New York, Nov. 4, 1891

Major Genl. O. O. Howard,
My dear Bro.,

I am doing this, first - because it is the proper thing to do; and next because I can't help it.

I want to thank you again for the treat of yesterday. The Holy Spirit used you beyond your knowledge as also beyond my brightest anticipations, and they were built pretty high. Every sentence weighed a ton.

It's the forty-six year old history repeating itself on the power behind the agent. The universal verdict among our people was one of deep.
gratification and helpful encouragement, on the result of your address. They were a company of good listeners, and they took their words home heartily. True words are not flattering of the cheap order, but simply a personal and official expression of our love for you, and appreciation of your relation to the Sunday School army of everywhere. God bless you, and help you to bless others.

Troutmanfully yours,
Geo. A. Corfield.
WAR DEPARTMENT.
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.
WASHINGTON, November 4, 1891.

Dear General:
The reply to your letter of October 30th, in regard to the charges against Major Throckmorton for drawing against a bank in which he had no deposit, has been inadvertently delayed. There was no mistake or oversight in omitting to call upon him for an explanation in that connection. The two sets of charges were referred to the Acting Judge Advocate General who advised that the charges preferred by Colonel Hughes be not brought to trial remarking that "The transaction on which they are based is shown to have been not criminal but careless and irregular merely, and the finding of a court-martial thereon would doubtless be guilty without criminality. They should therefore, in my opinion, be dropped."

The Secretary of War concurred in the opinion of the Acting Judge Advocate General in respect to these particular charges and therefore directed that the other charges only be sent to Major Throckmorton for any explanation which he might have to offer.
Very respectfully,

J. Keltz
Adjutant General.

General:

On the 21st day of November A.D. 1891, Sam C. Milling, the Guardian of the heirs of Franklin Dream, filed my petition to appear before the U.S. District Court Office at Monterey, Douglas Co., Washington, and made an entry homestead, claiming for the Misses Mattie and Minnie Dream, parents' homestead lands, meadows, and orchards, situated in the B.C. Burch meadowed, six years ago by timber culture application, and legally contested and fought to final decision by Secretary of Interior, through your able and persistent judicial vigilance.

Our work is now ended & our victory complete, and the home of the innocent orphan girls - representing two races of Americana and.____ casts a solemn charge upon us, safely secured by the United States of America, through a high official authority administered most faithfully by the patriots of both great national parties and all done in strict accord with the rule of Justice and Human Rights.

It is now my duty to thank you for your assistance, and apprise you of the successful issue in the most patriotic act of your civic life, its to move it this true devoted Mariner's Principle:

Gave more of your love - Better to Strive for.

Wm. Washington, Co. Washington
A raised a fine garden in the mountains this summer, have furnished the orphan children with vegetables for all winter. Besides, aiding a broken down Confederate soldier from Georgia, to save him from starvation and escort him to a railroad for all of which I have been most shamefully degraded, mulcted and betrayed. Still, I am not weary in well-doing, nor am I at all discouraged at the way the pearls have been cast on in the manner of their virtue diminished. The sun still shines on me as surely as ever and many who have opposed me now shall see the proofs that I am no valuing. I still live and enjoy the living.

I have furnished the winter bread for my lodgers. And their orchards have borne the greatest of fruits. And the long, long drought is more ended. Dikes built prayed to his God for rain and all Washington State is drenched, rivers are rising. And the springs will be refreshed with the moisture of pure waters.

I am fervent, I am patriotic, I am philanthropic. Brought to the Spirit-Voices in the thoughts utterances, and see whether they be of God or of men deserted. Many are the estranged ones gone further into the ainto battle against the children of peace and war on innocence for a selfish ambition which no air surrounding will long maintain. I thank Mr. Stranwar will do my duty daily as commanded. air voice only. God no longer obey inward thoughts. The letter is poured of my return for General Knowlton who should answer kindly, sincerely his friend.

Drake
Dear General,

I should be pleased to remain with the help of Taylor and the article for the Memorial History of New York during the month of November.

When you have made use of the note, please return it, as it is a library book and mainly at present in hands package to the military service institution.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen,

My dear Sir:

On account of lack of room in our present quarters, we are holding our meetings for men only on Sunday afternoons from 4.30 to 5.30 in the various churches of North-West Philadelphia.

I write to ask if you will come and address one of these meetings. The twice a month and can assure you of a good audience and there is no doubt but that you would do much good. We wish, of course, to pay your expenses and do what we can more than that if you so desire.

Sincerely, hoping that you will come over and help us. I am

Yours truly
