Major General Oliver O. Howard,

Dear Sir :

We are having prepared for simultaneous publication in a large number of papers a series of articles designed to awaken an interest in and to stimulate the circulation of the religious press of the country. One of these articles will be composed chiefly of statements from a dozen or more representative laymen of America testifying to the benefit they have received from reading their church papers. It is believed that this personal testimony of leading laymen, published extensively will do more toward extending the circulation of our church papers than any amount of argument or exhortation that could be printed. We believe that an increased circulation of our church papers means an increased intelligence, activity and efficiency in our church life. May we not include your testimony in this article? A paragraph stating in what particular or particulars your church paper has helped you or testifying to its general value will add much to the cause and will be greatly appreciated by the entire religious press of the country.

Yours truly,

The Associated Religious Press.

The articles will be prepared by Rev. Edward L. Pell, editor The Bible Reader.

Major General O. O. Howard, U. S. A.,

Burlington, Vermont.

My Dear General:--

Of course I remember you perfectly well and know your history almost as well as your own family and have admired you from the very beginning when I first knew you by reputation at the opening of our late war. I am chagrined that my Hartford stenographer should have made such a mistake; I shall have to tell her to read American history.

I shall be pleased to have you join me at my factory at any time that suits your convenience. I am there generally Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and when you come I can keep you all night at my factory office, for I have sleeping arrangements besides dining room and kitchen. I shall be glad also, when you are in the city, if you can go down and spend a day or two with me at my Summer place at Cohasset. I should enjoy having you sit with me on my piazza which overlooks the sea. General Miles thinks it is the finest place he goes to .

Very truly yours,

Albert A. Pope.

Please except my thanks for the full sympathy you have ever shown to my family and myself. I am happy to inform you that Mrs Chambrain is well enough to be up. Miss Helen is under the Doctor's care with a gathering in her head. Cannot tell yet how it will terminate.
As soon as I have sufficiently recovered from this sickness in

Dear Sir,

I enclose a circular which will explain to you what we hope to do next Spring. I have also inclosed names of Gentlemen who have consented to prepare papers. For Topic B (6) "Contributions of Congregationalism during the 19th Century to Civil and public affairs" the Committee selected Senator Hawley of Conn with yourself as alternate. We have written Gen Hawley but rec^d no reply. We shall all be greatly pleased if you will accept the position and write a paper on that subject. Your wide experience in public affairs fit you most eminently for this work. Hoping to receive a favorable response I am yours on behalf of the Committee.

Dear Brother:-

You did not give me any person in either place in whose care I could send your letters but I will risk one to Indiana.

If we should want to undertake to raise the money in New York City, say Five Hundred Thousand Dollars but possibly more, have you thought up a list of probable investors - capitalist friends of yours who know you well and whom you could easily approach. I could have Mr. Koebig, the engineer, who has made a study for several years of the watershed of the Mojave and who originated the Victor proposition, come on at any time now and go through New York City with us (you and me) visiting the men. It is, however, a fair question whether they would not be absent, many of them, on summer vacations and whether this, if done at all, had not better be deferred until Sept. or Oct. If we should not obtain the money from Baron Rothschild on his recent proposition, or from one other source which is remotely in view, the next best thing I know would be for you and me, with Mr. Koebig, to go through New York City and perhaps Boston; that is, provided you feel any assurance that you have your men who would be at all available and hospitable to our proposition. Now please consider the thing some days and think up all your acquaintances whom it would be worth while to see and give me a list that I may also form some judgment of the probabilities. You understand the company would pay us a handsome commission on such a business as this.

Mr. Sweet is here. We shall probably come to some understanding before he leaves. If only we can arrange it so the control will be where we want it I should be willing to go on and should greatly desire your co-operation and should expect to bring in Capt. Gray and Engineer Schuyler for consultation. But bear in mind, nothing will be begun in the way of work this year. It is too late. We must begin early enough so as to carry our works up with sufficient strength to sustain the winter floods before the rainy season. I suspect this will require the renewal of options and possibly we may lose them altogether, but I think we shall hold on to enough for a standing place and that we can, in the courts, condemn others if necessary.

Meanwhile we have in view a large enterprise in Arz.: the point of departure from the railroad being Winslow. Do you think Capt. Gray would care to be interested in that? I do not regard it as a very desirable place, at present, for his family. By the way, what is he doing, and what salary is he now receiving?

Dear Mr. Howard:-

We beg leave to present to you an opportunity for doing good which seems to us exceptional, the need is urgent, the conditions ripe. We have in our city hundreds of Young Men with no homes but boarding houses. If well sustained the Young Mens Christian Association could reach these young men, The Association has just emerged from a period of depression; but something is needed to awaken active interest The situation is peculiar. A strong impetus given now would, we believe make it permanent for good. This impulse must come from outside, otherwise the Association must abandon a field rich with young lives and perilous to young souls. We appeal to you to come and help us, knowing that your name, your influence, and Christian character and valued advise will do much to create a strong public sentiment in favor of a work for and by Young Men.

Our plan is to hold a parlor conference and public meeting the conference to be held Monday Sept 9th. and the public meeting on Tuesday Sept 10th. We are very desirous of having you at the conference to

My Dear General;

Your kind note of congratulation I received yesterday, I appreciate very deeply your kind sentiments expressed therein.

The pictures also arrived, but in a somewhat battered condition, owing to the P. Office officials having cut them through at the end & on each side, by tying the letter in a bundle with other smaller envelopes.

So I am out and injured.

I was quite anxious to have a photograph which I might place in my album, with other esteemed loving friends, so may I again be permitted to suggest to General, that should you at any time, have a spare photograph which you cannot make up your mind what to do with, you will bear in mind

though I should never be fortunate enough to receive a real photograph.

Miss Minna Steel, joins me in
