Gen O O Howard.
Dear Sir.

New York
Feb. 10. 90

You are cordially invited to be present and join with us in celebrating Washington's Birthday at Chickering Hall on the coming 22nd of February, at 2 o'clock P.M.

The Patriotic Order of Sons of America, recalling the virtues of George Washington and his compatriots, as well as the principles upon which they founded our government, desire to perpetuate these principles by infusing into the hearts of our people a new regard for them.

We also wish to strengthen the bulwark of our national liberty-- namely, our public schools system-- against the insidious attacks of open and secret foes which strive to undermine and destroy it.

To this end we invite our fellow citizens to assemble on and at the above day and place, when patriotic addresses will be made, interspersed with other appropriate exercises.

Respectfully Yours,

J. W. Jarboe, Chairman Com. of Arr.
Chas. H. Ditmar, Sec'y. 521 East 19th Street,

Gen. O. O. Howard,
Dear Sir:

A few weeks ago
"Miss Grace Howard" addressed the Ladies' Indian less'n in this city, and the papers stated that she was "the daughter of Gen. O. O. Howard" knowing that when you were in Washington, Janus ap. you had a daughter Grace I accepted this statement as correct, and this morning telephoned to Governor Brand asking if she would address a ladies' meeting on Thursday. I have received an answer signed "Draeger" saying that "Miss Grace"

Howard is unknown here. Will it be too much trouble to inform me if the Miss

Grace Howard who has worked among the Indians is your daughter - and if so how I should address her. One of the papers said that she began her work among the Indians while you were stationed in Oregon.

Yours very truly

Dear General,

Your long looked for letter has reached me this inst., finding me enjoying an abundance of Divine Providence, viz - health and hoping that these few unworthy lines may find you and family enjoying the same good blessings; I will proceed to try and answer your most kind letter. I have a very large school this term numbering on an average about 40-45 pupils and as I stated in my other letter poor enough to prevent the strongest of hearts to cease studying. But to the contrary. I thank God that ever I was moved or called a to teach my poor race in the year of 1866, and ever since in some way I have been striving to instruct them &c But I must own that these are the hardest times of my experience as a teacher for I have in my school at present children without shoes upon their feet and a very little clothing to hide their nakedness &c I am sorry to know that you are so helpless at present and that I have asked too much of the friends though I am somewhat compelled to do so at present owing to present conditions in this section &c You spoke of my letter looking like a begging one &c and as the scriptures say open confession is good for the soul & I must confess it was and a ~~begging~~ letter in the truest sense of the word, but not as extensive as you understood it to be, as to mean a whole district &c for I am aware of it not being practicable to even expect such of you Northern Friends; though I thought that as the Good Lord knew how it was with the poor negroes in this Country at present He would convey the idea differently to you, as to the extent of your benevolence toward these parts.

Inches

But I find that the times have changed & youn what they used to be, and so are we in a great respect as to being able to respond to a call; and more is required of us now than in the past &c. I often think of saying you used to have no sin &c If you can not cross the ocean &c

News
Han

which inspires my very soul towards my poor race &c.

as I ~~am~~ feel and know that I am a true representative of it &c. I have exhausted all of my means towards helping them and now I am very pecuniarily embarrassed on the account of my past liberality towa. rd them in my advance age and afflictions &c, but I am yet a true Roman as it were in the river Tiberth Now may God enable you in some way<sup>to</sup> touch the hearts of some of the Northern Friends,

My dear General:-

After the dinner on Saturday night I had a short conversation with General Sherman, which satisfied me that I ought not to try any longer to have him write a eulogy on General Thomas, at the April meeting of the Loyal Legion. In looking the field over I do not find anyone whom I would be as glad to have render us that service as General Whipple. Will you not do me the kindness to extend to him an invitation, in my name, and see if you cannot prevail upon him to do it? He can make it longer than need be read at the Commandery, and we may find opportunity to print it afterwards. He knows enough of General Thomas to be able to make it sketchy and interesting. I send him a formal invitation, but prefer to enclose it with this, as I do not want him to receive it, and decline, before talking with you. If he cannot do it, or will not, I must again ask both you and him to help me secure a suitable memorialist. The eulogy need not be, and could not be, a full biography,—to be read in twenty or twenty-five minutes,—but he can make it cover any which binds us to itself lead us to God.

But will it suffice to proclaim the gospel?

This study of the English Reformation is written with great clarity and lucidity. The author has succeeded in presenting a clear picture of the religious changes in England during the sixteenth century. He has also managed to convey the social and political context of these changes. The book is well-referenced and includes a comprehensive bibliography. It is a valuable addition to the literature on the English Reformation.
