Genl O. O. Howard
Gov. Ind. M. S.
My Dear Genl:

I have never permitted myself to aspire to a Brig. Generalcy in the Army until all the officers of more distinguished records had received their reward. I am not fortunate in having a brilliant record as I was wounded & forced from the field through the greater part of the campaigns of 1863 & 1864. Since then I have simply tried to do what was given me to be done as well as I could. I would General, like to have your approval or if, possible support, as you are a man whose conscientious rectitude none can dispute.

I believe I have the negative virtue of leading a blameless life. No one can ~~re~~ accuse me of being a drinking man or of wasting my time & energy.

I have been a hard student & am still a student, but this again is no credit as it is to me a pleasure.

My claim then to advancement, rests more on what I am yet able to do than what I have done.

I believe I have saved this reservation from the clutches of Mother Blunck & that I also saved millions of dollars to the government in defending cases in the Bower Claims contest. But I can not bring myself to exploit my own service. — If without straining your conscience too much you can favor me for one of the vacancies which will be made in the list of General Officers during this administration I will be proud & grateful for your approval.

Sincerely Yours
Frederick M. Anderson

MILITARY RECORD

-OF-

Thomas McArthur Anderson,

Colonel, 14th Inf., U. S. A.

Mustered in as Private in Company A, Sixth Ohio Infantry, April 20th, 1861, at Camp Harrison near Cincinnati, Ohio. Discharged May 15th, 1861, to accept a Lieutenancy in the Regular Army. Appointed Second Lieutenant, Fifth U. S. Cavalry, May 7th, 1861, and assigned to C. (Royall's) Company serving under General Geo. H. Thomas in Patterson's Army. Was the first officer of that command to cross the Potomac on a Cavalry scout (June 5th). Was engaged in the actions at Falling Water and Bunker Hill. While on a scout near Berryville, discovered the movement of Johnson's army to re-enforce Beauregard and reported the same to Patterson (June 19th).

He served with the Cavalry Battalion until September 30th, 1861, although he had in the meantime been commissioned a Captain of Infantry, waiving his rank to continue in the field as a Lieutenant. He induced General Robert Anderson to procure the appointment of General George H. Thomas as Brigadier General of Volunteers. (Vide) Price's History of the Fifth Cavalry and Van Horn's Life of Thomas.

Commissioned Captain of 12th Infantry, May 14, 1861, and assigned to Company A, 2nd Battalion. Was ordered to Ohio to recruit his own company. He enlisted 103 accepted recruits in Pickaway, Fayette and Fairfield Counties, Ohio, between November, 1861, and May, 1862. Reported at Fort Hamilton, the headquarters of his regiment. As senior Captain he organized the Second Battalion, Twelfth Infantry and was ordered to the field with it May 24th.

Was in skirmish at Harper's Ferry, (Bolivar Heights) May 28th. Was sent with his command to open communication with General Banks at Martinsburg, May 29th. On reorganization of Banks' army, served in Prince's Brigade and Augur's Division. Engaged in the Battle of Cedar Mountain, August 9th, 1862. Succeeded to the command of the Battalions of the Eighth and Twelfth Infantries during the battle. His command opened the fight and was hotly engaged at very close quarters, losing nearly one-fourth, only two officers being left for duty out of eleven who went into action. The Battalion was also the last engaged.

He commanded the consolidated Battalions, two Companies of the Eighth and six of the Twelfth, in the engagements at Rappahannock Station, Virginia, August 23d; at Sulphur Springs, August 24th; at Waterloo Bridge, August 25th, and at Manassas August 30th, and at Chantilly, September 1st, (1862). He commanded the rear guard of the Army, from Blackburn's ford to Alexandria, supporting the Fourth Maine Battery.

Was transferred with his Battalion (September 4th), to the First Brigade (Buchanan's) Second Division (Sykes), Fifth (Porter's) Corps, Army of the Potomac.

CIVIL HISTORY.

Born in Chillicothe, Ohio, January 21st, 1836. Educated, Mount St. Mary's College. The son of Wm. Marshall Anderson; grandson of Richard Clough Anderson, colonel Third Virginia; great grandson of Robert Anderson of Goldmine, Hanover County Virginia; great great grandson of Robert Anderson of New Kent C. H., Virginia. The family came to Virginia in 1635. Other paternal branches, the Marshalls, Cloughs, Clarkes and McLouds. Maternal grandson of Duncan McArthur, Governor of Ohio and Brigadier General in war of 1812; of Scotch descent from Campbells and McDonalds. (Vide American Ancestry, Vol. VII.

"Our Militia, State and National."

"Army Posts, their Construction and Sanitation."

"A History of the Fourteenth Infantry."

"Methods of Meeting our Military Necessities."

"Conspiracies Preceding the Rebellion," and many others.

Data taken from the records of the Twelfth, Twenty-first, Ninth, Tenth and Fourteenth Infantries.

This service embraces seventeen years in the South; two in the East, and fourteen on the western frontier. During the term he has commanded sixteen posts and stations in different parts of the country and taken part in eighteen battles and engagements. Out of thirty-three years of service, twenty-nine years and six months has been with troops and three years and six months on staff duty or special service.

Engaged at South Mountain, September 14th, and at Antietam, September 17th, as Battalion Commander. Also at Snickers Gap, November 2d, and at the Battle of Fredericksburg, December 13th and 14th, his Battalion being the last to recross the river.

Continued in command of the Second Battalion Twelfth Infantry until it was consolidated with the First Battalion April 30th, 1863. Was then appointed acting field officer and acted as lieutenant colonel during the rest of the campaign, not drawing the ten dollars a month then allowed for commanding company.

Took part in the engagements of Chancellorsville from May 1st to May 5th, 1863; was wounded and given a sick leave. While on sick leave in Washington City, was placed on duty under the Provost Marshal General—S. O. 225 W. D., May 29th, 1863. Acted for a time as discharge officer in Washington, and as a member of the Board fixing the relative rank of the officers of the Signal Corps. Organized the Invalid (Veteran Reserve) Corps under the direction of the Provost Marshal General. Examined and passed on 24,000 men in the Convalescent Camp at Alexandria, Virginia. Mustered in and organized the first Regiments of the Invalid Corps in the camp on Meridian Hill.

Returned to the field and took command of the Twelfth Infantry at Kettle Run, Virginia, in March, 1864, guarding the Orange and Alexandria R. R. Was reappointed acting field officer March 21st, 1864. In command of regiment until May 1st. Served as lieutenant colonel in the field commanding Second Battalion.

In the battles of the Wilderness, May 5th, 6th and 7th; at Laurel Hill, May 8th; and at Spottsylvania, May 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th; severely wounded May 12th, not able to return to field duty before the close of the campaign. Brevetted June 1st, 1864, for gallantry in the Wilderness. Brevetted June 1st for gallantry in the battle of Spottsylvania.

Appointed Commissary of Musters, per S. O. 263 A. G. O., 1864, served under General Hooker until June, 1865.

Organized and mustered in two regiments of U. S. troops enlisted from the Confederate prisoners in Camp Chase, Morton and Douglas. Superintended the muster out of 25,000 Andersonville prisoners at Camp Chase, May 1865. Assumed command of the Twelfth Infantry at Richmond, Virginia, July 4th, 1865; reorganized the regiment into Battalions of eight companies each.

Transferred with Second Battalion to Petersburg, Virginia, April, 1866; in command until April 1867. Transferred with this Battalion to Twenty-first Infantry, November 23d, 1866.

Registering officer and Military Commissioner in Virginia from April 15th to Nov. 2nd; reconstructed the counties of Bath, York, Gloucester, Mathews and James City. Broke up the Negro slab towns in Tidewater,--Virginia and sent the negroes to their homes.

Dear Sir -

Notices of your lectures recently given in Malden and at
The Misses Gilman's School in Boston have interested me so much,
that I have taken the liberty to address you with inquiries as to whether we could receive you for a lecture
in this good old town. For myself, I represent a large circle of "King's Daughters", composed of active, intelligent women connected with the Congregational church here. We have been doing quite an amount of charitable work and find our funds reduced and our work hindered thereby. So we have thought if we could secure someone of ability to speak to us that it would be far better in many respects than any of the ordinary fairs or concerts.

We have a delightful audience room, which will seat five or six hundred comfortably.

We can furnish most excellent vocal and instrumental music if desired. Several of us are known to gentlemen prominent in this State and could furnish references if necessary.

Would it be possible for you to come here to address us? If so would the 19th April be a convenient date - or something earlier! and last, but not least what would be your terms? Hoping you will pardon what may seem intrusive, I am, resp. Mrs. M. E. Harves

My dear General -

I send back the letters, received yesterday, at your request and also, another little book -

This I think cannot fail to please you, its sweet words of faith and hope, are so expressive of the patient, gentle spirit, whom I am sure is now resting in peace and joy - The world has grown very strange and lonely without him. I assure you, but I have not a doubt God has done the very best for both of us, and so I try to be content.

Now as to the Mines, my dear General, I hardly know what to say - Of this one thing I am certain. Neither my sister or myself, ever heard of mentioned with regard to them and I should think in the years in which you have had the power of attorney, you would have heard before now, if such had been the case -

My dear husband ever speaks of him as a splendid piece of property, being a warrant at present, it is true, still retaining him nothing and one day to be of incalculable value he hoped, if not to himself, still to him who might succeed him -

He certainly seemed to be well acquainted with the Law of Panama and to have shown great knowledge and skill in putting the property on the basis in which it now rests. He did not seek it - God placed it in his way and he felt it his duty to secure it - and make use of it, if possible -

You speak of new laws being made - Will you kindly tell us please where these are to be found, so we can read them ourselves, which we will certainly be able to do I think, by consulting the State Library also find out please the amount of taxation, if such is now the case - Perhaps after all, this may turn out a myth, as the idea of the Mines not being found, has proved to be -

As to consulting my nephew with regard to them - this would perhaps all his Labor may at last pass into the hands of strangers

I sometimes wonder why God ever threw the Mines into his way - But it is not for me to question the ways and wherefores of Infinite-Wisdom - it is enough - "The past is still in his keeping, the future
his mercy may clear."

And now my dear
General with - Kind regards to Mrs Howard and family and the hope of hearing

Dear General:-

You may not remember me, but I had the pleasure of meeting you once or twice in Boston, in the Congregational House, being introduced by your brother, my dear friend, Rev. R. B. Howard.

A friend of mine, an excellent Congregational clergyman in Maine, Rev. R. W. Jenkyn, is candidate for a Chaplaincy in the U.S. Army. You will see from the enclosed papers that he has the endorsement of a large number of prominent gentlemen. He is every way a worthy man, and would prove himself a faithful, devoted Chaplain if appointed to that office. I am informed that there is but one Congregational minister in the service of the U.S. Army as Chaplain and he is to retire in '95.

If you can see your way to comply with the request of this worthy brother I shall be greatly obliged.

Respectfully yours,

Sir:

Governor's Island,

You may not remember me, but I had the pleasure of meeting you in the Congressional House, being introduced by your friend, my dear friend, Rev. R. B. Howard.
I am an excellent Congregational clergyman in Maine, Rev. R. W. in the U.S. Army. You will see from the lost papers that he has the endorsement of a large number of prominent general. He is every way a worthy man, and would prove himself a faithful de-

Sir:

Through the kindness of Dr. Creegan, who has some personal acquaintance with me, I appeal for your kindly endorsement of my application for a Chaplaincy in the United States Army. During my previous pastorate at Gardiner, extending over eight years, I officiated as one of the Chaplains at the National Home, Togus. The aggregate of my service in this office was between four and five years. For about two years and a half have been Chaplain of the First Regt. N. G. S. M. During this experience I have had a growing conviction that I would like to labour among the men of the Army, and the opportunity should be given me. About a year ago, at the suggestion of an officer in the Army, I made application for appointment as Chaplain. This application was endorsed by all the officers of the Regt. of the National Guard, with which I am specially connected, by several of the leading citizens of the city of Gardiner, among whom I lived for eight years, by the Governor of the Soldiers' Home, Togus, by the Governor of the State of Maine, President of the Maine Senate, leading clergymen of the State, all the members of the Congressional Democratic Committee of the District in which I reside, by the Chairman and some of the members of the State Dem. Com., Chief Justice Peters, and three of the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of Maine, and by a number of gentlemen of more or less prominence in our State. If consistent with your views, will you kindly give me a few words of endorsement, to be presented to the President, or to Sec. of War Lamont, or to both as may be best in your judgment? The favor would be deeply appreciated.

Very respectfully yours,

My.

Dear General.

During the summer of 1878 from July 4 to September I served on your staff as Chief Commissary of Subsistence for troops in the field against the hostile Bands and also performed the duty of Dep. Sec. for Mr. A. Baker City, Oregon and from November 1880 to February 1881 was on duty under your command as Chief Commissary of Subsistence of the Department of the Columbia at Fort Union Bands H. T.

Can I ask you for a letter giving your opinion as to the manner in which I performed those duties that I will be at liberty to use in case I desire to do so.

Very sincerely

My Dear General;-

I know you will be pleased to learn that the Committee at its last sitting appointed Mr. George Weckbacker a Missionary of this Society among the immigrants at Ellis Island for a month on trial. This vacancy occurred unexpectedly and I hope that Mr. Weckbacker will prove to be adapted to the situation. If he does, his appointment will probably be made permanent, and the position yields for him a living salary.

My dear Friend,

Regarding the Elevated Roads of New York I wrote him that we would give Comptroller Myers 1000 shares if he would secure the adoption by the Manhattan R.R. immediately. You are already chairman of a committee with full power to deal, and personally in my opinion have much more real influence than any other person there can have. Of course the deal must be made this year, as next year they will all want to get in. I send you slips from the Traveller containing Overman's statement.

Hee is one of our richest members, is liable to remain for five years, as he has contracted, on our executive board closest to me in management of any one except yourself. Hee is pledged to the building of a road, with other rich men, ten miles long, from Springfield to Holyoke. Hee's bicycle works employ usually 1200 hands, and are much finer than Col. Pope's, and about the same capacity. Hee is a member of the Baptist Church, and is a young, strong, magnificent man in every aspect. Hee is model for showing the saving in power required for moving the different styles of trains, convinced and astonished the committee with its scientific proof of enormous saving in power required, and the additional safety was also demonstrated.

Our last hearing is on Tuesday before the legislative committee. Several of our directors are to be present, and I wish very much that you could be. I have offices at 23 Court St., and also at the Revere House. We will pay all your expenses and price if you come. But as you are to have an equal right in six valuable charters if granted, that are to be accepted by all the railroads entering Boston, who are working with me, the minority interest will be of the highest value to each of the incorporators. We are thinking of giving you a reception and dinner, having all the members of the Legislature present and ask the Governor to preside. It would be of course personal, and yet largely in the interest of the solution of rapid transit on the lines set forth in Charters pending. Capt. Adams, Bondi in Chief of the G. A. R. and the proprietors of the newspapers will be present.

Please wire whether you are coming Tuesday, and what day you can come. I felt hurt that you did not call at the River House, Dr. Bell expected you to call and see him at 178 Commonwealth Ave. The prospect is good of getting our charters.

EDITORIAL ROOMS OF "THE VOICE."

NEW YORK, 1893.

Mar. 8, 1894.

Dear Sir:-

As you doubtless know, considerable effort is being made at Albany to pass one or more bills legalizing the opening of saloons on Sundays. Senator Owen and Assemblyman Wieman, Republicans, of Brooklyn, have introduced a bill making it legal to open for business the side doors of saloons on Sunday. A hearing has already been given on this bill before the Assembly Excise Committee. Senator Owens claims he has enough votes pledged in the legislature to pass it.

Assemblyman Dutts, Democrat, of New York City, has introduced the old Kemper bill of last winter submitting the question of opening the saloons on Sunday to a vote of the people of this city.

Whether or not there is immediate danger of legalizing the Sunday saloon, an effort should be made, it seems to us, to counteract this continual attempt to familiarize the public with the idea of a legalized Sunday liquor traffic. Those opposed to the further extension of the saloon power and the liquor traffic should speak out against the proposition to give up to the saloon keepers the one remaining day in the week on which they are not now allowed by law to debauch the public.

Acting on this suggestion we would respectfully request an expression of opinion from you against the proposition to legalize the Sunday liquor traffic.

Respectfully,

Editor THE VOICE

EDITORIAL ROOMS OF "THE VOICE."

New York, March, 1894.

Dear Sir:--

The approaching celebration, March 20, of the ninetieth anniversary of the birthday of Gen. Neal Dow, "the Father of the Maine law," is an opportune time for calling attention to the magnitude of the liquor question as an issue before the American people and the importance of a right solution thereof. We submit the enclosed questions as suggestive of thoughts which might appropriately be brought out at the time when temperance people throughout the world are uniting to honor General Dow. We should be pleased to receive a brief expression from you touching General Dow's life and work, and on the importance of a right solution of the question to which he has devoted the best part of a long and fruitful life.

Very truly yours,

Editor THE VOICE.

P.S.--Please consider the questions as simply suggestive. Any comments aside from them would be welcome.

1. Do you consider that the social evils that flow from the liquor traffic are of sufficient magnitude to warrant the public in resorting to special legal enactments to reinforce the work of moral suasion in mitigating the evil?

2. Do you think that the attitude of the public toward the liquor traffic and the design of such legal enactments should be that of encouragement and protection, as for most other forms of traffic and trade, or that of discouragement and repression, and why?

3. Aside from your views regarding the wisdom of the Maine Law of which General Neal Dow was the author, do you not consider that the persistency, consistency, and success with which he has for nearly fifty years forced the subject of the drink evil upon public attention challenge admiration and merit the approbation of all public-spirited persons?

4. Do you not believe that to a dangerous degree political power has become vested in the saloons, and that the problem how to wrest that power from the saloons is one of the first magnitude and demands the most thoughtful consideration of our statesmen?
