of this School District, to write to parties in the north and ask them to aid us in getting up some funds to have our school house enlarged. We have a house that will accommodate 60 or 70, built 10 or 12 years ago. but our faithful teacher Mr Thomas W. Scott has by hard work ^{and} ^{being} prompt in the discharge of his duties as Teacher won the affection of his people and to-day his school numbers one hundred and thirty pupils almost twice as many as can get in the house and we would be glad if you would ask your people ^{and} Mr Scott's friends in the north to give us something toward the cause, please let us hear your opinion of our idea and oblige - Yours Very Truly

—Hon. Isaac W. Hammond, A. M., of Concord, state historian for New Hampshire died Sunday evening. He was born in Gilsum, on July 9, 1831, and was a son of Otis G. Hammond. In early life he went to Concord, where he began mercantile life as an accountant, and was afterward in trade for himself. He enlisted as a private in the Second New Hampshire volunteers, and was transferred to the Fifth regiment and appointed commissary sergeant, and served three years in the Army of the Potomac.

Dear General.

You may have seen the enclosed newspaper slip, but I wish to remind you of an incident in his life, which he related to me the last time I saw him. After you lost your arm and was on your way to the train to go home, you met Hammonee somewhat intoxicated. You stopped him, spoke to him kindly, and urged him to stop drinking. He said the idea, that you, in your mutilated condition should take an interest in him, quite overpowered him, and from that day to the day of his death he never drank a drop of intoxicating drink. He had all the materials

My dear General Howard:

I enclose herewith cheque for $25. in payment for the first article on Indian Chiefs. It so happens that I have, without intending to, secured a great deal of matter on Western and Southwestern life, and I think that perhaps two more articles would be enough on chiefs for publication.

Now, in regard to the West Point story. For book publication, I don't think I would suggest the changing of a line from the way you have written it in the beginning/ but for publication serially, it would be necessary to get him to the West Point part of it right off; and while as a book the love element would be all right, as a serial for the Youth's Department I am afraid we would have to leave it out. Therefore, taking your letter as a basis, I would suggest the following revisions:

Chapter I. Three thousand words, discussing the offer made to Orville Darrow, his decision to accept the proposition, his receiving the official papers, what articles he must take to West Points.

Chapter II. On the physical and mental examination, and it really seems to me that for serial publication these examinations should be what they are to-day. That, of course, would change your idea of making this a story of life forty years ago. Of course, in your book you could recur to your original scheme.

Chapter VI. Then perhaps one chapter on the annual commencement in the summer encampment.

Chapter VII. One chapter on the special events of the last academic year.

Of course, what I really want is a story that will appeal to the boys of to-day who think of going to West Point, and would give the facts of how to get into West Point and the life when they get there, especially the various drills. These chapters should be about three thousand words each, and I think Mr. Phillips said he was to pay you $15. for each instalment. For a story written like this I would pay you $35. per chapter.

I return herewith your letter giving your scheme and also the original manuscript.

Dear Gen.

You impressed me as I saw you at Reunion of Congl. Church San Francisco on the eve of your departure to the East as a man of more than ordinary kindness and courtesy, so I am the more persuaded that you will be kind enough to notice this statement of my personal affairs that may come before you, and give it some weight - your advice if nothing more -

My son Dr. Paul Glendenin U.S.A.

is ordered from Tucson to your Department - of the East, for which I am thankful indeed. But a Mother's natural anxiety - is fearful that the direct - and sudden change at the beginning of winter to Fort-Brady may be disastrous to his health and that of his young family. if I judge right of the severity of that climate - so I ask your advice and influence if possible - you might do him a favor to secure him a more genial station for the winter -

He knows nothing of this letter or my intentions in writing so that he will not be affected one way or another by my intervention - I feel indeed I am so grateful that he is going East and into a better civilization than this, that I am content as it is - But ask your fatherly interest in them if at any time you have an opportunity - to advance them - He has two little daughters besides the baby and sweet little girls they all are - He has natural ability - and eager in his Profession and in conscientious in the performance of his duties and I do not hesitate to say that whenever he is sent he will cheerfully go and do his best -

Very Respectfully yours

Dear Sir:

You may remember meeting the undersigned at Mr. J.K. Moor's residence here, five years ago this summer, previous to this I met you at your Brother's house, Rev R.B. Howard in East Orange, of whose church I was a member. I was also an intimate friend and schoolmate of David and Otis. I am very desirous of obtaining from the Interior Dept., permission to establish an Indian trading store in the vicinity of St. Stephen's Mission, which is about thirty five miles below this place. A sub-agency has been recommended, and a trading store would be a great advantage to the Indians that are trying to engage in agricultural pursuits in the vicinity, as the distance to the present agency is too great to travel in winter weather. I trust you will feel well enough acquainted with me to endorse and forward my application to Secy. Morgan. I can if necessary procure a good recommendation as to my character and fitness from Mr. Moor, or any of the Post Commanders who have been stationed here. Please inform me at your convenience if you will take action in this matter. Your most obt. servt. John C. Burnett.
