[Nov., 1893]

Dear General Howard

I had a note today from my father telling me he was here acting as Secretary of the board of Arbitration Public Association so I went out early to my dinner and on to the Hartbrook Hotel where by we were today this session I saw you got a mount you see the words you

Quickly gave me and begged him to catch an early boat tomorrow and go out from San Francisco. Oh he looked so tired and beaten.

My father possesses the of those highly strung temperaments he is quite like Mother and how it must be shaped by all the grubbings and concerns of those
"bogus" corporations.
None of our family were ever in London

Politics beyond that and whom I spoke the practice mayor of his town. Wherever him more not flatters on in the Church Society they were physicians so it should not be that we could grow.

When my friend brother with that lot of suppressed impatience came on the evening I vividly recalled the fullian boy who when the school debated "which is the

the position that virtue was its own reward and by his fine utterance and graceful delivery won the prize and I thought how long he had served a narrow exacting task master in looking usage - and my whole heart went out to buy bring him out of bondage and bringing his fashionable little wife. To see us see was happy to sit well enough alone.

My dear friend
I trust I may never have to tax your attention with any thing more personal than this, and if you will take him into your heart and by your influence his a man of - dangers and ideas caught in the grip of a lady

Cause but doing what his hand finds to do, faithfully I shall put myself to some good use.

Now something concerning your house is Daniel Hill's headquarters, but as I write and hear the patrons of the Whig party about I was forced to say there are Democrats and Democrats. Of the many of the wide ranged man that had, could be used different in different places, the ^{the} Democrats would always become Republicans - Yours gratefully Tuesday.

My dear Gen. Howard.

I have run down here from Albany for the week, to visit my cousin Col. Savage, and as I have never been to Governor's Island I did not know but that you might ask me to come over for an hour's visit. Mrs. Savage would like to accompany me. I do not know any thing about your "rules and regulations," but I hope they are not so strict but that you can find a loop-hole somewhere by which to permit me to come.

Remember me kindly to Harry whose pale face still haunts me.

Dear General:

The saddest blow I ever felt came to me last week in ^{the} death of my eldest son, Howard-your namesake. He was troubled with abscess of the liver, and about three weeks ago had an operation performed on him, which, no doubt, hastened his death.

Would have written soon but have been so prostrated, that I could not even think.

:- He was 16 years old, and if he ever gave me a ~~small~~ moment's trouble I have forgotten it.

My daughter, Lucie, is now sick

Major General O. O. Howard, U. S. Army;

Dear Sir:

You may remember the writer of this, who with his wife met you, and the other officers of Genl. Sherman's army, on your arrival at the South side of the James river, at Genl. Sherman's tent; and who recently spoke to you of the above incident at a meeting of the S. A. R. of this city, in your honor, and at which you were present as guest, and I as the Mayor and friend of the S. A. R. I allude to these circumstances, hoping that you may remember me, but not for the purpose of trying to improperly entist yourself in the case I now present to you.

It is a case of an enlistment of a young man who deserted from the Army.

Stephen Donnelly, of New Haven, while under 21 years of age, enlisted, here, into the United States Army about July 1891. He remained in the Army about two and a half years, and deserted and came home to his father's house.

New York, N.Y. Nov 21st

Dear Sir,
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th inst. in relation to the proposed change in the name of the City of New York.

The writer of this, who with his wife and four other officers of the Board of Health, arrived at the South side of the river at 10 o'clock on the 19th inst. and immediately proceeded to the office of the Mayor, and at the City Hall, in order to see the Mayor and the Board of Health, and to discuss the proposed change in the name of the City of New York. The Mayor and the Board of Health, after a long and interesting discussion, have decided to refer the matter to the Board of Health, for their consideration. It is the opinion of the Mayor and the Board of Health, that the proposed change in the name of the City of New York, is not in the interest of the City, and is not in the interest of the people of the City. It is the opinion of the Mayor and the Board of Health, that the proposed change in the name of the City of New York, is not in the interest of the City, and is not in the interest of the people of the City.

It is a matter of course, that the Board of Health, will be called upon to consider the proposed change in the name of the City of New York, and to report thereon to the Mayor. His father was much surprised to see him, and was inclined to deny the deserter the privilege of remaining overnight in his house, but finally consented on the son's promise to enlist in the navy, where he thought the son's health might improve.

It was the intention to, in some way, satisfactorily arrange the matter with the army authorities.

The son enlisted in the navy at New York. On the day of enlistment, but before going to duty, the young man was seen by an army officer who knew him, and in consequence the young man went to a police station and surrendered himself as a deserter from the army.

This is the story as told me, coming from largely from the young man himself by letter.

It is not on account of the son that I intercede in this case. I do not know the son. But the father, Mr. Francis Donnelly, is one of our most highly esteemed adopted citizens, and has been one of our quite active citizens for more than fifty years.

At your leisure out of the kind feeling I think you wish to entertain for me read this, and know, that however much his brisk, business way of going to the point like that Mr. Hubbard has ever chilled and ruffled me, for I have not the gift and the deafness in opening reflection rather than action, has intensified my manner still, he is my brother My " big brother who ever shared his spending money with me and shielded me in childhood from unjust punishment more than once. It would be such a pleasure to have him out of that atmosphere He has ever been above and beyond the average there I might say beyond all for he has nothing of the Southern blatant style. He was a most scholarly youth. He and Sidney David, the poet were chums and longtime friends.

He had wealth and his pretty now faded wife was a leader of the fashionable set in Montgomery. When General Wager Swayne came in to establish Union and restore order out of the chaos this brother pocketed his pride and took a clerk's position and began earning some greenbacks but not for long, there his wonderful command of railroads was soon secured for him a good position first I believe with the Atlantic Coast Line, then Associated R. I recall now he paid " Sid Lanier " as he was called by us who had known him through youth $1000 for a book on Florida written in 1861. I possess it in my hands that was immediately after the war when this kind of guide books and travelers had not become so common. And all along the line of his career it has made him burn the midnight oil to develop and help others various corporations. The trouble lies in his financial weakness. I am now to the point. Some days ago he wrote me a long letter telling me how his attention to his duties had left him little time to watch his private interests and if I could possibly help sell a Roanoke property he had improved and telling me how insecure he felt in the very position to which he was going and his time. Governors Island, N.Y.

Sir:- In behalf of an old Irishwoman, who has recently arrived in this country, I beg leave to write to you concerning her son, who is enlisted upon in the Army, at present stationed at Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

This poor woman left her decent home in Ireland at the representations of her near relatives, to come to the States, ^{and} to live with them.
I am aware that she has been ever since cruelly treated and considered as a helpless burden.
Her son in the Army looks been expecting his mother since in this country long before she really did come.

She learns through a male friend of her son's, that he is at present stationed at Fort Mifflin, Kentucky.

What this poor woman, now over seventy years of age, requests of you, Sir, is to endeavor to bring about the discharge of her son from the Army so that he might be free to support and comfort his poor old mother in her declining days.

This poor woman, Sir, I can assure you, is a most worthy object for your kindly intervention in the matter.
She also asks me to add that when in Ireland that of trying to obtain employment, made me burst into tears.

Some one suggested that I try to win Gen. Gordon's influence he has the reputation of being above all sectional feeling or prejudice - so I visited him at his hotel one evening - I stated my case as briefly as possible, then at his suggestion wrote him a letter, reiterating all I had said and enclosed your letter with mine he seemed kindly disposed towards me, and I believe, Gen. Howard, that if you would write a letter to Gen. Gordon it might have some effect - I know it is asking a great deal of me who has already been exceedingly kind to me, but

Major Genl. O. O. Howard,
Dear General:

I have knocked at every door, where I thought I stood any chance of admittance - The Treasury - War Dept. and even the White House, having no political influence I had to plead my own cause - at each place I presented your letter and each time I was told - "Very sorry, Madam, but we can do nothing for you" - "There are no positions that do not come under the classified service" - all of which is false as I have several friends holding positions that did not take the Civil Service examination at all. in order to enter this examination one must reside six months in some state - I cannot afford to do that - and it is imperative that I have work at once -

I must tell you though, my experience with Gen. Eppa Houston of Va. Mr. Kirlin was in Virginia before the war and built, or rather did the Masonry in that long Allegheny tunnel, he was a contractor, and did a great deal of work of that kind - but when the war broke out, it became known that he was a Union Man, and he was compelled to give, in order to save his life - the left property he kind him to the value of sixty thousand dollars, all of which he lost - I told Gen. Houston that my husband had been a contractor in Va. before the war, that he was a democrat - but a soldier in the Union Army - he said to me my property indeed - why your husband turned his back on this state, and fought against her - and if you were a Confederate soldier's widow, I might do well there are plenty of them in my state and I can't find places for them - but you must not let poor me to do anything for you - "with that he arose and left the room - my recent becoming and the almost hopeless task I have before me!

I am obliged to do just what I am doing - it is very hard to ask favors, but much harder to be refused - I have no relative at all, holding any government position - and did I tell you that my mother had five ~~brothers~~ ^{brothers} in the Union army? one was killed, and two were crippled for life - and they were volunteers, too - I have been tempted many times to regret that my husband ever gave his services to his country - Pardon my writing so at length to you, but I cannot seem to put what I wish to say into any fewer words -

Pray for me, Gen. Howard for I am in great sorrow -

Sincerely, Silvan Kirtland
