I find that the Hubbard case cannot be set down for trial next week, and as you told me that you were going away on the 22^d. I write to ask how long you expect to be away. I presume only for a day or two. If that is the fact I will try to get the case set down for that week, either Monday or Friday.

Dear Sir;

My collection of autographs will not be complete without yours. Can you not favor me with same?

For many years I have been trying to find an autograph of either Meade, Thomas or Burnside. Could you tell me of any source from which I would be likely to obtain one?

I hope to be favored with a reply at your convenience.

Dear Sir,

In the grand display now in preparation at Chicago World's Fair, the negro is in danger of being entirely ignored, overlooked and forgotten. No preparations are making to show the achievements of one-eighth the people of the nation. It is unjust, and we believe contrary to the wishes of the great majority of the people of this nation who sympathize with the negro in his unfortunate lot, and wish him fair play and an equal chance. Victims of a harsh and inhuman system of degrading toil for centuries,—victims still of a relentless and crushing prejudice; poor, unaccustomed to business, with few opportunities and the poorest pay of any class of American labor, and yet always loyal, law-abiding and patriotic, they deserve better treatment at the hands of the brave and powerful people among whom they dwell. So confident are we of earnest sympathy, of good feeling and a cordial desire to see the negro make the most of himself, that we address you this note to enlist your personal interest and assistance. It is impossible now to make a creditable display of the negro's achievements. We have neither the time nor the means, therefore we have determined to act upon the suggestion of such prominent colored men as Frederick Douglass, ex-Senator Bruce and Auditor Lynch, and make a display of his achievements in that branch which will most interest the thousands who will be at Chicago, and the branch in which his progress has been most signal and marked. This is, unquestionably, in music. Here he occupies a unique and interesting position. Four continents have been electrified by his marvelous power of creating and producing exquisite melody. The old quaint, weird plantation songs that were often wrung from the agonized soul of the slave, now hold the most cultured critics enthralled by their pathos and passion. The beautiful opera founded on the story of Uncle Tom's Cabin, and written by Mr. Will M. Cook, one of the most gifted colored musicians, is now being rehearsed, and will be presented by such eminent artists as Madame Sissieretta Jones, the black Patti; Mr. Harry Williams, now in London; Miss Lulu Hamer, the beautiful octoroon contralto, Mr. Lloyd Burleigh, the world-renowned Fisk Jubilee Singers, and Madam Jenetta Doyle. In order to do this creditably a large outlay will be required. The plan of raising this money is to give a series of grand preliminary concerts in the principal cities of America. The first of these will be given in the Carnegie Music Hall, Feb. 13, 1893. This grand concert is fortunate in being under the patronage of a large number of the leading society people. The assistance you can render so worthy an enterprise is this:

your great interest in our race and its enterprises is widely known and appreciated. The position you occupy is such a one that your opinions are much respected and followed. Should you show your approval of our race effort by subscribing to and attending our concert at Carnegie Hall many will be brought to look with more favor upon the possibilities of our race

Will you not help us in this matter, and through us help a race struggling upward through so many disadvantages and impediments to be worthy of and equal to all the duties and opportunities of American citizenship.

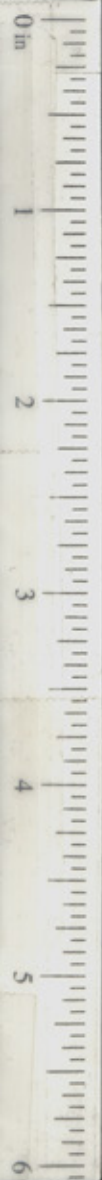

With great respect,

Our people prize the early incidents in the lives of our distinguished men, and pleasesatrias of their early days bring them close to the hearts of the people. I know it would be a matter of profound gratification and pleasure for the watchmakers of this country to read how Paul D. L. Howard came into possession of his first watch; his satisfaction, or other emotion in the sense of its possession, or any phase of the subject which may present itself to his mind.

To our audience, I enclose Hon Chauncy M. Depew's article to show the desired scope of your work and I need not assure you of the intense pleasure which your contribution will bestow upon a large number of your countrymen.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6th, 1893.

Editor NEW YORK STANDARD:

DEAR SIR:

I am in receipt of your letter requesting the story of my first watch.

That occasion is very distinctly impressed upon my mind. I was a schoolboy at the Peekskill Academy, covering, four times a day, the mile or more between that institution and my home. Time was an essential element of happiness, for the rules were rigid when the school should begin, and the Academy clock was supposed to be the timepiece of the town..

On Christmas Eve the children all hung up their stockings, and at four o'clock on Christmas morning we were out exploring the cavernous depths of the woolen stocking of that period for such treasures as Santa Claus might have brought. Among them was a gold watch, glass faced and quite elaborately chased on the back. No gift that I ever received, before or since, afforded me so much gratification or left such a lasting impression. In one sense it meant an escape from probably being kept in after school was dismissed, for not having been there on time, and a possible flogging. On the other hand, it secured a recognition of manhood. There was about that watch a certain sense of independence, a curious feeling of emancipation from leading strings, which put the boy on his feet and gave him the liberty to climb as he pleased.

I never look at that watch, even at this day, without some of the sensations which overwhelmed and delighted me in the early morning hours of that Christmas day at the old homestead at Peekskill.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW.

Dear Sir and Friend,

I send you the September number of the N.W. Jour. of Ed., which I edit, and will send you the Feb. No. in a day or two, with the hope that you may have time and opportunity to contribute an article on something pertaining to education, for the columns of our Journal. I have no doubt but that you are busy, but I know you have a facile pen, and I hope you will be able to send at least one article, if not at some time in the future, another. In June 1891, after thirty-five years constant teaching, I resigned the Presidency of Whitman College, rested a year at Walla Walla, Wash., and am resting this year down by the sea at Seattle, where I thought just before going to Walla Walla. I am now sixty years old, but doubtless will be good for 10 or 20 years more yet, and may teach again though I enjoy my present limited amount of work very much.

General O. O. Howard,

Governor's Island, N.Y.H.

Dear Sir and Comrade:-

At the Lincoln Banquet, given by the Lafayette Camp, Sons of Veterans, last night, I had some conversation with your son in regard to the importance of your being with us at the Reception to be given the Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R. by this Post, at Masonic Hall, Friday night.

Let me add that this Reception will in one respect make a radical departure in Grand Army meetings, and one in which I believe you will feel an interest; here for the first time we will have present a fitting delegation of the organization of Sons of Veterans, and a fitting representative of that important Order will speak for it in the course of the evening. There will also be present a number of representative men of the Order, including Past-Commanders-in-Chief, Department Commanders, General Horace Porter, General Swayne, and others. Of course the invitation to you includes any members of your Staff whom you may be disposed to bring with you, and it would be very acceptable indeed to all concerned if you would allow us to accord you a formal reception as representing the U.S. Army and in Command of this military department; if, however, you should have any objection to this, we would have to deny ourselves the privilege. In any event we all earnestly desire to have you with us.

I had the honor, at the last Dinner of the Loyal Legion, to personally urge you to come, and, indeed, your acceptance is on file; yet as the time approaches I want to make sure that no obstacle shall arise in the way of your being with us.

Dear Brother:-

Do you approve of adding $225. to the $600. voted to the Russian German church, Portland, Oregon, Nov. 9th, 1892. This additional money has been found to be absolutely necessary to put the ouilding in usable condition. Many of these people have not yet paid their passage money to this country. They are very poor, hard-work- ing people. Supt. Clapp and Our Secretary, Rev. Daniel Staver, say they have raised every dollar they can consistently to close this mat- ter up. Bills are pressing upon them which they wish promptly to meet. The State Association at its recent meeting showed its sympathy by tak- ing up a collection for them. The Secretary deems it a very deserving case. The application gives the value of the house at $1850.

Says personal conference with Dep. Comdr. is advisable in relation to misconduct of Dr. Col.
J. W. and Dr. Palmer, calling for positive action; does not think that court-martial should be resorted to.
