American Peace Society.

President:

EDWARD S. TOBEY.

Vice-Presidents:

ROBERT C. WINTHROP,

JOHN G. WHITTIER,
and others.

ROBERT T. PAINE.

Treasurer:

F. M. PATTEN,
93 Federal Street.

Secretary:

ROWLAND B. HOWARD,
1 Somerset Street.

BOSTON, February 21, 1890.

The American Peace Society, organized in 1828, has never been in a position so favorable as it is today to prosecute its work of removing the causes of war and promoting arbitration as a preventive of national hostilities. It puts forth every possible effort to promote the adoption of international arbitration measures by the United States Congress and Government, both by direct application at Washington and by arousing and instructing the people as to cost, the cruelty, and other characteristics of the great war-systems of the nations. To efficiently prosecute its work by means of the pen, the press, and the platform, it must have both an enlarged membership and increased pecuniary means.

A series of four World's Peace Congresses is in progress. The first, in Paris, 1889, was attended by an able delegation of this Society; the second is appointed in London for 1890; the third in Rome, 1891; the fourth in the United States in connection with the exhibition of 1892. To stand in our place, and, so far as possible, secure the coöperation of the United States in these and all proper methods to promote peace at home and abroad, is our object. Will you aid such a work by joining us? Our life membership has recently been greatly reduced by the death of old members. The present is the first systematic effort made for some years to increase the annual membership. Our publications ought to be an equivalent for the small contribution which we solicit. The Secretary will be glad to receive the names of new members. The annual meeting, of which due notice will be given, will be held in Pilgrim Hall, Boston, the last week in May. It would greatly encourage the Executive Committee and officers to have a large attendance of members, both old and new.

For the Executive Committee,

ROWLAND B. HOWARD,

Corresponding Secretary.

Endorsement by Distinguished Men.

"The cause of peace we regard as an eminently philanthropic and Christian enterprise of great importance, and worthy of sympathy and support. It has already accomplished much good, and would doubtless accomplish vastly more, if it possessed adequate means. We think it deserves, as it certainly needs, a large increase of funds. The American Peace Society, charged with the care of this cause in our own country, and whose management has deservedly secured very general approbation, we cordially commend to the liberal patronage of the benevolent."

The above was signed by sixty-one persons among the most distinguished in the country, of whom eleven were Governors of States. The number could be indefinitely extended if necessary. Indeed, we deem it safe to say that hardly a public man now prominent as a clergyman or citizen would decline to sign if solicited. We have room for the following names only :

HON. CHARLES THEODORE RUSSELL, Cambridge, Mass.

A. P. PEABODY, D. D., LL. D., Cambridge, Mass.

REV. A. A. MINER, D. D., Boston, Mass.

LAW OFFICE OF

ALLAN RUTHERFORD,

(LATE THIRD AUDITOR U. S. TREASURY.)

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

Atlantic Building, 928 and 930 F Street, N. W., Room 123.

Practices before the Supreme Court of the United States, Court of Claims, Claims Commissions, and the different Committees of Congress, and all Departments of the Government.

Washington, D. C., February 21, 1890.

Dear Sir:

By a decision rendered this month the Accounting Officers of the Treasury have allowed pay under the Act of March 3, 1885, for a horse lost in the military service by an officer a few months ago. The claim was submitted under the act of 1885, (known as the "Lost Property Act,") which, as you probably know, provides for payment for the loss or destruction of private or personal property of officers and enlisted men in the military service, where the loss or destruction was not in a war, or hostilities with Indians, and was through no fault or negligence on the part of the claimant.

This favorable result was brought about through a combination of circumstances, to relate the history of which would take too much space for the limits of a circular letter. I would say, however, that this construction is directly opposite to that placed upon the act shortly after its passage by the then Auditor and Comptroller, and that I strongly resisted that interpretation, and argued that horses WERE private or personal property within the meaning of the terms of the Act, and should be paid for as other property was. I afterwards tried to get the Secretary of War to decide the question whether horses were not personal property, and "reasonable, useful, necessary, and proper for an officer to have while engaged in the public service, in the line of duty," but that official refused to decide the question I raised and referred to the decision of the Accounting Officers. I did not, however, give up hope of some day convincing the Accounting Officers of the correctness of my views, and I am glad to be able to now inform you that they have been concurred in, and the question is, I hope, finally decided.

The Act of March 3, 1885, unlike the "Horse Claims Act" of 1849, does not limit the sum to be paid for articles lost or destroyed, and hence, the full value of horses lost may be recovered. Claims allowed under this Act do not have to await the action of Congress, and payment is made AT ONCE out of a permanent appropriation. THEY MUST, HOWEVER, BE PRESENTED WITHIN TWO (2) YEARS FROM THE DATE OF THE LOSS OR DESTRUCTION OF THE PROPERTY, OR BE FOREVER BARRED.

I therefore take this early opportunity to inform officers who have recently lost or are likely to lose horses in the military service of the relief which is now open to them, and to suggest that they communicate with me AT ONCE about the matter, giving full particulars of loss, and I will advise them how to proceed to recover pay.

The decision of the Accounting Officers made in 1887, by which claims for horses lost SINCE JANUARY 9, 1884, could be considered and allowed under the Act of 1849 and its amendments, was overruled in August, 1889. I think that the ruling of 1887 was correct, and should not have been overruled, and that claims for horses lost since January 9, 1884, should be considered under the Act of 1849, and I propose to make a test of the whole matter in the Court of Claims if I can get a sufficient number of cases to warrant me in doing so. To that end I invite correspondence from officers who have suffered losses of this kind, and will be pleased to communicate my terms for collection, &c.

Very respectfully,

Allan Butherford

My dear General:

I am sending you to-day copy The Standard a newspaper circulating largely among naval and ex naval officers and men, in which your speech has been in part reproduced.
The editors said nothing to me about the matter until the first of March, it was when the paper came to hand last evening.

General

I respectfully invite your attention to attached slips from Army & Navy Journals, by which it will be seen that a bill has passed both Houses & is now on the way to the President for his approval, conferring brevet rank for gallant services in Indian Campaigns -

If you think, General, that I can be fairly included in the list of those recommended, by reason of services rendered in the Nez Percé Campaign under your command in the summer of 1877, I shall be ever grateful to you for such recognition -

To refresh your memory, I beg leave to state, that, being at the time in command of Battery "A" 4th Artillery, I started on the same day of my arrival at Fort Townsend Wash. Terr. from Fort Wrangel Alaska; for the Indian country, in pursuit of the Nez Percés & followed them with you until I was wounded (in your presence) in action on the South Fork of the Clear Water, Idaho Territory, on the 11th July 1877 -

Sincerely & Respectfully,

Your Obedient Servant

BREVET RANK.

THE following is the text of the bill, which has passed both Houses and is now on the way to the President for approval, conferring brevet rank for gallant services in Indian campaigns :

Be it enacted, etc., That the President of the United States be, and he is hereby, authorized and empowered at his discretion, to nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint to brevet rank all officers of the United States Army now on the active or retired list who by their department commander, and with the concurrence of the Commanding General of the Army, have been or may be recommended for gallant service in action against hostile Indians since January 1, 1867.

Sec. 2. That such brevet commissions as may be issued under the provisions of this act shall bear date only from the passage of this act: Provided, however, That the date of the particular heroic act for which the officer is promoted shall appear in his commission.

Sec. 3. That brevet rank shall be considered strictly honorary, and shall confer no privilege of precedence or command not already provided for in the statutes which embody the rules and articles governing the Army of the United States.

Sec. 4. That all laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

My dear General:

In your "Personal Reminiscences" published in the National Tribune I note that in a reference to the council of war on the night of July 2nd at Gettysburg you do not state whether Gen. Meade ^{personally} suggested or advocated retreat.

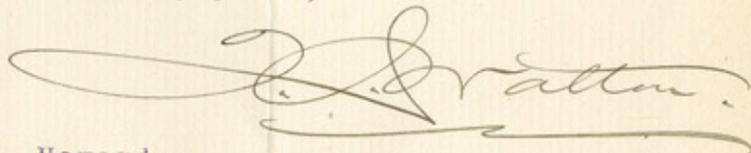

This is one of the features of the great battle on which I am in doubt.

As a participant in that noted conference will you kindly enlighten me on the subject?

I had hoped ere this to have seen your reminiscences in book form.

It would be a grand thing for the student of war history.

Truly yours,

I don't know precisely what I am expected to say. As we are all

Calvinists, from old William Landine in Boston Harbor in 1630, down, of course we must stick to our total depravity, but otherwise I don't think we are worse than most people and we are doubtless better than some - If Jamie Hinsey is all right, I don't think his family need be a burden

My dear General,

I notice by the press that the Senate has passed the bill to confer Breasts on Officers recommended for distinguished services during Indian Wars.

I am told by friends that General Crook has recommended Captain Randall (of the 23 Infantry) for Brevet Brigadier General for his services, and I know that Major Miles is entitled to as much.

I have always felt that the press has not given to the public the credit due yourself and your Command for the services rendered during the Mexico War in 1877 and that of the Bamock Route in 1878.

I know that my husband distinguished himself at the battles of Clearwater during the Mexico Campaign and at the Matilla Agency during the Bamock Route War.

Major Miles had during these two Campaigns referred to a Colonel's Command, something that seldom falls to a line officer.

I have thought about this matter before writing and I do most earnestly ask you, (now that you have the opportunity) to recommend my husband for at least two Brevet's that of Colonel and Brigadier General.

I have perfect confidence in writing you this letter, and I know that you will do all you can.

Please consider the contents of my letter confidential,
Sincerely your friend,
Martha C. Miles

Their condition is quite bad at

New York Genealogical and Biographical Society.

This Society, which was organized and incorporated nearly a score of years ago, has for its chief objects :

FIRST—To collect and print, in an enduring form, the scattered records of the early inhabitants of the Colony of New Netherland and the Province and State of New York, and to preserve the pedigrees of their families; also, as far as practicable, those of other American families. This the Society is successfully accomplishing, through the medium of a periodical known as the "NEW YORK GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD, devoted to the interests of American Genealogy and Biography," edited by several competent members of the Society, and now in the nineteenth year of its publication. The eighteen octavo bound volumes of the RECORD contain many of the ancient records of the Dutch and other New York Churches, which are invaluable to those interested in their family history.

SECOND—To add to its large and valuable library of several thousand volumes, which already contains many works that are rare and difficult to obtain—American biography, family genealogies, town, county, and other local histories; and various volumes relating to the above and kindred subjects. The Library may be consulted on every week day excepting in July, August, and September, when the rooms are open on Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

THIRD—With a view to increase the usefulness of the Society, and for the purpose of enabling it to add to its fund for the erection of a fire-proof building to contain the Society's archives and library, the undersigned cordially request that, should the aims and objects of the Society commend themselves to your judgment, you will become a member of the same. For admission the candidate must be nominated by a member, and be approved and elected at a regular meeting. The initiation fee is $5.00 and an annual payment of the like

My dear Sir:—

I approach you on a matter which calls for some degree of diffidence. if, indeed, it may not appear to you too presumptuous forwarding. It is this: we are very desirous of having General Sherman write a brief article for the series to which you have contributed the admirable sketch

✓ the "phenomenal scout" and we are sanguine enough to believe that if he knew ✓ the great audience of young Americans he would reach through our columns he might be persuaded to yield to our wish. He is so protected by our applications of smaller and inferior publications, however, that we fear, since he possesses no personal knowledge of the Companion, he would be inaccessible if he were applied to through ordinary channels. If on the contrary the matter were presented to him through some friend in whose testimony he would have confidence we feel that his acquiescence might be won. Now, as you are one of our most valued contributors, and as you have been good enough to say some such as he could jot down to his Secretary in a few hours. Two subjects occur to us:

1. Boy Soldiers I have Known.

2. Reminiscences of my Boyhood.

Either of these would suit us to perfection.

Are we presuming too much in questioning whether it is possible for you to take our message to him?

We are assured that if it reached him through so distinguished an intermediary he would not hesitate to comply, especially if it were pointed out to him that he would be speaking to fully two and a half million American youths. As to the honourarium we should be most happy to place the sum of four hundred dollars at his disposal for an article equal in length to about

Trusting that you will pardon

My Dear General:-

My friend, Mr. Charles D. Miller, recently president of the Cotton Exchange and now one of its leading officers, desires to confer with you respecting some matters of special interest.

His father was, I believe, a prominent officer of the army, and lost his life during the war. He is among the members of our Presbyterian Union, and I beg to commend him to your consideration with the hope that you may be able to be of service to him in connection with the matter he desires to confer with you about.

My dear General,

I have reason to believe that there is great danger that the measure proposed by the Secretary of War, authorizing the removal of the Chiricahuas from Mount Vernon Barracks, Alabama, to Fort Sill, Indian Territory, - may be defeated owing to the objections made by certain interested portions of the Arizona, New Mexico and Pacific Coast press, based, ostensibly, on the grounds that their presence at Fort Sill would be a constant menace to the safety of Arizona and New Mexico, - though it must be evident to all of them as well as to us, that there is really not the slightest danger to be apprehended from this cause.

The associated press dispatches state that General Miles is using his influence to defeat this measure. In as much as the location is the same as proposed and urged by this officer in 1886, it would appear that his opposition was based rather on personal grounds, than a desire that these Indians should be treated with humanity and justice.

Their condition makes it urgent that something be done in their behalf, and whatever is done, should be done at once. The defeat of the pending bill would probably prevent any favorable action for years, if ever. My only interest in the matter is that these Indians, many of whom have performed valuable services for the government, should be treated with humanity and justice, and be given an opportunity for life, under conditions where advancement and self-support is possible.

Under present circumstances I can do little to aid in securing justice, but it has occurred to me, knowing the deep interest you take in the matter,- that your extended acquaintance with the philanthropic and religious element of the East, who have always stood ready to espouse the cause of those needing help, would enable you to secure their influence in a form which would have great weight with Congress. Your son understands the question thoroughly and his assistance would, I think, aid materially at this juncture.

Whatever is done, should be done immediately, before the enemies of the bill succeed in poisoning the minds of the Committee. You know it is much easier to defeat than to insure the success of a measure.

for my service. If I were not afraid of exhausting you I could mention a thousand good names for this more; at any rate, such a command would raise the tone of all the Cavalry and wake up some people who have been asleep ever since the war. I would hesitate General to write to anybody else in this way, for fear of being misunderstood, but you know that I have always been an enthusiastic Cavalryman, and that my chief desire is a real and true interest in the service and that that interest is not bound to a wish for personal favor or comfort.
If you will look over the list of Cavalry Colonels you will fail to find many under whom an officer can serve with any profit, who desires the advance of his Corps with the advance of the age.

I appeal to you to save me from such a fate while you have health and strength to perform full duty.

My dear General -
Of course I knew you would write me encouragingly, and kindly, and not return my letter through the Adjutant General, but I must impress upon your good nature still further, for I fear you do not understand me exactly. I do not wish to elbow Col Carpenter out of his nice place simply to get me for myself, and did not think of doing so, but wrote you merely to say that if a change was thought of, I would like to be considered; in view of what I have now to state. I am not particularly anxious about Fort Myer, what I want is a command of four troops of Cavalry (or better six.) My letter can be done with two troops as you know, but with a suitable number I have an earnest wish to try and see what can be done in our Country, at this time, in the way of working a Cavalry Command up to the standard of modern ideas and tactics, which implies that every man in the ranks shall be a good horseman, a good shot with carbine and pistol, a tolerable swordsman, and a thorough scout with knowledge of our post and picket duty, and sufficient self reliance to perform that duty intelligently. To accomplish this, would tax the best endeavours of any Commander even under the most favorable circumstances, and what I mean by going to Myer is, that at that post, the necessary conditions exist to a greater extent for the purpose than anywhere else, at this time; there both General Schofield and myself would sustain and appear where others would more likely block the way - and the occasional opportunities for display would strengthen the demand for extra work and call forth the pride of young soldiers in stirring them up to do their best -

You are aware that it is impossible to accomplish more than just so much at a dull frontier post when every body is asleep most of the time, and that it is equally out of the question to get up sufficient spirit among Officers or men to carry out the idea proposed.

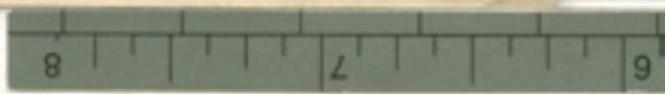

You have no Cavalry in your Division to speak of and now that there is no longer any danger of Indian troubles, there can be no good reason why Cavalry should not be stationed in the East as well as the West; Rail Road facilities are such that they could be transported quickly in any direction and the expense of keeping would be less. My favorite situation would be near the center of Kentucky, as a home, with permission, in proper season, to roam all over the country East or West, in that climate we could drill all the year around and no possible excuse could be made for not having the command always in condition and ready

General,

Having been mentioned by you in your report for conspicuous services in the Diaz Pines campaign at Ames Meadows August 1877,

I will thank you if you will recommend me for a brevet first Colonel. I have written to General Miles requesting his for conspicuous conduct against the Sioux Indians in the spring of 1877. I am a brevet Major,

The bill has passed and received the approval of the President. As reported in the morning papers I have reference to the bill conferring brevet rank for conspicuous conduct in Indian campaigns since 1867

I have several friends in the Senate who will urge conferring the honor,

Please reply

I am very truly yours

Dear Friend

We feel that those who give to aid a pupil in our school would like to know something personally of the pupil aided.

Last year you gave $50.00 to assist a young man here in his studies.

Enclosed is his letter.

Perhaps you can gather some idea of him from his letter. He is in one of our lowest classes, but we feel if he can be kept in school till he finishes, he will be the means of much good. We can assure you that she is a worthy pupil. We hope your interest in him may be kept up and that he may be enabled to remain in school till he finishes.

Very truly,

Dear Friend,

I being requested by my teachers to write to you, I take very much pleasure in doing so. I was born in Greensboro, Ala. My advantages for school was very poor. My parents were not able to send me to school when I was small. I entered this school Jan. 8, ^{the} 1889. I am very much devoted to this school. I am in the A Preparatory class. I am studying all I can to make the next class, for I think it my duty to go and do good for my people. I am praying each day that I may soon finish and do the good that is here for me to do. I am a Christian. I have been one for nearly eight years. I study, arithmetic, Reading, Grammar, Geography, Spelling, and I like my studies very much. My work that I do here is waiting in the Teachers' home and the teachers are very kind, and they try to teach us to live in the fear of the Lord that we all may. be blessed this term, & do thank you for the money that you send here to help me along in this school, & do ^{pr}ay that the Lord will bless the cheerful giver we are trying to raise a scholarship for our school in memory of Mrs. Olivia Davidson Washington, & try to give a little in the name of the Lord, Very truly your friend.

Allen Harris.
