Is there any distinct reason in your mind why this work

Mr. H. W. Herrman,

should be assumed by us, Congregationalists, rather than by Pres-
Hodge Hall, Room 200

Princeton, N.J.

My Dear Sir:- General Howard has forwarded to me your favor of the 14, to him concerning Sandy Hook. He adds "I hope something may be done for Sandy Hook if possible."

The whole case is hardly in the form of an application to the Congregational Home Missionary Society for its aid. But as it has a bearing that way I desire to obtain some information concerning the field and the work.

Could you, if not too much trouble, inform me with some approximation to correctness concerning the following points.

1. The population of the district where this work is being carried on. Varying from 150 to 500 according to amount of Government work on hand - Now about 160.
2. Is it a growing population? Not in any sense. It is simply Government territory
3. What is its character and about how many families are permanently settled on the ground? All have Army or political jobs. 60 soldiers are regularly garrisoned here. 18 families otherwise settled in connection with light house, boy house etc.
4. What other religious enterprises are established within this population? A Catholic congregation meeting every week.
5. Is it an all the year round work or is it one of those fields to be worked chiefly in the summer? It ought to have some kind of regular all year round work - This summer work can be nicely taken care of by present agencies - there is no trouble about that.

The matter has come to your attention because I will be glad to forward it in some way give or receive help as this is a part of his official territory & he is an earnest Christian man.

6.a What is the denominational preference of the majority of the people? Methodists probably, but Lutherans, Episcopalians, Reformed it are mixed together, and what they want is the Gospel without denominationalism.

7. Is there any distinct reason in your mind why this work should be assumed by us, Congregationalists, rather than by Presbyterians, Baptists &c? None whatever. I am exactly striving to find some means of getting for them regular preaching service once a week or twice a month.

Finally, What material is there for the organization of a church and how much money would be required to properly support a missionary exclusive of what may be raised on the ground?

Some of these questions may be difficult for you to answer but your reply covering in the main the ground outlined by these questions will determine whether it is timely for us to send an agent to Sandy Hook to investigate the needs of this field.

I am very truly yours,

As a matter of pure fact, there ought not to be anything other than a Union Protestant Church there; the Methodists tried to start a church and it did incalculable harm. The actual fact is this: there are a company of people, deserted, neglected from Jan 1st without any gospel ministrations. That they want and all they want is some earnest, Christianity helpful man to come once a month or twice or 4 times, and preach to them. They are isolated, it is hard to get to and from Sandy Hook but here are families bringing up children, young men and women, without any gospel privileges except Sunday school taught by insufficient and ignorant men and women. It is a desperate hard field and still it is the duty of the Church to help them.

very kind it was of you to leave your sitting place and come over to New York with me - that rainy day!

I can never forget your great kindness to your poor unworthy child!

I am hunting work as rapidly as possible - having given up my vocal lessons for the time. I hear no good news from Don and feel it is wicked for me to keep on with my lessons when he is having such a hard pull in San Francisco to secure the money even need-

KEAN CASE RESUMED.

MINORITY CREDITORS WIN AFTER A LONG, INVOLVED BATTLE.

Supreme Court Finds That a Voluntary Assignment Is an Irrevocable Trust That Cannot Be Destroyed Even by the Wish of a Majority of the Creditors—Estate in Question to Return to the Jurisdiction of the County Court—Lawyers and Judges Interested.

The Illinois Supreme Court has rendered a decision in the celebrated S. A. Kean assignment case which, in effect, makes a voluntary assignment an irrevocable trust—one that cannot be destroyed by even the wish of the majority of the creditors and will result in returning the estate eventually to the jurisdiction of the County Court. Attorney Andrew J. Hirschell, who has contested the case on behalf of the minority of the creditors, received word from Ottawa yesterday morning of the decision of the Supreme Court in his client's favor. The decision as rendered reverses the decision of Judge Tuley given in the suit of John C. Terhune against S. A. Kean, G. M. Warren, and B. F. Jacobs, in which it was sought to obtain the appointment of a receiver for the estate, then in the hands of Warren, the novel proposition being advanced that the estate in Warren's hands was subject to the assignment made in the County Court.

"We intend to move on the enemy's posts at once," said Mr. Hirschell yesterday. "We shall renew and urge our demand for a receiver just as soon as we can get the necessary documents from Ottawa. The general effect will be good and greatly welcomed, I believe, by the entire banking and mercantile interests. It will put a stop to 'freezing out' the minority creditors by a combination generally among the favored few and will protect the small creditor as well as the large until he shall have received every cent that prudent and honest management can realize."

Attorney Jesse A. Baldwin, who represents B. F. Jacobs, the assignee, said the decision would have the effect of throwing the case back into the County Court. New litigation would be the result. Mr. Baldwin thought there was crookedness in the case somewhere, but where it lay he acknowledged was a hard matter to find out.

Legal History of the Case.

The history of the case is as follows:

Samuel A. Kean, the banker, made a general assignment in December, 1890, for the benefit of his creditors to B. F. Jacobs, conveying property amounting to $1,000,000, subject to some liens. Over 1,000 creditors in number and exceeding $600,000 in amount, filed their claims with the assignee. Shortly after Everett M. Warren arranged with 534 creditors, representing $300,000 to pay them 35 cents on the dollar. In consideration of this they consented to the discharge of the proceedings in the County Court. John C. Terhune and 200 other creditors refused to come into the adjustment, alleging and insisting that all the debts could be paid in full or nearly so. Thereupon Kean transferred his interest to Warren and the majority of the creditors, with Kean and Jacobs, the assignee obtained an order from the County Court which found that Warren was the legal equitable owner of the estate and ordering the estate turned over to him. In the same order the assignee was discharged and all proceedings in the County Court discontinued. The order made in the County Court was based on the insolvency act of 1879, which says that all proceedings under that act may be discontinued upon the assent in writing of the debtor and a majority of his creditors in number and amount, and in such case all parties shall be remitted to the same rights and duties existing at the time of the assignment except so far as the estate shall have been already administered.

Demand of Minority Creditors.

The minority creditors, however, again demanded the amount claimed to be fairly due them based on the value of the estate, but were met with the refusal not only of such amount but even of the 35 per cent offered the majority of the creditors by Warren. The latter took the position that the assignment became inoperative upon the discharge of the case from the County Court. Upon this Terhune, by the then firm of Byam, Weinschenk & Hirschell, filed a bill in the Circuit Court on behalf of himself and other creditors who had filed their claims asking for a receiver and alleging that the assignment was still in force and a continuing trust, and that the estate in Warren's hands was subject to the County Court's jurisdiction. This bill was filed in July, 1891, almost immediately upon the discharging order entered in the County Court. When presented to Judge Tuley he immediately overruled the bill, declaring it contrary to the text and spirit of twelve years' uniform practice under the assignment law. In August, 1891, another creditor, S. J. Howe, filed a bill in the Superior Court of the same nature as the Terhune bill. The questions were argued for some ten days, and finally Judge Shepard sustained the bill and appointed E. A. Filkins receiver, which appointment was subsequently reversed by the Appellate Court, that court holding the same view as Judge Tuley.

Then Terhune's bill filed in the Circuit Court was amended before Judge Tuley so that it involved a freehold, thus allowing an appeal directly to the Supreme Court, which was taken with the foregoing result.

Arguments in Supreme Court.

When the case reached the Supreme Court it was argued by Attorney Hirschell on behalf of the plaintiffs in the bill on the ground which the Supreme Court reverses the case. The points argued on behalf of the defense in the Supreme Court briefs were that the Supreme Court had no jurisdiction and that the appeal should have been to the Appellate Court. A motion was made on this ground to dismiss the case, but, when argued, was taken by the Supreme Court under advisement to the final hearing. Another point raised by the defense was that the finding of the County Court that Warren was the legal and equitable owner of the estate was, whether right or wrong, a judgment which could not be attacked collaterally by Terhune in his bill, but must be overcome by direct appeal from the order of the County Court or by writ of error. The defense also argued that the order discontinuing the case from the County Court and discharging the assignment necessarily rendered the deed of assignment null and void. All these positions have necessarily been found in favor of Terhune and against the defendants by the decision just announced in order to cause a reversal of Judge Tuley's opinion. The Supreme Court by its decision sustains Judge Shepard. It declares that the estate of an assignor, when discharged from the County Court, remains in interest for the creditors and not administered by any one in whose hands it comes. It will be protected by the appointment of a receiver.

In the Terhune case the arguments were made by Attorney Andrew J. Hirschell on behalf of the creditors and by him and ex-Gov. Hamilton in the home case. Attorneys Peter S. Grosscup, now United States District Judge; Levy Mayer, and Jesse A. Baldwin represented Warren's interest.

SUSPENSION OF PENSIONS AN ISSUE OF CAMPAIGN.

Exposure of the Method Followed by the Interior Department in Revising the Lists—It Is Made Through a Circular Sent by an Agent to Buckeye Soldiers—McKinley Condemns the Administration for Its Action in Making Suspension Before Investigation.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—[Special.]—The Ohio State Journal in its issue of tomorrow morning will print a list of 1,830 names of Ohio soldiers who have been suspended from the pension rolls of the United States between March 4 and Sept. 1 of the present year. The list may be accepted as authentic, as it came from the Department of the Interior at Washington. Since Nov. 1, however, it has been impossible to obtain any further names of suspended pensioners. The list by counties is as follows:

Adams, 31; Allen, 23; Ashland, 6; Ashtabula, 24; Athens, 19; Auglaise, 15; Belmont, 59; Brown, 20; Butler, 14; Carroll, 9; Champaign, 16; Clarke, 31; Clermont, 11; Clinton, 21; Columbiana, 26; Coshocton, 25; Cuyahoga, 46; Defiance, 15; Erie, 23; Fayette, 19; Fulton, 11; Geauga, 7; Guernsey, 15; Ottawa, 7; Perry, 9; Pike, 7; Preble, 11; Richland, 14; Sandusky, 15; Seneca, 15; Hamilton, 183; Hancock, 17; Hardin, 23; Harrison, 13; Henry, 15; Highland, 14; Hocking, 13; Holmes, 17; Huron, 25; Jackson, 43; Jefferson, 9; Knox, 17; Lake, 5; Lawrence, 29; Licking, 15; Logan, 26; Lorain, 9; Lucas, 33; Madison, 11; Mahoning, 12; Marion, 12; Medina, 8; Meigs, 21; Mercer, 11; Miami, 12; Monroe, 13; Montgomery, 81; Morgan, 9; Morrow, 13; Muskingum, 32; Crawford, 9; Darke, 19; Delaware, 16; Fairfield, 17; Franklin, 67; Gallia, 10; Greene, 29; Noble, 11; Paulding, 21; Pickaway, 11; Portage, 5; Putnam, 16; Ross, 20; Scioto, 26; Shelby, 15; Stark, 27; Summit, 32; Trumbull, 16; Tuscarawas, 29; Union, 21; Vanwert, 16; Vinton, 11; Warren, 12; Washington, 21; Wayne, 14; Williams, 13; Wood, 18; Wyandott, 17. Total, 1,830.

This pension business will cut no little figure in this campaign. Every man with a suspended claim naturally feels himself aggrieved against the Secretary of the Interior; as a consequence the Democratic party will lose a great many soldier votes it had in 1892. The claims suspended were almost entirely under the act of 1890. The same procedure that is going on here prevails, it is said, to an equal degree in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, and other Western States. It will be seen, therefore, at a glance that the question is one of universal interest, and will be a factor in politics, particularly in the elections of next year.

The exposure came in rather a peculiar way. Henry D. Phillips, a pension attorney having an office in Washington and another in Trenton, N. J., issued a circular with the approval of the Pension Commissioner declaring the status of the law and decisions of the pension office pertaining to new claims whether admitted, pending, or rejected. The circular in question was rather voluminous and says that to entitle a man to $12 a month under the new law he must be wholly disabled, and that his decision changes the entire basis of the rates of invalid pension. After explaining in detail the rates that will be allowed he says the Pension Department has by order 236 constituted a Board of Revision composed of twenty-four men, "whose duties it shall be to draw from the admitted files as rapidly as may be practicable all invalid cases under the act of 1890."

How Suspensions Are Made.

The circular continues:

4. To all admitted cases affected adversely by said orders the bureau is sending a notice reading in part as follows: "Payment of pension on your certificate No. — has therefore been suspended pending the receipt of such answer as you may desire to make; all statements of yourself or others to be made under oath. If, after a period of sixty days from date you have failed to rebut the evidence referred to and no sufficient reason appears why an extension of time should be made your name will be dropped from the pension roll."

Now I say to you by way of illustration: (a) That the rates under this new law are today but one-half to one-third what they have been, except in cases where a man is "wholly disabled"; old law rate, $30; new law rate, $12. (b) That the bureau has taken its stand, has rendered its decision, and is at work. (c) That the change thus made applies with equal force to every new law case, whether admitted, pending, or rejected.

The rates having thus been reduced, unless the claimant can meet the requirements of the law as held by the bureau and as above set forth, the regulations aforesaid are being applied to every admitted or pending case under the act of June 27, 1890, called the new law. Pensions in admitted cases under said act have been cut down, cases heretofore pending having been rejected, and rejected cases held in rejected files in accordance with regulation, the claimant being unable to establish a pensionable degree of disability thereunder in such cases. Now, what are you to do? There is but one answer—find out how you stand under the law. Fill out and return the statement herewith and I will advise you what to do. The government has passed the laws. The general law runs from $1 to $72, and the thing for you to do is to get what the law grants you. You will thus see that the old law will give in many cases three times as much as the new law as now construed by the Pension Bureau, service origin of disability being proved. Tens of thousands of new law cases may be placed under the old law, service origin of disability being proved, and it is to the interest of every soldier or sailor, whether pensioned or not, and whether he has a claim pending or not, to send me a statement of the facts of his case so that I can advise him what to do.

The Republican State Central committee heard of the existence of the Phillips circular and secured a copy of it. Mr. Phillips was using it for the purpose of securing business in suspended cases. A copy of this circular was sent to each of the 2,000 pensioners in Ohio whose claims have been suspended. All over the State from one end to the other the soldiers have met and passed resolutions denunciatory of the practice obtaining in the pension office in the suspension of pensions without notice to the recipients thereof.

McKinley Meets the Issue.

This is one of the greatest issues of the year here and no campaign speech is considered complete without something relative to the pension business. Maj. McKinley referred to it at some length yesterday in his speech at Dayton, saying:

If an undeserving soldier is on the pension rolls today and the administration at Washington has reason to believe he is thereon unlawfully, let him be confronted with the evidence and permit the soldier to meet with his accuser, a privilege which is religiously accorded the most depraved criminal in the land. Even the murderer is per-

My dear Sir:-

I met Maj. Throckmorton's people the other day & they said they would like to come down to the City for a few months as the increased cost of fuel, &c., at Fort Schuyler made living there more expensive than in New York. Their son, too, is in business in the city and it would be convenient, as well as advantageous, for them to have him with them. The Major said he did not know but that if he left Fort Schuyler they might take possession of his house. I told him I hardly thought that would be the case; but that if he thought it would be of any service to him I would write to Genl Howard. It is in compliance with his wish that I again address you,

I wish you would let the Major & his family retain the house at Fort Schuyler for the winter during their absence from it, for the storage of their furniture, &c., & allow them to return in the spring. It would certainly be a great accommodation to them & a thing that the writer would, as well as they, greatly appreciate.

My dear friend

Dear Sir

I have just received your letter of the 25th and am glad to hear that you are well. I am well at present and hope these few lines will find you the same. I have not much news to write at present. I am still in the same place and hope to remain so for some time. I have not much news to write at present. I am still in the same place and hope to remain so for some time.

Gouverneur's Island, N. Y.

Sir,

In writing this letter I believe I am fulfilling a plain duty. From reliable authority I understood that you are a Christian, that you fear God and obey the commandments of the Lord Jesus Christ. This being true, I have no fear but what you will thoroughly understand why I write and what I write without a lengthy explanation. In troop No. 8th Cavalry of Ft. Myer, Va., there is a quartermaster by the name of Howard C. Bruce, who has lately been advised by his Captain to apply for a discharge from the U. S. service. Col. Henry said he would favorably endorse the application. The facts of the case are true, and anything to the contrary is positively untrue. I have long been interested in religious and temperance work conducted among soldiers and sailors of this city, and about eight months ago I met Mr. Bruce in a Christian Endeavor Society of the Army and Navy. He seemed a very diffident man of limited education, but the thought came very forcibly to me, perhaps there is more in the man than he is able to express. With this idea I invited him to attend a mission ^{hall on} ~~the~~ street of this city where at the time I was assisting an elderly man ^{Mr. Proctor,} to conduct services. Mr. Cruise replied that he did not think he could be of much help, but finally became identified with the mission as an active, earnest worker.

During the summer our work was transferred from ~~the~~ street to a tent on L and 10th streets. Some time ago the tent was blown down in a storm and since then we have confined our work entirely to open-air services. I wish here to state that we have preached to thousands of people on the streets with the approbation of all honorable citizens and under special police protection.
We may be ignorant of the wisdom of this world, but the Lord has made us wise spiritually. There is probably more open-air work done here in proportion to the population than in any other city of the United States. And now come the explanations of my letter. A few nights ago I suggested to Mr. Cruise and Mr. Proctor that we separate for the evening and each one conduct an open-air service alone. Mr. Proctor and myself took different positions on Penn. ave., and after much prayer Mr. Cruise decided to take his stand in George town which is about two miles from Fort Meyer. And there in his soldier's uniform, a man with scarcely any education at all, full of faith and the Holy Ghost, preached the gospel of Christ for over two hours to a large and respectful audience. The people ~~appreciated~~ ^{appreciated} warmly of his preaching.

...the thought came very forcibly to me perhaps there is more in the name than it is like to possess with this case I wanted him to attend a meeting fall on the subject of the city where at the time I was residing an elderly man to ... Mr. Green replied that he did not think he could be of much help but finally became identified with the mission as an active, earnest worker.
During the summer we had some conversations from about to a point on and that state some time ago the fact was that there was a strong since then we have conferred our work entirely to him - an exercise of which has to state that we have proceeded to thousands of people in the state with the application of all human efforts and means against false prophecies.
He may be ignorant of the wisdom of these words, but the Lord has made us was cheerfully there as probably more than we have done here in preparation the predictions there are and other part of the limited state. Such now come the explanation of my letter a few months ago I suggested to Mr. Green and Mr. Green that we separate for the summer and each one conduct our own - an exercise alone. Mr. Green and myself took different positions on our own and after much prayer Mr. Green decided to take his stand on Long's farm which is about two miles from Fort Wayne. Now there is the picture's uniform, a man with scarcely any education at all full of faith and the Holy Spirit that blessed the people for me two years ago a large and respectful audience. The little independent community of the ³ recognizing in him the power of the Spirit of God. The only solution of the trouble that followed is this: in the audience there must have been a soldier in some little authority in Ft. Moyer, and who has in more than one instance tried to persecute Mr. Bruce since he has become a Christian. This man must have given a very unkind, untruthful statement of the service to Capt. Fountain, as the next day Mr. Bruce was ordered to report to his captain, and the Captain said he himself and the whole troop were ~~was~~ scandalized by his stout preaching. That a man of his calibre could not preach the gospel, it required an educated man, and that he would be taken up by the police as a stout nuisance, and then advised him if he intended to preach to apply for a dismissal from the army. The next day Col. Henry forbade him to preach in his uniform and said he would favorably endorse his application for discharge from the service. Col. Henry has spoken to me and others very favorably and kindly of the Christian work done in Ft. Moyer and now I do not understand why Mr. Bruce should be treated as if he were guilty of some offence. Col. Henry addressed the men in a prayer meeting not long ago and urged them to continue the Christian life. Mr. Bruce's life is now above reproach; his comrades bear testimony to that fact, whatever he may have done in the past, and several citizens have told me of the high esteem in which Mr. Bruce is held. Soldiers are sure intoxicated and in the company of hooligans, and yet the uniform is not disgraced; but where a man preaches the gospel of Christ in his uniform, that is considered a disgrace. O consistency! thou art a jewel!

that we considered a disgrace. Unconsciously there was a fall!
have told me of the high esteem in which Mr. Bruce was held. I have not testimony to that fact, whatever he may have done in the past, nor several others
