Dear Sir:-

Mrs. Whitney desires me to express her thanks to you for your kindness and courtesy, and to say that the small detail to attend her husbands funeral on Monday, as suggested would be satisfactory. Inasmuch as it would not be practicable for them to fire a volley, as she desired, she thought that possibly, you could send one of the detail, a bugler, who could sound taps over the grave. If this meets with your approval she would appreciate it.

Sir:

After receiving your kind letter by Mr West, the Spanish Consul informed me, on an engagement he has made in my name, including many other persons, to whom it is not easy to know the change, as I shall have the pleasure to explain to you.

On that account, I beg you kindly postpone our meeting to next Saturday the

My dear General:-

I am glad to see that you are going to Ludlow for Decoration Day. My birthplace and old home was at the next village, three miles away, and I wish I could be there with you. Am not now certain where I shall be.

I think the better way to go is to go up the Hudson River to Rutland. You can take a sleeping train at Forty-second Street, arriving at Rutland about two o'clock in the morning. That is not a good hour, but the Bardwell House and the Bates House are just across the street. Ludlow is only an hour's ride from Rutland, and there are two trains in the forenoon. Or, if you have the time, you can leave New York in the forenoon arriving in Rutland in the afternoon and go to Ludlow the same night or in the morning. If I find that I can be at home, I hope you will come in the day time and spend the night with me. The New York train runs right through my place - six miles north of Rutland.

I am glad to see that you are going to India for business day. My business and old home was at the next village, three miles away, and I wish I could go there with you. I am not now certain where I shall be.

I think the better way to go is to go up the Hudson River to Poughkeepsie. You can take a sleeping train at Poughkeepsie, arriving at Poughkeepsie about two o'clock in the morning. But I started to write about another matter:

The Centennial of the admission of Vermont to the Union, and the dedication of the Bennington Battle Monument are to be observed at Bennington the nineteenth of August. The President intends to be present; the cadets will go up; and the State authorities have asked for Cushing's Battery, to which General Schofield thought there would be no objection as they take a practice march. Of course that will come to you officially, and also an invitation, but without waiting for that, wish you would consider yourself invited with such members of your staff as you wish to take with you.

Think I must try to get over to the Island to see you sometime before long when I am passing through New York.
