the positions and movements of troops unless both sides are marked; and to determine the Confederate lines would increase the value of the Union monuments.

There are over eleven miles of driveway to indicate the positions of Union lines during the three-days battle. Along these avenues, two hundred and twenty-six monuments have been erected to mark the positions of commands of the Army of the Potomac, and nearly twice that number of flank-stones. About one hundred monuments and twice as many flank-stones go up this year. There are not on the combined battle-fields of the world as many monuments as now mark the field of Gettysburg.

By these avenues, the tourist and student of history can trace the Union lines; and by the aid of the monuments and flank-stones erected on them, the troops of the Army of the Potomac can be located.

This work has been done under the direction of the Battle-field Memorial Association, by State commissions, by private subscription, and State appropriation.

But it is still incomplete, as only one side is shown. No attempt has yet been made to mark the Confederate lines, and the visitor must depend entirely upon his imagination to locate them. Of the fourteen miles of battle lines of the Army of Northern Virginia, for the three days, not one rod has been opened or marked! Shall this knowledge be preserved to history, or shall it be allowed to be lost forever?

Gettysburg has already become the Mecca of the American soldier; foreign tourists go there, and hundreds of thousands of visitors go to see that wonderfully marked field. Already a feeling of surprise and regret is expressed that the battle lines of only one side are represented, and that no attempt has been made to preserve the positions of the other. There is a growing sentiment that the general government should lose no time in opening the Confederate lines, and marking the positions of the troops in some enduring manner, while it can yet be done — not for sentiment, but for history. The land along the battle lines should be purchased for avenues; and that where breastworks remain, for history. Roadways should be built and fenced along these lines, and the positions of commands marked on them by flank-stones, with plain, historic legends. The expense would be small to the government in proportion to the great value of the historic knowledge thus preserved to the world.

The first question to be considered is: — Can these lines be determined at this late day? They extended across the country west and north of Gettysburg (during the three days) for fourteen miles! They lay through field and forest, over hills and through valleys, but not one person in Gettysburg can trace them to-day. Nor have veteran associations been kept up in the South, as they have in the North, from which assistance may be had; and officers of the Confederate army are scattered throughout the country, and all over the world; hence, they could not be brought to mark these positions with any degree of regularity or completeness.

As government historian of the Battle of Gettysburg, and having been constantly engaged in preserving its history for the last twenty-five years, the public naturally look to me to do this work.

I commenced to sketch my isometrical drawing of the field while the dead lay still unburied, and before the smoke of battle had hardly left it. The positions of Confederate troops were placed on the drawing by Confederate wounded soldiers in hospital, or while going over the field with me; and during the succeeding winter, I visited the officers of every regiment and battery of the Army of the Potomac, who placed the Union positions on the same drawing; the correctness of which received the indorsement of General Meade and his corps commanders.

When the government engineers surveyed the field, I was employed by the Secretary of War to add the positions of troops to their maps; representing both armies, during six phases of the battle. Later, Congress commissioned me to compile the official history of the battle, making two thousand two hundred and fifty folio pages, on typewriter, with sixty-eight original maps, to represent the changing positions of troops. I was also engaged to survey the twelve square miles occupied by Gregg's and Stuart's cavalry engagement; and I have recently been employed by the Secretary of War to locate the positions of the thirty-seven commands of the regular army, preparatory to the erection of monuments.

Hence, when the marking of the Confederate lines is spoken of, the public look to me to do it. Fortunately for the preservation of the history of the battle, I hold the data from which it can be done. I received permission from hospital authorities, soon after the battle, to take convalescent Confederate officers over the field, when each pointed out the position of his own and other commands; and those notes, made when the memory was fresh, I still hold; and from this and other data, I can lay out the Confederate lines of battle, and mark the positions of their commands, if the government desires it. But I am too much pressed with private business to urge it if it is not wanted.

It would be folly to ignore the fact, however, that if this is to be done by me, my age admonishes me that it should be commenced without unnecessary delay.

Of the one hundred and twenty general officers of the Union army at Gettysburg, seventy-two are now dead, and a large proportion of those who remain would be incapacitated from disease, for active field work; yet these men average a less age than mine. General Graham, who commanded a brigade at the Peach Orchard, had been engaged for two years at Gettysburg, as a civil engineer for the State of New York; but, on the 15th of April, General Graham died! and thus these men are passing away.

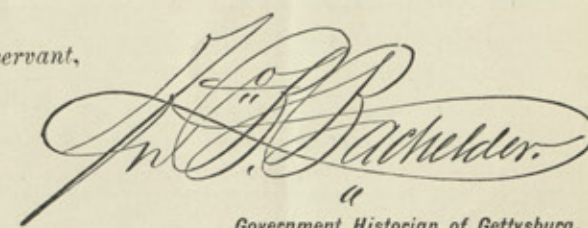

I have given you a fair, unbiassed statement of the condition of affairs at Gettysburg. To determine and mark these positions, and do it properly, would be a long and tedious task. Were I employed to lay out these lines, I should proceed to do it from the data I now hold, although I should court the criticism of those interested, and would cheerfully correct errors. I have heretofore taken no steps in this matter, though frequently urged to do so; but I now send this letter to a large number of distinguished gentlemen throughout the country, and intend to be governed by the general sentiment of their advice about bringing it to the attention of Congress.

Will you do me the favor to write me your views upon the subject, embodying the reasons why these positions should or should not be determined and marked.

And oblige,

Your very obedient servant,

HYDE PARK, MASS.

Government Historian of Gettysburg.

Gen. O. O. Howard.

Dear Friend.

It is reported here, and many believe the report, that Patton and J.B. Johnson are highly elated to think that they have succeeded in preventing you from taking any active steps in making Dr. Rankin President of Howard University.

I make no doubt if Dr. Rankin would go in for the Universalist ideas Dr. Patton has espoused, that there would be none so good a man in the land as he for President.

But I wonder that Dr. Patton has any following at all in the board of Trustees in view of the miserable record he has made as President. To us who know what he has done in the affairs of the First Church there is a total surprise that he or J.B. Johnson can have any influence with you.

I cannot but regard the election of Dr Rankin as a matter of the greatest importance to the University and Congregationalism in this city. I don't know which is of the greatest consequence.

Now While it is really none of my business I hope you will allow me to say that I should be astonished to learn that for one instant you could listen to any suggestion in this matter from men who so heartily dislike Dr. Rankin.

For the life of me I cannot understand why you should not naturally lean to the fellowship and friendship of one who has been always so loyal to you as Dr. Rankin.

Gen. Tarrence is going to give me a <sup>June 29</sup> position in a few days. I like <sup>3</sup>371. him. Alice is here & we are cleaning house. My things will be here Tuesday or Wednesday & we may get settled before I begin. I don't know the nature of the work but think it is perhaps time-keeper on contract work (R.R.) Will write letter tomorrow. C. O. H.

Genl. O. O. Howard—

Dear General:

I am still in this prison and receive no encouragements what ever from the Governor. All though Thousands of miles lay between us yet I love you, honor and esteem you as a comrad and a christian brother. I am still trying to get out of here. I shall not give up, for He whom I pray to, and am trusting Lay and right to keep me from sin, will in His own good time and pleasure will take me out of this place, and allow me to enjoy my freedom once more. My Dear Brother, if I never meet you on earth, I know I shall meet you in that land beyond, where sickness, sorrow, pain and death are felt and feared no more for ever. I hope you and your family are all well. I hope you like your new home. Prof. Hill still retains the Chaplaincy of this prison, and wields a greater influence among the prisoners than ever. God bless you and your family, Pray for me. Write me as soon as you can and
