Dear Sir:

The Tribune would be exceedingly pleased to obtain a recent photograph of yourself, cabinet size. The office is quite willing to pay for it, but we know no other way of obtaining it, except by applying to yourself direct. Will you oblige this office by sending either the picture or the information as to the gallery at which it can be obtained? Kindly write your name upon the picture, or else send a letter with it, so that no mistake may be made as to identity. If a photographer sends it, will you kindly instruct him to write your name upon it? If you will also kindly inform me where your biography can be obtained, you will confer an additional favor.

Yours respectfully,

General Howard,

Sir:
The evening of August 20th has been reserved for you at the Asbury Park Auditorium. Your words and all of us so much good to you that the request to such coming in that you be urged to come again. I think we can have the grand army, Department of New Jersey, present. Notworthy this

My Dear Mr. Young:

I was delighted to receive your letter stating that the National Service at Asbury Park had not only been a success in securing eminent speakers but in collecting funds for the purpose of sending sick and crippled children into the Country air. In my opinion, the audiences you have gathered together at this service cannot be equaled as representative, intelligent American gatherings for purposes Religious, Intellectual and Charitable. Both the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of State said to me after their addresses at Asbury Park that they rarely, if ever, had the pleasure of meeting such a splendid and representative audience as was congregated at the Auditorium upon the occasions when they spoke.

So far as I am concerned, no address that I have delivered of late years was so widely published or so generally commented on as the one which I gave at Asbury Park. This would indicate that the services so recently begun have become not only popular, but national. You are really to be congratulated on the success of this undertaking, and I predict still more satisfactory results next year.

Yours truly,

Robert P. Porter.

MyDear Mr. Yount:

I was delighted to receive your letter stating that the additional service of A. d'Urville and not only been a success in securing sufficient speakers, but in collecting funds for the purpose of securing sick and destitute children into the Country. In my opinion, the influence you have exerted together with the service can be utilized as a substitute for the American Cattlemen for purposes Religious Instruction and Employment. Hoping the Secretary of the Treasury and the Senators of other States will do the same, I have sent them your letters. I have ever found the Irish Methodists of A. to appear far more liberal in the highest degree of the plantation, and I hope that when they speak

you will be so kind as to publish this letter. This would induce that the one which I have at present been in the service so recently begun have become not only important, but the services so recently begun have become not only important, but undertaken. You are easily to be congratulated on the success of this undertaking, and I predict still more satisfactory results next year.

Dear General Howard:

Meeting your daughter and her beautiful children at Vancouver made me think of writing you at this time. Of course it will be no news to you that they are well, I wish to ask you if it would be possible for you to go to my West Island mission to attend our annual convention July 16-23, and speak to the people there. I am sure the interest there would inerest you, and the crowd that gathers there at these conventions is worthy any speaker. You may have heard of it, but I send you a paper by this post which will tell you more of it. We shall have many de-Distinguished people there and should be so happy if you might be one of the number.

My dear Sir:

As one of the newspaper representatives who heard your remarks at Gettysburg relative to what Gen. Grant would have done had he been in command, I regret exceedingly that any newspaper should have published what you apparently intended as an observation to brother soldiers and what you specifically requested should not be published as coming from you. I remember distinctly that when the question was first put to you, you looked straight ahead and made no reply. It was only after Gen. Alexander had spoken and the question was put to you the second time that you expressed your opinion, preparing it with the remark that you trusted the newspaper men present would not put it in print. In words to that effect. If I had the same effect as a confidential communication to be treated accordingly, no good could possibly follow its publication with your name attached, no matter how strong may be the corroborative judgment of the best military experts of the country, North & South.

As a newspaper man, general, I sincerely regret your confidence should have been imposed upon, for it is by such acts of thoughtlessness, in the view of making a momentary sensation, that the entire journalistic profession is brought into disrepute.

Very sincerely yours,

Hugh Hastings.

My Dear Sir:

On Sunday evening, the 21st inst., the Brooklyn Grand Army Post is to present a handsome flag to the Sunday School of the Memorial Presbyterian Church of that city. The Church is located on Prospect Park Slope, and the event will be of great interest, not only to the members of the Church and Sunday School, but the entire community. We are anxious that it shall be made as effective and impressive as possible, and I therefore write to ask that you will be present on the occasion named, and address the audience after the presentation. I am fully aware that there are very many demands upon your time and strength, but I know also how much you are interested in impressing loyalty and patriotism upon the minds and hearts of the young, and I also know how great a pleasure it will be to all of us to see and hear one who took so active and successful a part in the War of the Rebellion.

My Pastor, Rev. Dr. T. A. Nelson, most sincerely urges your acceptance of this invitation, and I shall hope for a favorable reply at your early convenience.

Yours very sincerely,

I have been away so much lately and will be away even more now. I have just received a telegram from Westminster about the next few months. It seems that I will have to take a leave of absence from my position and travel to the States. I am very sorry to hear this, as it means I will miss the opportunity to make some important advancements in my career.

However, I understand that this is a necessity for my health and well-being. I will do my best to take care of myself and come back stronger and more determined to succeed.

I hope that you will understand my position and support me in this tough decision. I know it will be hard, but I believe it is the right thing to do.

Please let me know if there is anything I can do to help or support you during this time.

With love and affection,

Dear Sir Howard,

I have Ellis's letter to fun which I return with yours, and I am sending Ellis to a mutual friend both of the latter place. If possible, please call on me on Saturday at 9:30 A.M. to explain the other day, but you may remember I have not anything to say excepting for Mr. Clare. The lawyer who has the whole matter increased for Mr. Clare, being engaged in a reference case, cannot now come himself, but expected to in a few days which will probably occur next Monday or Tuesday, when no doubt anything will be practically adjusted. I had several interviews with Mr. F. Brown on the Saturday, and last Wednesday he requested me to meet him in his office, but they did not put in an appearance as they wanted to look over the book first. The Squire is not discouraged, we have the time for communications in suber, June 30th, and the Legislature adjourned sine die 1-23, so that...

Dear Father:

Are you going to be at home tomorrow evening? I may come over to supper with you, taking the 6:15 p.m. boat if I can catch it. Alice is very sick with gripp. I found her so when I went home Tuesday night I fell asleep. Midnight so had to telegraph to
Col. Louden that I would stay home on any Wed. + did so. This is her second attack + quite severe. I had Dr. Dennis examined her. A reliable doctor who insisted it is genuine grippe in spite of my protests. I also obtained a professional nurse, who has proved herself very valuable. Alice's condition requires a careful nurse much as a good doctor. All is going along as well as one could expect. With love to all,

Chantey.
My dear General Howard:

I have been looking for the series of photographs from boyhood upwards that you told me your son would collect for use in the magazine. This feature of the magazine is coming on splendidly. In the first number I have portraits of Mr. Howells, Alphonse Daudet, Gen. Lew Wallace, H. H. Boyesen. I have a number of others in my possession—pictures of Edward Everett Hale, de Blowitz, Edison, etc.

I should like to get your pictures in hand just as soon as possible. We are making up the third number of the magazine and I want to get them into one of the early issues.

Very truly yours,

My dear General: How are you?

I have been looking for the series of photographs from your book which make up your new work. The failure of the magazine to come to me, as expected, has been a disappointment. In the third number I have a picture of Mr. Homestead. As you see, the weather is not favorable. It has rained a great deal, but I still have a number of objects in my possession, despite the rain.

I expect to be in New York early next week. I hope to get some pictures in the city, and I want to get them in the early morning. I need a good deal of work, and I have been looking for the opportunity to do it.

Very truly yours,

My dear General: I read your highly esteemed letters of May 5, just, on my return from northern New York. I was naturally drawn to the incident of Reynolds Fall and your assumption of command at Seminary Ridge & Gettysburg Village on the 1st of July. That opportunity you so daringly sought to break the rebel army in twain that their wings might be crushed at night in detail, it was a magnificent opportunity which Lee saw after you had compelled him to do so, calling for his 50,000 that crushed your small force, which you withdrew so skillfully to Cemetery Hill. The more I study that Battle Field, the more I believe that, even if you had have been supported with the 10,000 from Harpers Ferry, you would have been able to make the magnificent dash, contemplated, that would have destroyed the largest portion of Lee’s army. What a pity that Genl. Halleck conicted.
The army from Washington, he was not less patriotic than others, but like Mr. Lellan, he was afflicted with an over cautious judgment. Napoleon won all his brilliant victories by seizing upon advantageous circumstances during the heat of battle. So did the Third Napoleon at Solferino.

It was such a pity you were not properly supported from the direction of Harpers Ferry by a priest on the rear of the rebel right wing, preventing that delay & concentration of 50,000 against you. Of course it is not for me to criticize with my incompetency. I only give the judgment of the common observer. Certainly, Hallock knew his dispositions & of the location & approaches that the rebel army must use.

To the reader of today, the fights at "Seminary Ridge" and "Cemetery Hill" were the brilliant episodes of the battle, & saved the rest of the army.
It is around these circumstances and that magnificent defense against the forces of the rebel army, wherein 20,000 men and your own good judgement saved the reputation & fields & cities of the north at Gettysburg. In saying this, I only speak what other good & better men have given as their judgment.

It is not alone at Gettysburg that our silent & modest men from Maine shine brightly, but in contests not less sanguinary if less important, and it is time they were given their proper place in history. I desire to weave a plot that shall exhibit this to the nation, now incompetency at Washington has been proved to be a fact. I have never seen Mrs. Holloways sketch of your life, I shall be highly pleased to learn of all advantageous circumstances from your own life, to give me assistance. Allow me but a little time when you can give me a little time, I too am very busy. Sincerely, A. Thompson

Dear Sir;

We have forwarded you copies of the "Statement Of Facts and Appeal" for your prayerful and Christian consideration in righting the wrongs to which we have been subjected and now complain.

From the beginning of this affair until the filing of our last appeal to the Trustees we have repeatedly and earnestly prayed and sought aid through the proper channel for a hearing and redress of this most flagrant of wrongs, without avail, and now as you already know have submitted the case to the highest—the only legal and proper body—the Trustees, acting only for a hearing feeling assured that this, in all events will be synonymous to an exoneration.
As you will observe from our "Appeal" we have spent indeed three years of unremitting toil and privations incident to stude-tants life, endeavoring to appro-appropriate to the fullest extent the gracious benefits extended us and our people through your instrumentality, broad philanthropy, and love of humanity.
and feel that this Stigmata
just and merited is too much for our Alma Mater to begin with us as we approach the end of our course, and at a time when we are most prepared to render services to the lives of all gifts, and too when we can least afford it.

We think it not too much to say that the principles which the founders of Howard University labored to inculcate are rapidly being lost sight of, and by substitutions radically insufficient to effect the good so much needed, the perpetuity of this plan, jailed by hands to whom human liberties were most prosions and hearts thoroughly imbued with Christian sympathy and charity, is threatened.

We come in addition to the statement of these facts, conscious wholly inadequate to the needs of our case, to ask your presence at the Annual Meeting of the Trustees, which convenes on the 30th instant, in defiance of love of right and justice, and beg to assure you that our hearts, already filled with gratitude for your past services, still echo in song in prayer for one whose life and work has been so thoroughly consecrated to the Master and the uplifting of a wronged and oppressed people.

We are in prayer.

Yours in Christ,

In reply to yours of

Maj. Genl. O. O. Howard.

Governor's Island N. Y.

Dear Sir:

I beg to be permitted to introduce myself to your notice for a purpose which I am sure will receive your sympathy and ready acquiescence, even to the extent that your lectures and talks throughout this country for the elevation of the moral and intellectual attributes of humanity have found an echoing chord in my soul for your success in the most meritorious work one can engage in. Like yourself I am a Christian, and try to be a consistent one, and was once a soldier in the Confederate Army, during the dark days of our Republic, and now I am trying to throw a ray of sunlight across those scenes of war and strife, which at reunions of the survivors of either armies, is depicted with too startling effect. It is my purpose, and have carried into effect on one occasion at a Grand Army union, to show to the present generation that if the God of Battles were with either side during the conflict, the God of Love, of Truth and of Humanity was always steadfastly and irrevocably the friend and loving companion of all. I have compiled a few instances of that spirit which came under my own personal observation during the war among my comrades, as well as reminiscences related by those who were then associated with me, forming same into a lecture, or rather a short talk while the guest of some local G. A. R. post. But it is apparent to me that my talk always lacks conclusion since the subjects are only from the Confederate side, and to remedy that defect can I not take the liberty of requesting any data which you may possess in this direction, or information where it can be gathered of acts of moral and religious heroism in the ranks of the Federal Armies? then, I am sure that "Christ in the Camp", will be adequately and impartially illustrated, if my powers of description can meet the demands of so worthy a subject.

I trust, Sir, this communication may find you in a position where you can conveniently grant this request, as any matter you may furnish will be fully appreciated.

I remain, Sir,

Yours very truly,
