Mr. Oliver O. Howard,

Dear Sir,-

I see from a list of prominent policy holders of the HARTFORD LIFE AND ANNUITY INSURANCE COMPANY that you have $10,000 insurance in that company. I have been appointed State Agent for the company, and would appreciate a letter from you as to your opinion of the company. You are aware that the more policy holders the company gets, the larger the dividend from the Safety Fund to the persistent members. A letter from you will greatly assist me in developing Texas for the company.

The company expects this year to complete the Safety Fund, and then all Safety Fund fees of $10. per thousand paid in by each member, will be divided up in Jan. and July, and given to the members as a dividend, who are entitled according to the terms of the contract, to participate in this dividend. The company has accumulated in 13 years nearly ONE MILLION Dollars, and if they do as well in the next 13 years, policy holders will receive ONE MILLION Dollars in dividends in the next 13 years, together with the interest on the one million dollars Safety Fund completed. Hoping that you will comply with my request, I am.

Yours truly.

My dear Sir

At the request of Dr Bradford of Montclair you were good enough to give me a letter to Gen Brooke earlier in the year, concerning my son who was examined in Quaha in March.

You may have observed that the Commanding General recommended that certain applicants be permitted to take their final examinations at Fort Leavenworth, although the preliminary Board did not so recommend — even after reconvening.

I should feel under many obligations if you would kindly give me a line of introduction to General Schofield that I may present my son's case for his consideration.

He had been detailed as schoolmaster and it interrupted his field duties so that he was not fully up to the mark in that particular - but in all others, my understanding is that he excelled. He at once asked to be relieved - was promoted by his captain and the six months intervening service besides all he had before, I feel confident - with his aptitude and earnest desire for a military career - would find him fully prepared for the final examination.

I do not want to press the matter unduly, but would gladly avoid another year in the ranks if consistent with the good of the service. He accepted the situation bravely, and set about another year's work with excellent spirit, but I would much like that his case should be reconsidered if the circumstances warrant.

It is the only consideration I have ever sought from the government for my own and two brothers service during the entire civil war - and I trust I be wiser did I not feel that he was properly equipped for the work for most resp though one of the largest, there has not been a single officer tried or even placed in arrest during the whole period of my incumbency. The command is now full and has been kept full by enlistments at the port for more than two years. Desertions are exceedingly rare and the trials of enlisted men so few that Col. Miller remarked only the other day that ordinary one company posts would furnish none.

I mention these circumstances simply to bring before your mind the principal features that have characterized my administration of this command, hoping that it will enable you to make your letter as strong

Gen. O. O. Howard
Governors Island N. Y.

Dear General Howard:

I am now the senior Lieut. Colonel in the artillery and in the ordinary course of promotion will be a Colonel in about one year, but the recent appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Sternberg, Surgeon General, seems to indicate that the President will not be governed by seniority in the appointment of General Officers. I therefore propose to present my name for his consideration when a vacancy occurs, I shall esteem a letter from you

of very great assistance
and hope you will now be able to furnish me the letter of which we spoke
in our recent conversation.

You have known me
throughout my entire service and for the past five years I have commanded under you the largest and most important artillery
post in the army, with what success you know from several personal inspections
and from the reports of your inspectors and others.
The increased importance given to this command by reason of the artillery school

has made the command of it one of selection. My predecessors in this command
since the war, were Brig.
Major Genl. W. F. Barry, Brig.
Major Genl. Geo. W. Getty, and
Brig. Genl. J. C. Tidball.
My own selection in 1888 was made without any effort on my part, directly or indirectly, to obtain it, and upon being assigned to the command
the task of reorganizing
and developing the school upon principles more in accord with modern requirements, was given me
this, with the assistance of my staff and corps of instructors has been accomplished in a manner that has,
I believe, received universal commendation. As a part,

as you feel inclined for I know what you say being the second officer in rank
in the army, will have much weight. My previous services are briefly given in Hamersley's Officer of

Dear Sir

I would respectfully ask for an interview with you in behalf of a young recruit stationed in your district.

My duties of the position I hold with this company, makes it almost impossible to get away during the week, having only Sundays to myself.

I view of this would you consider it proper, and would you grant me an audience on that day.

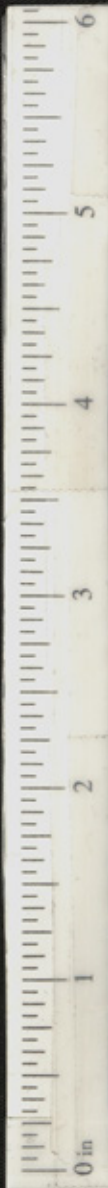

I would like to see you next Sunday or any subsequent one that you would name, and at any hour to suit your convenience. If you cannot see me on a Sunday I will endeavor to come on a week day.

Please reply in enclosed Envelope and greatly oblige
Yours very Respectfully, E. P. Sulley

New York, June 3rd 1893.

Dear General Howard:

I had a visit from this old Mrs Rogers and her Daughter. The latter said she was 16 years old. I gave them Money, and sent them up to the C.O.S. who report as enclosed. They told me the older Son had crushed his hand, and as a Truckman was out of work. That the younger Son had run away and gone, they supposed to see the Worlds Fair. He had a position as an errand boy, and really was their Support. What to do with the Case I do not know - Mrs Rogers can not articulate on account of paralysis, and the little girl has to do the talking.

The best thing to do I presume is to send them out of the City and back to where they came from. The demands upon me are something frightful. The C.O.S. infer that they should set back. I have to have them act as customers. Altho not personally interested I will give $10 if you think best, and let the C.O.S. act.

Why will such people come to New York?

Please let me hear from you -

Yours sincerely

Dear Sir:-

Referring to Mrs. Augusta Rogers, 19 Macdougall Street, who desires to return to Arkansas, I beg to state that you referred her to us July 28th, 1892 and we reported to Gen'l Howard August 4th, 1892.

She has a homestead at Arkansas and claims that she sold her stock to come to New York to nurse her oldest son, 24 years old, then sick. We are now told by the daughter, twelve years old, that Mrs Rogers had a stroke of paralysis in December and is unable to articulate. At that time her brother was driving a truck and earning good wages but he is now six weeks out of work. A younger brother (15) was earning $4. a week; this boy has now left home and is believed to have gone to Chicago.

They bought some furniture from the landlord for $47.00 but have thus far only paid $15. and the owner refuses to permit them to move it or to allow them anything for what they have paid. They are living in a room at $2.50 per week and can secure another for $1.50 but owing to the difficulty about the furniture cannot move.

She shows two Rail Road passes to Washington, good until December 1893, but needs transportation to Arkansas. We have corroborated the story of the purchase of the furniture.

Mrs. Rogers shows letters from the post master at Butterfield Arkansas, giving information of her home and urging her to return.

Do you care to assist in this direction?

Yours very truly,

Mrs. E. J. Scott
Registrar.
