My dear Genl. Howard:

I thank you most sincerely for your very kind personal letter and for the complimentary communication addressed to the Adjutant General.

You have done all that I could ask and more than I could expect.

You will be surprised when I tell you that you are the only person from whom I have requested a letter; many have kindly offered me letters and personal assistance, but as my character and services are well known to the President and the Sec. of War, I am satisfied that unless the former feels that I am entitled to promotion within the next year, all the letters and endorsements I could submit, would be of no avail.

I have therefore determined to rest upon my record, but knowing the great respect in which you are held both by the President and the Sec. of War, and that throughout this broad land, as well as in Europe, your character as a knightly, Christian soldier, your scholarly ability and your eminent services as a General officer in peace and war are as well known as those of any distinguished man of this century, I concluded that I would ask you for a letter which I could place on file with my application.

Yours very sincerely
John M. Wilson

much appreciated - Still, if, under the circumstances, you do not feel inclined to do so, I shan't harbor any bad feelings.
I trust that you and Mrs.

well.

Dear Gen. Howard:

When you have read this, I trust that you won't consider that I have been too presumptuous in my request.
Let me explain - My son, Walter Lawrence Reed, has set his heart on leading the life of a soldier, and although I have tried to dissuade him, I find my efforts of no avail in that direction.

He thinks that he can get an appointment at large to the Military Academy and proposes to go to the President in person. I have already obtained for him some Excellent letters from Army friends, amongst them, one from Gen. Merritt, and it has just occurred to me that perhaps you would, too, speak a kind word for him.
My son is nearly 17 years of age, physically strong, is a boy of good manners, & I am happy to say, of good morals. Of course, you do not remember him, but the who know him best, have given him Excellent recommendations. I have been assured that Mr Cleveland stands much indebted to recommendations from Army officers, & if you have not already pleased your post office to some other boy, I am sure that no letter in his favor would do more good than one from you.

The report of the Secretary of the Treasury will attract especial interest in view of the many misleading statements that have been made as to the state of the public revenues. Three preliminary facts should not only be stated, but emphasized, before looking into details: First, that the public debt has been reduced since March 4, 1889, $259,074,200. and the annual interest charge $11,684,469; second, that there have been paid out for pensions during this administration up to November 1, 1892, $432,564,178.70, an excess of $114,466,386.09 over the sum expended during the period from March 1, 1885, to March 1, 1889; and, third, that under the existing tariff up to December 1 about $93,000,000 of revenue, which would have been collected upon imported sugars if the duty had been maintained, has gone into the pockets of the people and not into the public treasury, as before. If there are any who still think that the surplus should have been kept out of circulation by hoarding it in the Treasury, or deposited in favored banks without interest while the Government continued to pay to these very banks interest upon the bonds deposited as security for the deposits, or who think that the extended pension legislation was a public robbery, or that the duties upon sugar should have been maintained, I am content to leave the argument where it now rests, while we wait to see whether these criticisms will take the form of legislation.

The revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, from all sources were $425,868,260.22, and the expenditures for all purposes were $415,953,806.56 leaving a balance of $9,914,453.66. There were paid during the year upon the public debt $40,570,467.98. The surplus in the Treasury and the bank redemption fund, passed by the act of July 14, 1890, to the general fund, furnished in large part the cash available and used for the payments made upon the public debt. Dear Brother:--

Perhaps Arthur has written you of his safe arrival at midnight on Tuesday. Train only fifteen minutes late. He was not well the last day, but has nearly recovered from summer complaint. Did not take sleeper. A few days rest in Glencoe will put him all right. It is doubtful if we can find anything for him to do to earn money. I think you were extremely fortunate in finding a place for Chauncey that pays so well. As long as he can hold it, I believe he had better do so, in these times. Don't you think so?

Arthur says he had a very pleasant visit at Governor's Island, and saw considerable of New York and Brooklyn, and that Aunt Lizzie helped him in making his plans to see all he possibly could.

Mac has probably left Boston for New Hampshire and Vermont on his way West. I sent letters in care of Guy to-day, as Mac is to visit Burlington. Is there any chance of your family being there at this time? If I understand it, Bessie and Harry are now there with Guy. I will drop Guy a line that Mac is coming, so that he can retain his mail.  Governor's Island, N. Y.

Dear Sir:-

At the suggestion of our fellow townsman, General J. Warren Keifer, ex-speaker of the House of Representatives, we address you upon a subject, which we know will enlist your sympathy and interest, as it will indeed that of every old soldier and patriot, who took part in stirring events of '61 to '64.

The history of the Civil War as a whole has been more or less accurately printed by a number of authors; but little has been said of the personal sacrifice, heroism, and suffering of the officer or common soldier as an individual. Many acts of bravery have been recognized by the Federal government, and acknowledgement made by bestowing upon the heroes medals of honor; and in the case of Southern veterans, by the placing of their names upon rolls of honor by the Confederate authorities. Who these heroes are, and what they did to distinguish themselves, not one person in a thousand knows.

We have undertaken the publication of a history of the medal winners and a short, stirring account of the particular exploit, deed or service, which rendered each of these men conspicuous. At the same time, there are hundreds of other men on either side, equally brave and deserving, but whose names, through their own modesty or the indifference of others, were never given to fame; hence we have conceived the plan of getting the story of each of these men and telling it along with those of the medal holders.

You will recognize in the scheme, which we have thus laid before you, the foundation for one of the most interesting of war books. It will be especially attractive, because of the element of personal adventure; and it will be warmly welcomed because it does justice to the memory of the common soldier of both armies.

Doubtless, your personal experience or that of those with whom you were associated, has furnished you with a fund of incidents, pathetic, tragic, curious, strange or droll. We should like to have you put one or a number of such incidents into an article for publication in this book.

If you will kindly undertake to prepare such a paper--containing anywhere from 800 to 2000 words--we will be pleased to make suitable pecuniary return for the service, and also present you with a copy of the book.

The work will occupy a field of its own. It will be a book for the people. The demand for such a work will be almost unlimited. It will be biographical and historical. We shall employ the highest class of artists and engravers. It will be profusely illustrated. Every engraving will be made especially for this work. The list of writers will include the leading living officers of both the Union and Confederate Armies, as well as authors of National reputation. The paper, binding and typographical execution will be first-class. It will reflect credit on us as publishers, and also on the authors whom we associate with us in its production. It will be broad in its treatment of the subject. It is intended as a monument to the bravery of the soldier of the Civil War, no matter which uniform he wore.

The enclosed printed list of the medal winners, may serve to refresh your memory as to men and incidents. You can select from the list any soldier whose adventure you are familiar with, and write it up for us; or you may draw on your own experience or that of friends or acquaintances if preferable, as before intimated.

As we have spent about three years in corresponding with the medal winners, we have secured the personally or otherwise written story of many of them, which would be of some service to you in rewriting any incident that you may select from the list.

Should you make a selection from the list, kindly place a check mark opposite the same, and return the list at once, so we may avoid duplicating of subjects by different writers. Please return the list in any event, as we will need it to send to other authors. We enclose stamped envelope for reply.

Trusting you will regard this letter as strictly confidential, and that you will oblige us with an early and favorable response, as the date of publication is near at hand, we remain,

Dear Sir: Your esteemed favor of the 11th. inst. received and noted, but may I have the pleasure, and take the liberty of addressing you again and explain more fully the motive which prompted my first communication to you?

As stated in my previous letter, for some months I have had in my mind the organization of a reserve force to the Regular Army a force of Citizen Soldiers standing in the same relation to the General Government that the Militia do to the several States armed and equipped drilled and ready to take the field at a call ready for instant service.

That such a force would be of great value to Our Country I have not a doubt, and if some Congressional action was taken authorizing the organization of such a force I feel sure the quota would soon be filled by the very best of our young men prompted by purely patriotic motives and make a most valuable support to the Regular Army in time of need without the heavy expense to the Government and would prove quite efficient.

Dear Sir:

Your enclosed letter of the 11th inst. has been received.

I am glad to hear that you are planning to have the organization you have organized and explain to the general government of the world.

As stated in my previous letter, for some time I have had in mind the organization of a reserve force in the United States of America which should be in general government that the militia do to the general purpose which was ready to take the field at any moment.

That was a long time ago and I am sure that you will find it very interesting and I am sure that it will be of great value to you.

I am sure that you will find it very interesting and I am sure that you will find it very interesting and I am sure that you will find it very interesting and I am sure that you will find it very interesting and I am sure that you will

My dear brother:

Your more than kind letter came last night. The children are delighted at the prospect of visiting you and thank you most heartily for your very cordial invitation, and your generous present to them, as you may be sure I do also.

It will be impossible to start them off so soon as Tuesday, so if it makes no difference to you, they will go from here next Thursday (July 19) morning and reach you I suppose, Friday P. M.

Will you kindly tell them how to reach you when they arrive in N.Y. or perhaps Frank can meet them.

This visit will be an important event in their lives and will not I hope and trust be too much trouble for you.

I will not write more now as I want this to go out this mail -

With love to Lizzie

Affly your sister

Gen. O. O. Howard,

Dear Sir: I trust your pardon will be granted to me for the liberty of this correspondence, but the very urgent need that prompted the same may bring that result. I have been without employment for a long time and having unsuccessfully tried every possible means, without avail, I thought I would ask your kind advice in reference to my enlisting in the United States Service. I will be guided entirely by your answer, knowing that your judgment in that matter cannot be amiss. I prefer to go to sea as that is apparently the most remunerative and I wish to be of assistance to my aged parents you cannot blame me for selecting this choice. I am 21 years years of age, strong and healthy, of strictly temperate habits, and not afraid of any hard work. I would strive hard for advancement and am certain that at the end of my term of service I would be much better off, financially and otherwise, than if I had spent the same amount of time at home.

I hope my audacity in asking you to bother about my case will be excused and that you will kindly favor me with a reply.

Should you desire to have me call on you personally, I shall be only too eager to do so at any time and place you may appoint.

Very respectfully,

Joseph Freeman,

Dear Sir:-

Your esteemed favor of July 13th just at hand. We should be glad to receive from you as soon as convenient your MS for our "Camp Fire and battle Field" with bill for the same.

The large book of photographs, which you kindly loaned to us, is at our office, and has been taken good care of. We will return it to you at once by special messenger.

We send you by mail to-day Part One and Two of our "Camp Fire and Battle Field". We think we are getting up a very attractive work. It is going to be especially strong along the line of illustrations. We propose to give more portraits of Union and Confederate Generals than has ever before been published in any one work on the War.

If you could inform us where we can find some good material for preparing a special chapter on the thrilling incidents of the War, and also on humorous incidents of the War (that will be extremely obliged. We think it more than likely you are familiar with some magazine articles or books that have escaped our notice. Any information along this line would be very greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Dear Gen. Howard

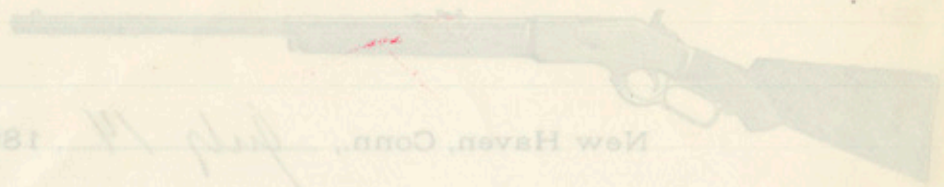

Please examine the enclosed roshé, you may perhaps be familiar with the Vietnam Legion & be aware that while it is in no way in opposition to the G. A. R. or Legion Legion, that the Vietnam Legion requires a longer & better war record than either of them.

We want you to join us very much - we want your name on an roshé with Franklin and Webb & we want our shield in your button hole - will send you a blank application at once if you say so - & if you have not leisure to come up here - I will go down & muster you in - in your office there - it will take about five minutes.
